

Journalistic Style of Past Era Revealed In Copies of Heppner Gazette of 1896

Back in the good old '90's the newspapers ran paid advertising matter in the news columns and for the enlightenment of 1946 readers part of a column of local news briefs is reprinted from the issue of Nov. 27, 1896. The column is headed "Here and There" and the items are reprinted in the order they were published at that time.

If you want to do business, advertise.

If you know any news tell us all about it.

The Gazette must have more patrons for its space in order to live. This paper asks no charity but it does appeal to business men to wake up and do business once more.

After this date the First National bank will close its doors at 3 p. m. on Saturdays instead of the former hour, 4 p. m. Patrons will please note this fact and govern themselves accordingly.

P. E. Sherlock and Andy Tillard have been out the past week after sheep for the former, and succeeded in buying 5000 head—two-and three-year olds—which will be shipped to La Fox, Ills., where they will be fed. They will be shipped in two trains, one from Echo and the other from Heppner.

(The reason the editor referred to everything being down town was that the Gazette plant at that time was located on upper Main street, near the upper corner of the grounds now occupied by the forest service. The plant was heated and operated by steam.)

LEO YOUNG APPOINTED CPA MANAGER AT ROSEBURG

From the Roseburg News-Review we learn that Leo Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Young of Hermiston, formerly of Ione, has been appointed to a prominent position in Roseburg. Leo graduated from Ione high school and attended the University of Oregon, graduating from the school of business administration in 1939. Says the News-Review:

"Capt Leo Young, certified public accountant, who served as a captain in the U. S. army for four years, has been appointed manager of the Roseburg office of Stearns-Flynn and Company, certified public accountants and tax counsellors. The office is located in the Pacific building.

"Capt. Young who is on terminal leave at present, was graduated from University of Oregon school of business administration in 1939 and is a member of Delta Chi Delta fraternity. Prior to entering the army, he had experience in public and municipal accounting and worked in Salem for the Oregon State Division of Audits and for the Price-Waterhouse company in Portland and Los Angeles. While in the army he served two and a half years in Alaska and the last year was stationed at Greenville, S. C., where he was assigned to duty in financial analysis for the quarter contract re-negotiation office."

AUTHORITY ON DEAFNESS HERE

E. L. Worthington

A SCIENTIFICALLY TRAINED EXPERT ON HEARING PROBLEMS

WILL DEMONSTRATE REVOLUTIONARY NEW HEARING SYSTEM

Mr. Worthington will conduct a free clinic for the hard of hearing at the Heppner Hotel on Tuesday, Jan. 29 only, from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Now you can actually have a personal consultation on your hearing problems—actually learn from a trained specialist without cost or obligation how you too can enjoy pleasant, relaxed hearing once again.

A feature of this Hearing Clinic will be a demonstration showing how the great new Acousticon Hearing System answers the government's demand to meet each and every need of the hard of hearing, and to furnish not just a hearing aid, but a complete hearing system.

An important point of the Acousticon Hearing System is the remarkable Acousticon "Hearing Lenses", made by world's oldest manufacturer of hearing aids. They actually focus sound for ears the way optical lenses focus vision for the eyes.

The New Post War Super Power Instrument will be demonstrated. Even if you have never heard before, Come in and SEE IT • TRY IT • Hear this astounding new instrument with the tiny batteries.

If you are unable to attend clinic, an evening appointment in your own home may be arranged.

Aerial Hunting of Coyotes Slated to Open in February

Aerial hunting of coyotes again will be sponsored by the Oregon State Game commission during February and March of this year. Information gathered by the commission's fieldmen indicate that while the loss of wildlife through coyote predation this season was somewhat less than during the past three or four years, the drain on game population still is heavy enough to justify further control measures.

The same fliers who operated last season are being employed; Dick Ballantine, Redmond; Al Tilse, Bend; Oscar Davis and Roe Davis, Burns. It is possible some new areas may be included and a reconnaissance flight will be made to determine the practicability of aerial hunting in other sections of the state.

The aerial hunting is supplementary to the regular work done on the ground by hunters under the cooperative predatory animal control program supervised by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service, toward which the game commission, as one of the cooperators, makes an annual contribution of $12,000.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

DICK: "I wonder how the distillers feel about that new movie built around an alcoholic."

OLD JUDGE: "It's funny you asked that, Dick... I was just reading a piece about it."

DICK: "What did it say?"

OLD JUDGE: "A very sensible statement. It said the beverage distillers are fully aware of this problem and are cooperating in every way possible to help solve it. The alcoholic is to the beverage distilling industry what the reckless driver is to the automobile industry. There is nothing wrong with the automobile, but in the hands of a man who doesn't know how to drive it or is reckless, it becomes a menace. Likewise, it's not the use but the abuse of alcoholic beverages that causes trouble."

DICK: "Wonder why it is most men can drink moderately and others can't?"

OLD JUDGE: "Intensive research at a great university has shown that most excessive drinkers are really sick people. They are suffering from some physical, social or emotional upset. And great strides have been made in developing clinical methods of helping these unfortunate people."
