

NEW MONEY COMING

Two thousand miles for a fish? O no! To enjoy the beat of the sun, the smack of the breeze and the thrill of a fish that fights like a wildcat.

That's what fifty million people want to buy. And that's exactly what Oregon has to sell—and will sell. Fifty million dollars worth at least in 1946. That much was sold to 128,000 tourists in 1940. Fifty million dollars in new money will be brought into our state by tourists the coming year. It will continue to come in other years if we do our part as good hosts. Thirty-one percent of the automobile traveling on Oregon highways in November carried out-of-state licenses, says Harold B. Say, state travel bureau director.

A record tourist parade has started already.

OPA CASES

Circuit courts of the state have jurisdiction in cases brought by the office of price administration involving violations of price regulations the Oregon supreme court has just ruled in a case brought by Chester Bowles, OPA administrator, against five defendants all operating businesses in Oregon.

Justice George Rossman dissented the opinion written by Justice Brand.

The supreme court remanded the cases for further consideration.

PLEASURE BOAT TAX

If your canoe or rowboat is over 16 feet long get ready to pay the state a tax of $5 or more a year. The new pleasure boat license tax law goes into effect Jan. 1. Application blanks are now ready at the office of your county clerk. The tax is $5 for boats over 16 feet long and up to 20 feet, and $5 plus $1 a foot for each foot over 20 feet.

NORBLAD CHOSEN

Walter Norblad, Astoria attorney, former legislator and son of former Governor A. W. Norblad, was selected by 20 republican county committeemen of the first congressional district as their choice for congressman at the special election Jan. 11. The meeting was held in Salem last Saturday and will be followed by a "home town" nominating convention in Astoria within ten days.

BILL OF RIGHTS DAY

Tuesday morning Governor Earl Snell stressed approval of the national observance of "Bill of Rights Day" and called attention to the date, Dec. 15, stating, "It is only fitting that this document, which is the essence of our free and democratic way of life, should be honored by this observation, particularly just after the termination of the recent terrible war, fought for the preservation of the liberties set forth in the Bill of Rights."

GOVERNOR URGES CARE

"I would like to call attention to a nation-wide campaign against preventable accidents during the 1945 Christmas holiday season," Governor Earl Snell said this week. "The campaign is being conducted by the National Safety Council and 130 cooperating organizations. Accidents can be stopped by common sense and courtesy. Let us remember to have regard for others, as well as ourselves, by using safety precautions on the highways, in our homes and in our recreation. While we are celebrating our first peacetime Christmas since 1940, it would be doubly tragic to have this season marred by preventable accident fatalities."

The position of Oregon state archivist, which was created by the 1945 legislature, goes to David C. Duniway, Miss Eleanor Stephens, state librarian, announced Saturday. The new program will include organization and preservation of all documents of state activities which are no longer functioning.

The recently appointed official, who is a great grandson of Abigail

Scott Duniway, a famous Oregon pioneer and nationally prominent worker for woman suffrage, will take over the duties of the $3600-a-year job Jan. 1.

WANTS STATE HELP

The proposed joint state-Multnomah county-City of Portland health building would cost $500,000, the state board of control was told by Dr. J. M. Erickson, state health officer. The cost would be shared, he proposed, according to the amount of floor space used by each contributor. Federal funds might be forthcoming, he added. The board of control deferred action on the proposal.
