

Auxiliary Sponsors Clubmobile Units

At the annual birthday dinner party given by the American Legion auxiliary for Legionnaires and their wives a collection was taken for the purchase and outfitting of two clubmobile units, a project sponsored by the national auxiliary. These units, "manned" by American girls, will follow up every invasion in the territory in which they will be used. One of the units will be used in the Pacific area and the other sent across the Atlantic. They will carry to the boys at the front cigarettes, candy, doughnuts, coffee, writing and reading materials and each unit will be provided with an amplifying phonograph. These clubmobiles will be financed by the auxiliary at a cost of $42,000. They will carry a plaque stating that they are sent by the American Legion auxiliary.

Cards followed the dinner which was held Wednesday evening, March 15, at the quarters in the Oddfellows building.

The regular sewing meeting of the auxiliary will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday, March 28.

4-H VICTORY GARDEN CLUB ORGANIZED AT LEXINGTON

A 4-H Victory Garden club was organized Mar. 17 at Lexington, the group holding the meeting in the school house. Thirteen were signed up at the meeting and the outlook is good for a larger membership, it is believed.

Points coming up for discussion included size of garden and vegetables to be planted. Two reports are to be given on the types of fertilizer to be used.

The meeting was adjourned with 4-H songs and yells filling the air, our informant states.

Terrific Explosion . .

The blast confirmed that it was not long.

Reactions of Heppner people who saw the heavens light up when the explosion occurred was varied. One couple out for an evening walk saw the flash and wondered if it might be northern lights. It seemed impossible so the question of lightning arose. They walked more than a block between the time the

Several other townspeople reported hearing the blast and some stated that their houses shook, reminding them of the earthquake of 1936.

Claude White, whose house is about 20 miles from the scene of the explosion, said the house shook and the dishes rattled. The report was plenty loud, he stated.

There were some anxious moments for relatives of workers, there being several from Heppner and vicinity employed at the depot. As it stands, but one Morrow county man, Mr. Fraser, was unfortunate enough to be included in the list of casualties.

100-Octane Gasoline Proclaimed No. 1 War Need

Cooperating in the vital problem of expediting 100-octane gasoline production are these five gentlemen, brought together at a recent meeting attended by Army and Navy representatives and oil company executives. Left to right, they are Capt. Hector C. Griswold, U.S.N.R.; L. F. Bayer, Vice-President, Tide Water Associated Oil Company; Rear Admiral Henry F. Bruns, Corps of Civil Engineers, U.S.N.; Brig. Gen. Russell E. Randall, Commanding General 4th Fighter Command of the 4th Air Forces; and T. O. Edwards, Jr., Superintendent of Associated's Avon Refinery where a large catalytic cracking plant is now under construction, for a substantial addition to present 100-octane capacity.

100-octane gasoline has been made the No. 1 item of war priorities, taking precedence even over aeroplanes and ships. Although the oil industry has stepped up its output to an amazing peak, it is vitally important that still greater quantities be supplied to the fighting fronts where the demand is tremendous, according to Admiral Bruns. To accomplish this, the Army and Navy together with the Petroleum Administration for War have instituted a double-barreled program designed to secure maximum production from existing octane plants and to speed up construction of new units.
