Legislature Closes . . .

of the state and taxation specialists that this bill will go far toward settling the state's educational finance problems.

The legislature strengthened the demand of the liquor commission to give it power to handle the enforcement problem in the cities.

Veterans were given legislation to enable them to attend schools or to borrow money under the provisions provided by the vote of the people last fall.

A special election will be held in June to give the voters an opportunity to pass on a building program for public institutions and higher education. This election will validate the expenditure of income tax money for such purposes and will be a tax in name only.

Also on the same ballot will be a proposed cigarette tax that, if passed, will raise some $2,000,000 for elementary and high school purposes. It was felt that income provided by that time or schools and excise tax returns will fail soon and that some new tax must be will suffer. There is objection to the source of the tax but no objection to the need for a new tax for schools.

Briefly, counties may adopt the county manager plan, the dental college will continue in operation, unemployment and workmen's compensation benefits were upped, candidates must file earlier to give soldiers more time to vote, barber bill renewed.

A large number of bills was referred to the people at future elections and ten interim committees were provided most of which are of little importance. However, a tax study will be made that is of possible importance.
