Highways To Health

By ADA R. MAYNE

WINTER MEALTIMES

With the coming of cold weather, appetites are quickened and throats turn toward steaming, hearty meals—healthful, "stick to the ribs" food for Dad and the children.

However, one winter mealtime Mother must watch for is the danger of too-heavy meals—leaving the eater lousy, dull and drowsy. Meat and potatoes are fine—but try to include a fresh raw fruit or vegetable at dinner. Crisp lettuce, a tray of carrot and celery sticks, sliced tomatoes or molded fruit—any one of these will give color and flavor contrast—and help keep winter meals out of the "too hot and too heavy" class. And fruits and vegetables furnish protective vitamins and minerals which help keep disease resistance high—so important during cold weather months.

Another tip—avoid heavy rich desserts except for special occasions. Keep them light but satisfying for daily fare. And speaking of desserts, today we feature a tried and true favorite. Good, old-fashioned rice pudding—creamy, flavorful and nourishing. It's a perfect topper for an oven dinner, and an economical one, too.

There are several schools of thought on the making of rice pudding. There is the "baked in the oven" school, and the "boiled first" school. And fridships have been crushed and families broken over the raisin and non-raisin theory. So keep peace in the family, we offer both kinds—and both delicious.

Finish off a meal of baked pork chops, scalloped potatoes, string

BAKED RICE PUDDING

1-2 cup rice
4 cups scalded milk
1-2 tsp. salt
2-3 cup sugar
Grated rind of one lemon
1-4 cup seeded raisins
2 well beaten eggs, if desired.
Wash rice and mix with milk, salt, sugar, lemon rind, nutmeg, and raisins. Pour into greased baking dish. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees) about 3 hrs., stirring 3 times during the first hour of baking. If desired, stir in eggs 30 minutes before pudding is removed from oven. Serves 6.

LEMON CREAM RICE PUDDING

1-2 cup rice
3 cups milk
2 egg yolks, beaten
1-2 cup sugar
Grated rind of one lemon
1 1-3 tsp. lemon juice
3-4 tsp. salt
2 tbsp. confectioners sugar
1-4 tsp. lemon extract
2 egg whites
Cook rice in milk in double boiler until soft. Add egg yolks, sugar, lemon rind and juice, and salt. Cook until mixture thickens. Pour into buttered baking dish. Fold powdered sugar and lemon extract gradually into stiffly beaten egg whites, and pile on top of pudding. Bake in a moderate oven (330 degrees) until lightly browned. Serve with cream or fruit sauce. As a variation the whites may be folded into the hot custard and baked as a souffle. Serves 6.

Howdy Folks: We talked with a man who had recently seen a burlesque show and his reaction was that burlesque girls do little more than stand around and twiddle their thumbs.

Of course a burlesque girl's clothes are designed so that she is seen in the best place.

In burlesque, if the girls' clothes don't drop off, the attendance does. That type of show does create a lot of competition. The girls all try to outstrip one another.

Could you say that a young burlesque girl is a mere stripping?

And a retired burlesque girl is one who isn't her old slyph any more?

Just a little more of this chat'ry and we'll be burlesque happy.

And how we'll be happy to have you drop in and see us next time you need your wheel alignment checked.

Drop in whether you buy anything or not.
