for the city. The original understanding was that when the government was ready to abandon, if at the end of 90 days the buildings had not been otherwise disposed of they would revert to the owner or owners of the property upon which they stand.

Directors discussed with County Agent C. D. Conrad a proposal made some time ago that the chamber of commerce sponsor some type of 4-H club work. Conrad said he would take the proposal under advisement and make a recommendation to the chamber at an early date.

An order to prepare copy for and have printed 500 folders descriptive of Heppner and vicinity was given into the hands of the publicity chairman.

The directors voted to hold their meetings on the first Wednesday instead of the first Tuesday in each month.

SCHOOLMATES MEET

Three women who as young ladies attended Portland university together held an informal reunion in Heppner Sunday on the occasion of the visit here of Mrs. Gertrude Zigler of Port Blakely, Wash. Mrs. Zigler was in Portland and decided to run up to Heppner and visit her old friend Mrs. M. L. Case. Upon arriving here she found that another schoolmate lived in town and during the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Dix called at the Case residence where the three ladies spent a pleasant hour or so dwelling upon the days of their youth.

VISIT IN VALLEY

Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Bailey returned Thursday from a trip to Portland and valley points, visiting their children and Mrs. Bailey's sisters in Newberg and Silverton.

VISITING GRANDPARENTS

Bobby and Alma Lou Becket of Portland are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wehmeyer. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Becket.

Wehmeyer Family Widely Scattered

It may be a small world to some but at present the Wehmeyer family of Heppner looks upon this old globe of ours as representing considerable distance. Four sons of Mr. and Mrs. Wehmeyer are in the service and at present are in widely separated zones.

Carl Wehmeyer, radio technician, back from service in the Pacific area, spent three days at home the past week, coming Wednesday evening and leaving Sunday. He was headed east for some schooling.

Lawrence Wehmeyer, ship's fitter, recently was transferred from the vessel that has been his home for the past five years. He expects a leave shortly and will visit his parents two days, leaving for Berkeley, Calif. to spend the rest of his leave with his wife.

Don Wehmeyer, aviation machinist, is engaged in reconnaissance work in Hawaii and M. Sgt. Steven Wehmeyer is in charge of a photo mapping and charting unit in North Africa—perhaps helping lay the groundwork for the invasion which started only this week.

Nobles Observe 50th Anniversary

May 30, 1944 had special significance for Mr. and Mrs. Eugene G. Noble aside from the fact that it was Decoration day. It was the 50th anniversary of their marriage and while this fact was not noised about by them, the quiet observance was not overlooked by relatives and friends, for the golden-weds were the recipients of numerous cards and gifts from well wishing friends.

It was on May 30, 1894 that Myra Irene Smith became the bride of Eugene G. Noble at the bride's home in Monmouth. The young couple took up their residence in Heppner where the groom was engaged in the saddle and harness business, having acquired the establishment on April 1, 1894. They have lived here continuously and Mr. Noble stated Wednesday that they had occupied but three houses in the half century.

The day was spent quietly at home where they enjoyed a chicken dinner with plenty of trimmings and recounted the years of their journey through life together.

ATTENDING CONVENTION

Mrs. Lucy Rodgers is attending the annual convention of county school superintendants in Salem this week. She left Sunday for the capital city.
