Encouragement Needed

In view of the housing shortage, every encouragement should be given, especially to the veterans, to build homes. The situation is tough for the ex-GI who was led to believe that conditions for him would be better than they have turned out to be and at least he should be told that he can get the essential building materials, as well as most of the plumbing and lighting supplies.

This point was emphasized by a former service man this week. Engaged in the retail lumber business, he is in a position to know that the building outlook is improving for the veterans and he urged his listeners to encourage them to build rather than throw cold water on their plans by always bringing up the question of being unable to buy building materials.

Heppner needs more housing in spite of the fact that several houses and numerous apartments have been constructed in recent months. If the GI can get building materials, would it not be wise to aid him in securing them, and the workmen to do the job, rather than discouraging him?

Jane Huston Weds William Rawlins in Home Ceremony

In a garden ceremony against a background of flowers, Miss Jane Huston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Huston, became the bride of William Edward Rawlins at a 4 o'clock service Sunday afternoon at the Huston ranch home south of Lone. The Rev. Eugenia P. Coats, aunt of the bride and a returned missionary from Guatemala, now of Dallas, Ore., officiated.

Lovely in her mother's wedding gown of white net over satin, the bride carried white gladiolus with rosebud centers and wore a full length veil fastened with a crown of rosebuds. Mrs. Harold Gaines,

Portland, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore a princess style gown in rose velvet and carried a nosegay of pink rosebuds. Attendants of the bride were her cousin, Miss Betty Phillips, Portland, and Miss Dorothy Larkin, Monroe. Miss Phillips wore powder blue taffeta and Miss Larkin wore powder blue net. Both carried nosegays of pom-pom asters. Mrs. Huston, mother of the bride, wore a black lace afternoon dress with a corsage of tea roses.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Tom Huston, brother of the bride, was best man. Mrs. C. C. Dunham sang "O Promise Me," accompanied by Mrs. Charles O'Connor, who also played the wedding music.

Chapin-Hodge Vows Taken In Portland Thursday Evening

Miss Kingsley Chapin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Chapin, former Heppner residents now of Portland, became the bride of Charles L. Hodge Jr., son of Charles L. Hodge Sr., Heppner, at marriage services held at 8 o'clock this evening at Grace Memorial church in Portland. Father Evensen performed the ceremony.

Miss Chapin, a graduate of Heppner high school, has been employed in Portland as chief clerk for the Underwood Typewriter company. Mr. Hodge, a graduate of Pasco, Wash., high school, served five and one half years in the navy following his graduation, spending most of the time in the South Pacific.

Following a honeymoon on the coast, the young couple will live in Heppner. Mr. Hodge will become a partner in the Hodge Chevrolet Co. as a wedding gift from his father, Charles Hodge Sr., owner. He was formerly in charge of the parts department.

Among Heppner people at the marriage service were Wanda Hodge, Charles Hodge Sr., Mrs. J. W. Hiatt, Mrs. Doris Gally, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hisler and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Wilson, Mrs. Alva Jones, Mrs. Harlan McCurdy, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hoyt, Mr. and Mrs. James Barratt, Miss Rosetta Healy, Don Bennett and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bucknum.

50 friends and relatives following the service. The bride and groom cut the first piece of the three-tiered wedding cake with a miniature wedding couple. Pink snapdragons decorated the tea table. Mrs. Ben I. Phillips of Portland, aunt of the bride, served and Mrs. E. R. Huston poured.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Parker of Pasco, Wash., Mrs. Phillips and daughter, Miss Phillips, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gaines of Portland.

The young couple left for the coast on a wedding trip and will live in Corvallis where Mr. Rawlins will attend Oregon State college.

MISS GADEKEN HONORED AT BRIDAL SHOWER

Miss Grace Gadeken was complimented with a bridal shower at the Methodist church parlors Wednesday evening given by ladies of the church. A large group of friends were present for an evening of games, refreshments and presentation of gifts. Mrs. Elizabeth Gadeken, mother of the honoree, was also present.

Mrs. Ray Drake and Mrs. Lucy Rodgers poured at the tea table. Mrs. Charles Vaughn, Mrs. Elbert Cox and Mrs. Cornett Green served on the refreshment committee and Mrs. George Corwin and Mrs. E. O. Ferguson were in charge of the entertainment. Nancy Ferguson gave a humorous reading.

Miss Marjorie Sims returned for a visit with her aunt and uncle, Dr. and Mrs. A. D. McMurdo, after spending part of her vacation with relatives in Pendleton and attending the Round-Up. Miss Josephine Price of Corvallis, a college friend of Miss Sims, is also a guest at the McMurdo home.

The royal court of this year's Heppner rodeo were special guests at the Grant county fair in John Day Thursday. The court includes Queen Darlene I and princesses Gwen Coleman, Jean Hanna, Betty Smethurst and Betty Lovgren. The girls were escorted by Mrs. William Smethurst of Lexington.
