MEETINGS CONTINUE
 Evangelistic meetings will continue throughout next week at the Assembly of God church, with Mrs. Elizabeth Ricker delivering the message. There will be two exceptions, one Wednesday, May 10, when all of the church people who can will attend an all day fellowship meeting in Pendleton, and Saturday, May 13, which is rest night. Mrs. Ricker's messages from night to night will follow the theme of salvation, healing for the body, and encouragement in faithfulness for the Christian. There will be special singing and instrumental numbers each evening. The public is invited to attend all meetings.

You don't have to send out statements printed by outside houses. We can print them for you.

Capital Parade . . .

CAPITAL SHORTS

Old-age assistance will average $32.81 in May . . . Gas consumption in Oregon is down 2 percent from March 1943 . . . Cherry growers and briners have been asked by the state department of agriculture to meet at the capital June 9 . . . An "extra" one-fifth (in addition to the regular one quart a month allowance) of burbon whiskey will be allowed Oregon drinkers in May . . . Oregon took second place in the national AAA safety contest for the safest state for pedestrians. Wisconsin just nosed out Oregon for first place.

DETAILS REQUIRED

Annual county budget estimates must be published in full by county courts, the state supreme court has just ruled in a suit brought against the Yamhill county court. The decision upheld Circuit Judge George R. Duncan of Marion county who was assinged by the state supreme court to hear the Yamhill case.

JAP MENACE LOOMS

Japanese agitators and those now seeking repatriation as citizens against whom no criminal charges have been or could be brought, will be free to return to Pacific coast communities if the order, issued early in the war, is upheld by the U. S. supreme court. Oregon's Attorney General George Neuner will join Attorney General R. W. Kenney of California, in defending the validity of the act.

TECHNICAL

One of the women who wants to be a delegote at large from Oregon to the republican national convention tion spoke her piece at a political meeting here at the capital and ended by saying "there are two of us women running at large." A solemn senator arose and asked the speaker, "Just what do you mean by "two women running at large."

Eighty-five years after statehood was granted to Oregon, the flag of the commonwealth is to be displayed in Independence hall at Philadelphia, historic edifice that witnessed the signing of the Declaration of Independence, was the meeting place of patriots whose names illumine that sacred document and where the Liberty bell has found its permanent abode. The presentation will be made on Flag Day, June 14 with appropriate ceremonies.

The Oregon flag is to take its place as a result of the situation having been called to the attention of Governor Earl Snell. As state funds were not immediately available for purchasing the flag, the governor referred the matter to various patriotic organizations and the responsibility for its purchase was assumed by Oregon societies, Sons of the American Revolution and the Daughters of the American Revolution.

REURNS FROM HOSPITAL

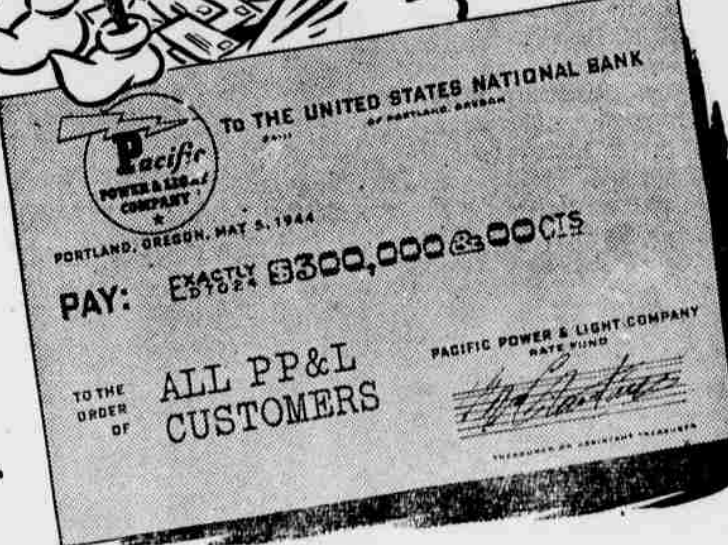

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Schwarz returned Saturday from The Dalles where Leonard was hospitalized a few days for a minor operation and treatment. He returned to his job at the Central Market Monday.

Your check from PP&L will be mailed early next week!

Watch for it!
 It's your share of the $300,000 "rate dividend" we're paying to our electric customers!

YOUR CHECK will come in the same type of envelope used for mailing our bills. You will notice, too, that the check itself is the same size and shape.

The reason for this is that these checks—75,000 of them—were made out on our regular book-keeping machines in order to get the job done quickly and efficiently. You can imagine what a long, slow job it would be to write so many checks by hand.

We are glad to share with our customers in this way the benefits of the extra volume of business resulting from unusual wartime demands for electricity at many points on our system. This is just one more step in our 34-year record of consistently reducing the average price you pay for electricity.

Parrot gets Will Dudley's Goat

Will Dudley never liked his wife's pet parrot. Claimed the parrot called him "Stinky"—and ate his pipe tobacco. And the Missus said it served Will right . . . she'd told him not to smoke his pipe indoors.

To make her point, the Missus grabs Will's pipe and throws it out the window. So Will grabs the parrot and throws him out too. Looks like unpleasantness—till in comes the parrot with Will's corn cob in his mouth. (And whistling "Home Sweet Home," Will claims.)

Well, Will and his wife both bust out laughing . . . and made peace over a friendly glass of beer, allowing how it's pretty silly getting mad at one another's differences.

From where I sit, that's a mighty happy ending. If all of us would live and let live in a spirit of tolerance—whether it's tolerance for a parrot or a pipe—we'd be a whole lot happier and better off.
