MORALE is a lot of little RINGS

Popular Remark—Morale is a lot of little things and has an important bearing on rings, for no article of jewelry symbolizes friendship and affection as does the personally selected circlet of lasting precious metal.

See us for that ring to the soldier or sailor far from home or to the girl he left behind—contributing the morale of all concerned.

THERE'S a whale of a difference between a broken match and one that isn't.

You know the broken match is out. You may not be quite sure about the other.

But this is sure:

If a blazing match lights on an inflammable forest "floor", you have the start of another forest fire. In five years ending in 1939, there was an average of 79,069 forest fires in the United States every year. More than three-quarters of them were man-caused.

All of us PAY for forest fires

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Soldiers vs. Civilians in Tomorrow's World

You hear some talk about how—when the war is over—there's going to be bad feeling between soldiers and civilians; how the country will be divided into those who fought in uniform and those who stayed at home.

Well, maybe you saw that letter from a soldier overseas, in one of our big magazines. It said that men in uniform aren't thinking any such thoughts—any more than folks at home are.

The most important thing is, that we're all engaged in one titanic struggle to preserve our freedom and our rights—not just as soldiers or civilians—but as Americans!

From where I sit, that attitude is going to win the war—and win the Peace too. If we can respect the rights of others—whether it's their right to enjoy a glass of beer, or to vote the way they please—we've got a mighty sound foundation for our peacetime world.
