Early Pioneer of Lexington Dies at Home in Canada

The following account of the passing of a former Morrow county resident appeared in a newspaper published at Armstrong, Alta., Canada and was brought to this office by Mrs. W. T. Campbell.

"Funeral services for the late David Carl Crow, who died in Armstrong hospital on Wednesday, March 29, after an illness of two months, were held at Sage & Tull's funeral chapel on Friday, March 31, Rev. Don Rathjen officiating.

"Born in Grandview, Louis county, Iowa, Oct. 31, 1855, he was in his 89th year at the time of his death. At the age of six, with his parents, he crossed the plains by ox-team to Oregon, a journey that took all of six months in those days. Here, at Forest Grove, he received his education and took up the occupation of farming. In 1885, at Lexington, Oregon, he married Nettie Mary Booher, who survives him. They came to Canada in 1903, making the trip from Washington to Cremona, Alta., by covered wagon. After a residence there of 17 years, Mr. and Mrs. Crow and their family of boys and girls, came to Armstrong, and for a number of years, he worked as a barber, operating his own shop until his retirement a year ago.

"Besides his wife, he is survived by two sons, W. T. Crow, Armstrong and Ben Crow, Port Hammond, B. C.; also five daughters, Mrs. Susie Patchell, Armstrong; Mrs. Wm. Plant, Lethbridge; Mrs. C. H. Rinehart, Didsbury, Alta.; Mrs. V. Lindy and Mrs. W. E. Wilson, Armstrong. There are 13 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. Interment was in the Armstrong cemetery."

ON ROYAL COURT

Tuesday's Oregonian contained a picture of the royal court of the junior prom at Oregon State college. There are five young ladies in the group from which the queen of the prom will be chosen. Kay Blake of Heppner is one of the number.

TENT MEETINGS

Boy Scout Activities

By Lauren Corwin

Bobby Jones, Roy Carter and Ross Pickering were awarded Tenderfoot badges at an investiture service held at a regular scout meeting last Monday.

Now that good weather is here the Scouts have been playing softball each night before the meeting thus providing welcome entertainment to begin the meeting with.

The Scouts collected, baled and hauled over to Hermiston a total of six tons of paper last Saturday which netted them $75. This money will go for paying the expenses of those boys who will attend scout camp this summer. The Scouts wish to take this opportunity to thank the people of Heppner for their kind cooperation in this drive.
