Lest We Forget . . .

It is not the intention of most of us to forget those who have sacrificed the privilege of enjoying life in the fullest measure, yet when we are not prompted we are prone to neglect our duties. Those of us residing in the Blue Mountain Camp and Hospital area are privileged to provide comforts for the patients of McCaw General and other hospitals caring for sick and wounded veterans of World War II. As far as Morrow county is concerned, an excellent job is being done in making life as cheerful as possible for the men who are hospitalized because they sought to make life in America free and safe. Our people have given generously, some through solicitation, many by voluntary subscriptions of money and donations of various gifts with the result that the Morrow county ward at McCaw is one of the bright spots of hospital life.

In outlining the program for the ensuing year, the Morrow county committee decided to dispense with solicitation of funds and leave it with the people to make voluntary contributions. The plan may not have been understood, inasmuch as contributions have not come in at a rate commensurate with previous seasons. This is to remind our readers that the work of caring for the hospitalized veterans can not lag. There are new patients on the way all the time and they must not be neglected. New demands will have to be met. The job will grow bigger instead of receding, especially while the Japs are able to put up a good scrap, and we must set aside funds for regular contributions to the camp and hospital service.

Contact your district committee member today and turn in your contribution. Remember, this is your privilege to serve those who offered their lives for your protection.

Comfort to the Enemy

Since the declaration of war, Mr. J. Citizen has heard much about giving aid and comfort to the enemy—so much in fact, that he is afraid to speak his mind about the weather or kindred subjects for fear he might be giving away state secrets. Perhaps it is not as bad as that but the public at large has become war conscious through the many warnings against this and that and for once in our history an element of caution has crept into our national life, buttoning up our lips, as it were.

Currently there is a phase of our national activity which, unless the course is changed, and rather suddenly, may give the enemy a great deal of comfort. He is playing on it now and will toot his horn with greater gusto if the Yankees fail to meet the E bond quota in the Mighty 7th war loan. Press and radio in the land of the cherry blossom are playing up our lethargy to bolster their own waning spirits. They say Americans are tired of war and all the Japs need to do to win is to wear down our morale at home. Mebbe so, mebbe so, Americans have no such intention, but they do grow a bit dilatory at times, due to the despised form of government under which they live—the principle of being asked instead of being told what to do—and it is in periods such as the present that our enemies attempt to hold us up to the world as the horrible example of government.

We should give no more comfort to the enemy, if such he is enjoying at the expense of the 7th war loan, and throw off this indifference. A few days remain in which to show him we are in the Friends and patrons of E. G. Noble will be glad to learn that he is recovering from a siege of flu which has kept him confined at home the past few weeks. Although improving, it will be some time before he will be able to resume his work at the saddle shop.

Word was received in Heppner Wednesday of the birth of a seven pound son on June 19 at Pampa, Texas to Lt. and Mrs. Jack Forsythe. Lt. Forsythe is located there at present taking further flight instruction after having completed his missions as a bombardier in England. Mrs. B. C. Forsythe has been visiting her son and daughter-in-law for several weeks.

Mrs. J. B. Iremonger and son Jimmy of Portland were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Ebert a few days the last week. They returned home Tuesday morning, accompanying the Eberts who were enroute to Corvallis.
