National Newspaper Week

Newspapers throughout the land are observing their own week, October 1-8, during which time mention of the newspaper's place in the community is being given prominence in special articles and editorials. It is a period in which editors are granted the privilege of rooting their own horns without undue censure from their readers. It is not an easy task for most editors and publishers to sing their own praises and it is not the intent of the press to regale the reading public with a long list of accomplishments other than to show the part that is being played in the welfare and progress of the community.

During the current year the Gazette Times has worked for and seen accomplished completion of the financing for a county hospital. We have advocated sodding and lighting the Rodeo grounds and although an opportunity to have the grassing done was rejected, we still think it should be done and shall devote more space to that cause in the future. Support has been given the proposed flood control dam—an improvement offering almost unlimited development possibilities for the Willow creek valley, and with pardonable pride we mention the fact that this newspaper was one of the prime movers for direct highway connection with Monument, a movement which has developed interest on both sides of the mountains and, we hope, will command the attention of the state highway commission. This newspaper has supported the city government in its efforts to obtain a more adequate water supply, for street improvements and other matters of public welfare. All of which is the function of a newspaper, as well as to oppose those things not deemed essential or not worth the price they might cost.

Many newspapers are holding open house to give the public an opportunity to learn some of the "makings" of a newspaper. The Gazette Times wishes to extend an invitation to any of its readers who have not had the privilege of seeing the paper in the process of formation to visit the plant Monday evening, October 7, at which time the "force" will demonstrate some of the principal steps. (We will be working after supper anyway.)

A Charter for Rural Education

Another "day" has been added to the calendar, one in which every citizen is vitally interested, for the purpose of its designation is to bring to the attention of the public the vital importance of our rural schools. The day is designated "Rural School Charter Day" and Friday, October 4 is the date. It is sponsored by the National Education Association and the Oregon Education Association. Quoting from a poster released under the aforementioned sponsorship we find the following forceful reasons for "Rural School Charter Day:"

"In this new era, America can develop the finest rural civilization the world has yet seen. We have the people, the energy, the innate intelligence, the natural resources, and the wealth. We need a virile education which can inspire and prepare people to attack and solve their own problems. For that reason, we cannot tolerate in any rural community any educational procedures or lack of them which would discriminate against or in any way handicap a rural child in taking his or her rightful place as a valued citizen of this democracy."

Fidelity to a cause has been aptly demonstrated in Morrow county the past month. Unable to secure her services for the school year, Supt. B. C. Forsythe of Ione persuaded Mrs. Lewis Cason to substitute for the month during which time he could acquire a permanent teacher. Mrs. Cason consented, although it required driving to and from home because it was necessary for her to be home mornings and evenings most of the time to do the chores. This meant that she had to drive no less than 70 miles daily but she managed it and her capable services to the school command not only the gratitude of District No. 35 but of all people interested in education and the proper upbringing of our children. It required something more than money to prompt this sacrifice on Mrs. Cason's part. Only those who love their work and have the welfare of the children at heart are accorded this recognition from patrons and the press.

In view of the current meat shortage over most of the country it would appear that Shylock with his pound of flesh was no small operator.

Church Scene of Beautiful Wedding Ceremony Sunday

The Methodist church was the scene of a beautiful wedding at 4 p. m. Sunday when Miss Grace Elizabeth Gadeken and Douglas E. Drake were married with Rev. Joe Jewett, pastor of the Church of Christ officiating. The double ring ceremony was used.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Gadeken of Bushnell, Neb., wore a brocaded satin gown, a train with finger tip veil held in place by coronet of pink rosebuds. She carried a white prayer book with gardenias and streamers. She also wore a gold locket, the gift of the groom.

Mrs. Lucy Rodgers, matron of honor, gowned in aqua crepe was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Leila Tolleson of Walla Walla and Jennie Marie Warren of Pendleton. Caroline Gadeken niece of the bride was flower girl. Nancy Ferguson, in floor-length pink gown, lighted the candles. The church was decorated with pastel shades of fall flowers.

Mrs. Cleo Drake of Ione aunt of the groom, played the wedding marches and accompanied Miss Zephne Given of Salem, cousin of the groom, who sang "Oh Promise Me" and "At Dawning".

Claude Drake served as best man for his brother, while both ushers, Donald Drake of Boise and Raymond Drake of Corvallis were also brothers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church basement. Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. John Bergstrom, Mrs. Harley Anderson, Mrs. Norman Nelson, Mrs. Lee Scrivner, Mrs. Claud Huston, Mrs. Ray Wright, Mrs. Floyd Tolleson, Mrs. F. E. Parker, Mrs. Clive Huston, Mrs. Walter Becket, Mrs. Charles Bocket, Mrs. Ben Anderson, Mrs. Vernon Munkers and Mrs. Walter Wright.

For traveling the bride wore a gray suit with black accessories and a gardenia corsage. After a honeymoon at the coast the young couple will be at home in the Case apartments. Mr. Drake will engage in farming with his father.

Out of town relatives included Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Given and daughter Zephne, Silverton, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Drake Jr and children of Corvallis; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Drake and son of Boise, Ida.; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Carver, Portland; Claude Drake, Milton; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gadeken, and family of Denver Colo, and Mrs. Elizabeth Gadeken.

Thank You!

People of Morrow County!

We have served you for a long time and now that we have retired from the milk delivery business we want to tell you how much we have appreciated meeting you from day to day, both in a business way and as neighbors and friends. We regret that we have had to take this step but know that you will be served in a satisfactory manner by our successor.

In closing let us state that we expect to remain in your midst and continue to be your neighbors, carrying on our ranch work on a less strenuous basis.

Bert Childers and the Melon Patch

Bert Childers put an ad in the Clarion the other day. Here's what it said:

"Planted more melons than I can eat this year. Stop by and pick as many as you want. All free."

As you can guess, plenty of folks sent their kids over and plenty of the parents came too. Stripped Bert's melon patch in no time. And as they went away, Bert treated the kids to lemonade, and offered the grownups a glass of ice-cold sparkling beer.

Naturally it puzzled some folks... but Bert explains: "It gives me a kick to share things when I can afford to—whether it's the melons, or the lemonade, or beer. I guess I just like to indulge my whims."

From where I sit, if we had more "self-indulgent" people like Bert—who believe in share and share alike, live and let live, this tired world would be a whole lot better off!
