News From The Boys at The Front

Cpl Everett L. Crump writes to his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Peck from some place in the Pacific. He tells of seeing Howard Gilliam and having a long chat. He continues with "By now I've been around in Japan enough to know what the country looks like. They level off the steep hillsides into steps and raise gardens there.

"These Jap fighter pilots aren't so brave as they imagine but they like to show off with all their fancy maneuvering and stunt flying. The one I got, got too brave and dove through our formation. He didn't live to tell about it though.

"We get some good music and the news from Tokyo. If we lose a plane they say we lost 50 of them over the target as if we wouldn't know. Then they play our popular songs for us to make us happy, I guess. Maybe you have heard of the Tokyo Rose in the news. She entertains our boys over the radio and predicts the future."

Lt Bill W. Biddle was recently decorated with the Air medal according to a communication which his mother, Mrs. Lela S. Brown of Ione received a short time ago. The award was made in recognition of courageous service to his combat organization, his fellow American airmen, "his country," his home and to you." The letter was written by George C. Kenny, Lt General, U. S. army, commander.

Lt. Biddle was cited for meritorious achievement while participating in aerial flights in the Southwest Pacific area from June 28, 1944 to August 12, 1944.

The citation stated "The excellent job accomplished and maintained by your command in neutralizing Satawan, Truk, Yap, Palau, Woleai and Palau with repeated and aggressive attacks receives my heartiest congratulations—a difficult mission well accomplished."

Bill is awaiting transportation home to the States on furlough. He writes his mother there are 700 ahead of him on the list and transportation for about 10 men a day. He hopes some ships will come by as they usually are able to take about 100 men apiece.

A commendation recently addressed to all officers and men of the VIII corps, APO 308, U. S. army reads as follows:

1. The magnificent tactical skill and hardihood which you and your command displayed in slowing up the German offensive, and the determined valor and tactical prescience which caused you to retain possession of Bastogne, together with your subsequent resumption of a victorious offensive, constitute a truly superb feat of arms.

2. You and the officers and men of your command are hereby commended for a superior performance.

3. You will apprise all units concerned of the contents of this letter." Signed G. S. Patton Jr.

The commendation was sent to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dinges by their son S Sgt Dan Dinges who writes with all due modesty that although "my contributions were meager it makes me feel pretty doggone good.

"The Doughboys, God bless 'em, deserve the real credit and we all know it too, but we proved one thing—that we could take it."

Mulling Over 800 Measures Sizable Job for Legislators

Salem Man Gives
Insight on Job
Of Law Making

Being a member of the state legislature involves something more than honor, in the opinion of Lester A. Wilcox of Salem, member of the state educational system, who has been in the county this week meeting with school clerks and boards. Wilcox was a guest at the chamber of commerce luncheon Monday and spoke on the workings of the legislature.

When one stops to consider that more than 800 bills of one kind and another have been dropped in the hopper it is little wonder that the lawmakers have to work overtime at their own expense, Wilcox said. These measures cover about everything having to do with our daily life and it is up to the legislators to determine which are most essential. This is done largely through committees work as there would be no time to discuss the merits or flaws of so many bills. Many times a bill having the recommendation of the committee readily passes one or both houses when presented. In the long run this saves much time.

Asked if he thought the unicameral system—one legislative body such as is used in Nebraska would be more effective than the two house system, Wilcox said he did not believe it would. A measure passing the one-house group would be final whereas a bill going through the lower house might not meet with the approval of the senate and that body could stop it or amend it. He held for the two bodies as the most effective type of lawmaking.

Clifford Sims, in town for a few days, was a guest of Dr. A. D. McMurdo at the luncheon. He has recently returned from the middle east where he spent several months in employment work for the Kaiser interests.

A case heard in circuit court here earlier in the year was settled the past week when Judge Calvin L. Sweek found in favor of one of the defendants. Suit was filed by Merritt Gray against James Moyer and Bernard Doherty to determine the settlement of rent.

LEXINGTON GRANGE GIVES $50 TO RED CROSS FUND

Invitation from Willows grange for Saturday evening, March 17, was accepted and all new members were urged to go and receive the third and fourth degrees.

The serving committee had plenty of eats on hand as preparations had been made for 60, and not many attended.

Herman Nielson Lived Here More Than Sixty Years

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock p. m. Wednesday at the Church of Christ for Herman Nielson, 87, who passed away at his home in Heppner Monday morning. O. Wendell Herbison officiated and hymns were sung by Mrs. C. C. Dunham and Miss Marie Barlow, Mrs. J. O. Turner accompanying. Interment was made in the Heppner Masonic cemetery. Case Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Herman Nielson was born in Norway on July 8, 1857 and passed away at his home in Heppner Monday morning, March 12, 1945, being at the time of his passing, 87 years, 9 months and 3 days old.

He received his early schooling in his home town in Norway. At the age of 14 he went to sea and served as a cook and sailor for seven years. When he was 21 years of age he disembarked at New York and immediately found his way to the Pacific coast, finally walking to the Andrew Rood farm home in Rood canyon near Hardman.

He worked for Mr. Rood until he accumulated a sufficient amount of wages to acquire land of his own until he had 1300 acres at the time he disposed of it four years ago. Feeling the need of taking life a bit easier in his declining years, he sold his land to Blaine Chapel and purchased the town home from F. W. Turner where he lived until his death.

Herman, as he was known by friends was a man with no bad habits, as strictly honest and always ready to assist his fellow man. He was a life long member of the Lutheran church and of the Knights of Pythias lodge.

So far as is known he leaves only some nephews and nieces; also many friends among whom are the faithful ones who cared for him during his last weeks of illness, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burnside.

New Local Planes Come Over Monday

Arrival of two planes here Monday afternoon added to the growing interest in air travel, sparked up more recently by the organization of a Civilian Air Patrol unit in Morrow county.

First plane to arrive was a big red monoplane piloted by Woodrow Huston, young Eight Mile farmer. A good many spectators naturally supposed this to be the CAP plane ordered for training duty here but this plane did not arrive until a later hour.

Huston circled over the town several times upon arriving from the Pendleton airport, showing that he is becoming air-minded. Later in the afternoon when Walter Ready arrived with the CAP biplane he made one circle over town and then headed for the O. W. Cutsforth place and parked the machine.

Hospital Planning Placed in Hands of County-wide Group

Court Names 7 People to Develop Workable Set-up

Acting in accordance with a promise made to representatives of the Heppner chamber of commerce and the Morrow county farm bureau at the regular term of court Wednesday of last week, the county court selected and notified seven representative people of the county that they had been named as a commission to study all angles of the proposed county hospital and to report the findings to the court at the earliest possible date. In making the selection the court endeavored to cover all sections of the county as nearly as the limited number of representatives would permit.

Mrs. Minnie McFarland of Boardman represents the northern or river division; John Krebs was selected to represent Cecil, Morgan and Ione. George N. Peck is the Lexington representative, while four others getting their mail at Heppner complete the list. These are B. C. Pinckney of the First National Bank of Portland, Heppner branch; Ralph I. Thompson, upper Willow creek; Frank E. Parker, the Rhea Creek grange district, and Mrs. P. A. Mollahan. Mrs. Mollahan is a trained nurse with many years of hospital experience.

Each appointee received a letter from the court explaining the nature of the appointment and urging acceptance.

It was learned today that the group will get together in the first meeting March 25. It was not indicated where the meeting will be held, but probably at a point central to most of them. Neither has it been suggested that arrangements be made to include a bond election with the forthcoming special state election scheduled for June 22.

Shrine Schedules Dance March 24

Bringing Shrine activities closer home, the Morrow County Shrine club has scheduled a dance to be given at the Willows grange hall in Ione on the evening of March 24. The party is to be a benefit affair, funds to be derived from this and other social events to be used in assisting the work of the Shrine hospital in Portland and in the purchase of equipment for the new Morrow county hospital when it is ready for use.

Good music has been retained for the dance, which, due to circumstances over which the sponsors have no control, will have to start early and close early. There will be refreshments during the evening.

ST PATRICK'S DAY DANCE SET FOR SATURDAY NIGHT

Saturday evening is the time and the Rhea Creek grange hall the place for the big annual St. Patrick's day party sponsored by the Women's Altar society of St. Patrick's Catholic church.
