A Needed Improvement

Rainy weather always brings to mind the question of how much longer will the parking strips between sidewalk and curb along Main street go unpayed. When one sees a car drive up to the curb and the occupants attempt to negotiate the stretch between curb and walk without getting their feet wet it causes some wonderment regarding our civic pride.

The time may not be far distant when many of our boys will be returning home from battl fields. They will have seen death and destruction on every hand. Nothing will be more soothing to their war-weary eyes than the sight of homethe old home town. Every improvement will be as balm to their eyes. They will be proud to know that while the home folks were backing them in the service they also were carrying on at home. It will give them more faith in the cause for which they were fighting.

Let's put a little more finish on Main street; repair some of the bad spots on the other streets

As to the curb question, it would there would be a battle royal but thing but the kitchen sink thrown not require materials and labor in sufficient amount to place it in postwar improvement plans. It could be done now if property owners can only see their way clear to have it done. It goes without saving that people coming to town to trade would appreciate this particular improvement.

An unprecedented run on display advertising has necessitated curtailing some of the news features. Of these, letters from the people in the service of their country, because of their length, have been held back pending sufficient space. It is the wish of the publishers to print these letters, or parts of them, at an early date and we beg further indulgence of those who have turned the letters in to us.

Writing his parents on April 14, DeWitt H. Jones F C 3 c, tells of participating in the Feb. 16-17 Gunnison in Technicolor and Bugs raids on Tokyo. He writes in part: "A bunch of our latest actions have been released and we can also tell a lot of our personal experiences.

"First of all, of course, we were in on the Tokyo raids of Feb. 16 and 17. The weather up there was Gail Russell, Diana Lynn, Charlie cold and a lot of rain, and those two days and part of the nights we were on our gun stations just in a sent no stukas out after us. All those two days we never left our guns for more than five or 10 minutes at a time, and we ate "on station"-usually ham sandwiches, till we were blue in the face. I hope I never have to see another ham sandwich. About the only action that was at all close to us was some Jap picket boats that our force sank-blew 'em all to shreds and then picked up some survivors and brought them aboard.
