EVER REACH INTO AN EMPTY SOCK?

Well, I have.

And it's a tough feeling when you need money and don't know where to get it.

That's why I'm putting every dollar I can rake or scrape into War Bonds now.

They're the best insurance I know against finding the old sock empty if I ever have to dig down into it again.

And I may have to, you know.

You can't help but win by putting War Bonds away. In ten years I'll get back 4 dollars for every 3 I put into E Bonds. And in the meantime, the money is always there if I need it.

And every time I put another War Bond in the sock, I think of the sock that it helps to give those Japs.

What better proposition could you want ... for yourself ... for your family ... for your country ... than War Bonds?
