educational excellence instead of financial inability or incompetence. Under the "official" bill the district with the least money would reap most. The second proposal would give the greatest aid to the district with the best schools.

There are two proposals to tax gambling devices. One is of the old tried constitutional amendment to eliminate the lottery section and the other is to levy an excise tax on the money obtained from such devices. Neither will have much chance, the people of Oregon not being inclined to realism in such matters. We kid ourselves by thinking that if we do not admit that
