BLESSED EVENT!

HAVE you ever watched the birth of a new forest?

Seed flies from ripened cones and soon Nature has carpeted the ground with the fresh, new green of a junior forest.

This miracle of renewed life is converting millions of acres of lands into productive farms, yielding a harvest of trees. That is why timber is often called "America's only renewable resource."

Modern-day timber operators aid Nature by leaving adequate sources of seed for future forests, by planting seedlings when necessary, and by spending millions of dollars for fire prevention.

By such methods, America's 630,000,000 acres of forest lands can grow all the timber we need—for homes, for commerce, for national security and for recreation.

Forest Fact!

A mature pine tree will drop as many as 10,000 seeds in a single season.
