Geo. A. Bleakman, Hardman Pioneer, Laid to Rest Here

Former Mayor of Heppner Succumbs At Monument

Services were held at 1:40 p.m. Wednesday at the Church of Christ for George A. Bleakman, whose death occurred Sunday, April 6, at Monument. Joe Jewett, pastor, officiated and arrangements were in charge of the Phelps Funeral Home. Interment was in the Heppner Masonic cemetery.

A resident of Morrow county for 60 years, Mr. Bleakman was one of the best known citizens of this district. Always active in the affairs of his immediate community, he also served 16 years as county commissioner. That was during an era of extensive road and highway development in the county and he was always on the job to get funds for state road development as well as working for better roads into the farming areas of the county. He followed various pursuits during his long residence at Hardman, retiring in later years to a home in Heppner where he could not be idle, serving a term as mayor.

George Anderson Bleakman was born in Canada in 1870 and was 76 years, three months and 17 days of age at the time of his death. He came to Morrow county at the age of 10 years, the family settling at Hardman, where he lived until moving to Heppner for a period of a few years, leaving here for Monument seven years ago. He married Ida Capon and to this union four children were born, two of whom preceded him in death. Surviving to mourn his passing are the wife, one son, Roy Bleakman of Monument, a daughter, Mrs. Herbert Hynd of Cecil; a brother, Bert Bleakman of Heppner, and a sister, Florence Tracey of Los Angeles, and six granddaughters.

The addition will make room for parties, dinners and other functions, giving the post and the auxiliary comfortable, convenient quarters.

Frank Davis and Earl Blake were busy the first of the week laying a new concrete sidewalk in front of their respective properties. Roy Quackenbush and R. E. Thomas are preparing to extend the walk past their properties, joining with the sidewalk at the Chaffee place. Orville Smith is having a concrete walk built from the street line to the house.

Resources of Northwest Should Be Developed For The People, Baker Avers

"If we are to capitalize on our natural resources, of which we here in the northwest are blessed in greater abundance than perhaps any place in the world, we must see to it that these resources are developed in the interests of the people to whom they rightfully belong." That was the opinion expressed by Charles Baker of Walla Walla, secretary-manager of the Pacific Supply Cooperative and president of the Inland Empire Waterways association, in an address to the Morrow county farm bureau at the Valby church parish house Monday evening. Baker's subject was the Columbia Valley authority, which he discussed in a fearless and forceful manner. He pleaded for more correlation between agencies and stated that while there is not the call for a Columbia Valley authority along the same lines as the TVA, the urge is here. Development of a CVA from the grass roots was explained. Coordination of the different government agencies such as army engineers, reclamation bureau, the power question, etc., now all with headquarters near the field will avoid duplications and wasteful competition, Baker said. The speaker pointed to the agencies opposed to a CVA, which he deemed formidable and plead for an organization that will protect the people's interest. Marshall Swearingen, secretary of the Oregon Farm Bureau Federation, spoke briefly, stating the stand of the state and national organizations on the power question. A. A. Scoulen reported on developments to date in the local REA, and Rep. Henry Peterson made a brief report on doings of the recent legislature. Garnet Barratt spoke encouragingly about reestablishment of the Morrow county fair this year, mentioning sites under consideration. The ladies of the farm bureau served refreshments. Date of the next meeting will be the first Monday in June, with the location probably Lexington grange hall.

Lanham Installing Furniture Stock in Masonic Basement

A crew of O. M. Yeager's workmen started work Wednesday repairing the basement in the Masonic building preparatory to installing fixtures for a furniture department for the Western Stores, of which Mayor Conley Lanham is owner and operator in Heppner.

A stairway is being cut in the front of the street level store leading to the basement. Some cement repair work is being done to the lift on the north side of the building and the basement will be celled in and finished in an attractive manner.

Lanham has carried a limited amount of furniture and the business has expanded to a point where he feels justified in putting in a complete line.

Jaycees Lay Plans For Development of Memorial Center

At the regular weekly meeting of the junior chamber of commerce Wednesday evening steps were taken to get the ball rolling in the direction of a civic center. With the county-city trade off their list of activities, the Jaycees are ready to take on the real objective of their organization—a memorial to the veterans of World War II and those who gave their all in that great conflict.

First order of business last night was city traffic violations. The Jaycees believe something should be done about the all-too-frequent exhibitions of careless driving and wish to work with city officials in reducing the violations. An effort also will be made to have driving instruction taught in the school. Harry Van Horn was named a committee of one to take these matters up with the proper authorities. On the civic center project a committee of five was named including Frank Davis, chairman; La Verne Van Marter, finance officer; and Jack O'Connor, Stephen Thompson and Francis Nickerson.

Eleven new members were added to the Jaycee roster and it was decided to leave the charter open indefinitely to permit as many as wish to be enrolled on the charter list. Marvin Wightman, representing the county and Wayne Lindner, the city, were appointed to act upon applications of membership.

Mr. and Mrs. George McDuffee of Portland were among out-of-town relatives here Wednesday for the funeral services of G. A. Bleakman. Mrs. Dempsey Boyer of John Day who has been spending some time in The Dalles, accompanied them to Heppner.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sprague of Ketchikan, Alaska, are spending a few days in Heppner with her sister, Mrs. Margaret Phelps. Mr. Sprague, former president of a Ketchikan bank, is traveling for his health. This is the Sprague's first visit to the United States in fifteen years. Virginia Dix of Portland is spending a few days in Heppner with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Dix.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewing Hynd were over from Ukiah Wednesday to attend the funeral services of George Bleakman. Word comes from Portland that Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hutchinson are the parents of a baby boy. Mrs. Hutchinson is the former Ann McIntyre.

Special Election To Be Held May 6 To Vote on Water Improvements

New Ordinance Paves Way For Immediate Action

Above the projected new city receipts of business transacted by the city council Monday evening, in a session full of important business, was the passage of an ordinance providing for an initiative and referendum relative to voting on charter amendments. The ordinance met with the unanimous approval of the council and after being signed by Mayor Lanham went into immediate effect.

Passage of the ordinance was desired in order to pave the way for calling an early election on the proposed $75,000 water bond issue and it is stated that the election was set ahead 30 days through this action.

City Attorney J. J. Nys asked if the first and second readings could not be read by title only and motions by the councilmen made this possible. When it developed that there are some 30 sections to the ordinance it was understandable why the attorney asked the favor.

The ordinance sets up rules and regulations for conducting special elections, operation of the initiative and referendum features, penalties, etc., and selection of judges and clerks. Upon its adoption, Mayor Lanham named the following men to conduct the election on May 6: A. W. Jones and Alex Green, judges; C. R. McAllister, S. J. Devine and R. B. Rice, clerks.

Notices of election have been prepared for posting and the resolution is published in full in this issue of the Gazette Times.

MRS. ERMA H. LITTLE Extension Specialist in Family Relationship, Oregon State College.

Mrs. Erma H. Little, extension specialist in family relationship, came to Oregon in July, 1946. She received her bachelor of science degree from Teachers college, Kirksville, Mo. After graduation, she taught school in Missouri for several years.

Mrs. Little received her master of science degree from State College in Virginia and was on the staff there as a teacher of family relationships and child development. "Where Are We Today?" Mrs. Little will discuss this subject at the Homemakers' festival at Ione, April 15.

It takes a stout heart and a strong imagination to look at the world today and see the good life shaping beyond all the troubles. We really are standing at a cross-road in history. Where do we go from here? What can we do to improve the situation even a little bit? What can you do in your family?

Our homes must have the vision, the faith, the skills and the maturity necessary for the solution of the problems facing us today. How can we gain them? This will be the central theme of the discussion we will have with Mrs. Little at our Homemakers' festival.

All men and women of Morrow county are invited to attend this program. An 8 1/2 pound daughter was born April 8 to Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Browne at a Portland hospital.

Miss Norma Scrivner of The Dalles arrived in Heppner Tuesday for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Elbert Cox. E. L. Bucknum is ill at his home.

Louis Gilliam left the first of the week for Syracuse, N. Y., where his marriage to Miss Jean Cline will be an event of April 19. They will return to Heppner about May 1. Recent house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Smith were Mrs. Louis Smith and son Harold of Nachez, Wash., Mrs. J. P. Smith of Flaxton, N. D., and Mrs. Charles Dower and children of Pendleton.

Telephone Strike Curtails Distance Calls Only Here

Aside from the fact that only emergency long distance calls are handled, the nationwide telephone strike would not be apparent in Heppner. Business as usual has been the rule in the local office.

Patrons of the service, forgetting there was a strike in effect, felt a little piqued at first when told that there is no long distance service except in emergencies, such as illness or death, but after the first few hours began to adjust themselves to the situation and like the telephone girls, settled back to await the outcome of the strike.

To say that the lack of distance service to transact business is causing little inconvenience would be a misstatement of fact, but the public appears to be accepting the situation philosophically this first week with the hope that the company and the employees will come to terms ere many days pass.

Heppner Outruns Lone in Opening Game of Season

Local Swatters Clout Eggmen For 17 Hits, 16 Runs

Heppner made an auspicious start towards a successful season Sunday afternoon by defeating Ione 16-7 in the opening game of the 1947 American Legion Wheat-Timber baseball league. The score doesn't tell all of the story of the game, for both teams scored high on the hits made—Heppner 16 runs on 17 hits and Ione averaging 100 per cent on seven hits.

Aside from the unbalanced score, it was a clean game from the standpoint of errors. (Bush league ball is supposed to be cluttered up with bad breaks of one kind or another). Heppner made six errors, Ione 5.

Miller went five innings in the box for Heppner, striking out six and giving no bases on balls. Ray Massey pitched the remaining four innings, striking out five and passing one.

Ely started the game for Ione, going four rounds. He struck out three batters and gave the green light to seven. Jackson finished the game, striking out one and passing three.

Van Horn, second base for Heppner, was top scorer of the game, crossing the plate four times. Al Massey, with two hits, was the only Heppner batter failing to make a tally. R. Heath and Ely scored twice each, accounting for four of the seven lone tallies.

The tally sheet shows the following results: Heppner—ab h r e Hoyt, c 3 3 1 0 Miller, p 2 1 1 0 McCurdy, 1 5 3 1 2 Van Horn, 2 4 3 4 1 Boland, s 4 1 2 2 Bergstrom, 3 4 1 3 1 Bradfoot, 1 5 2 2 0 Massey, Al, m 6 1 2 0 0 Drake, R, p 2 0 1 0 0 Ione—ab h r e Crawford, c 5 0 1 1 Rice, I 5 2 0 0 Heath, E, 3 5 1 0 0 Pettyjohn, 2 5 0 0 0 Normoyle, r 4 0 1 0 0 Heath, R, s 4 1 2 1 1 Ely, p 4 2 2 0 0 Heliker, J 4 1 1 0 0 Jackson, p 4 0 0 2 0 Hoskins, r 1 0 0 0 0

Heppner has an open date this coming Sunday and Manager Bill Blake is trying to get a game with Ordinance to be played at the Rodeo park.

Death Comes To Mrs. Kate Russell, Gilliam Pioneer

Death came to Mrs. Kate Russell of Condon, Tuesday, April 8, at St. Anthony's hospital in Pendleton where she had been hospitalized for the past six weeks. She was 88 years, nine months and five days of age.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock a.m. Friday, April 11, from the St. John's Catholic church in Condon. Rosary will be held at 7:30 p.m. tonight at St. Patrick's church in Heppner and at the same hour in Condon.

Kate Summers was born in Keokuk, Iowa on July 3, 1859. During her infancy she moved with her family to Livingston, Missouri and later to St. Louis, Mo. In 1880 her parents, two older brothers and two older sisters started their covered wagon journey across the plains to the West. They took the route of the southwest and then north to Idaho. On this journey of three years her family was engaged in building and railroad contracting. On the journey westward her father died.

In Boise, Idaho in 1883 Kate Summers was united in marriage to William Russell. The Summers family and Russell family continued their westward journey to Gilliam county in 1884 where they were early pioneers and homesteaders in the Matney flat district. Here the William Russell family accumulated more farm and range land and livestock. In 1885 they sold this place and moved with their four small children to the Trailfork community of Gilliam county where William Russell died in 1909.

Mrs. Russell continued on in the sheep and cattle business with the assistance of her son Ed who was very young at the time of his father's death. In 1919 when Charles Underwood was ready to retire she purchased his farm and range land. This property made her home ranch and mountain range land join which gave her an extensive farm and range land holdings in one body.

Kate Russell was a very ambitious and successful business woman. She had a strong determination and no matter how hard the task might be she persevered to the end. She was prominent and well known in the cattle, sheep and wool business of Eastern Oregon where she had a host of friends.

She took an active part in her business until the very last. She leaves to mourn her loss four children: Mrs. Lottie Kilkenney and Mrs. John J. Monahan of Heppner; and Mrs. Frank Maddock and Ed Russell of Condon, ten grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

Regular meeting of Ruth chapter No. 32 at 8 o'clock Friday evening. A large attendance of the membership is urged by the worthy matron, Mrs. Tom Wells.

$75,000 Bond Issue For Reservoir To Be Decided Soon

Construction of a new reservoir and improvements to the water system hinge on the attitude of the voters towards a $75,000 water improvement bond issue to be submitted for approval at a special election on May 6. The preliminary steps leading to the special election have been taken by the city council and that body must now await approval by the voters before taking the next step—contracting to have the improvement made.

At the request of the city government, L. R. Stockman of Baker, engineer retained for drawing up plans and estimates, was present Monday evening to make a report on the experiments conducted the past three weeks at the city well. It had been felt that 200 gallons per minute, the rate water has been pumped for several seasons, was about the capacity of the well, but it was decided to give it a thorough test. The engine was speeded up notch at a time until 1700 revolutions per minute was reached. This produced 513 gallons per minute. At 1600 revolutions the volume was 432 gallons per minute and at 1500 revolutions, 320 gallons per minute. It was run at 1400 revolutions for two weeks without showing any appreciable diminishing of the supply in the well and it was figured that this 56 percent increase over the previous flow would meet all present water demands for the current year.

The city authorities are basing their plans on an estimated population of 2000 in the near future, which the present well might supply with increased pumping. If another well has to be drilled it can be done later. The engineer submitted figures covering cost of building a small reservoir considerably above the projected new city reservoir to serve residences on the Barratt hill project. The reservoir is contemplated only in the event additions might be made to the contemplated division that would place houses above the new reservoir site. This drew little comment from the council, the main interest being centered upon the large reservoir.

It is Stockman's opinion that the present pipe line leading from the well is too small to carry off the increased supply and that to meet the increase another pipe leading from the pump to the point where the larger pipe starts would easily solve the problem and not cause an interruption in service while being installed.

Inadequacy of the present reservoir and a greatly increased demand for water are factors entering into plans of the council to construct a new and larger reservoir. With two reservoirs in operation, approximately 900,000 gallons of water can be stored against emergencies, a fact not to be taken lightly in view of some of the things that do and can happen during the summer months, the councilmen pointed out.

To help raise funds for the annual junior-senior banquet, the junior chamber of commerce will sponsor a big dance on the evening of Saturday, May 3, at the county fair pavilion. The dance had been scheduled for April 19 but due to the fact that the Rosewall Motor company is having a grand opening on that evening the juniors decided to postpone their dance to a later date.

Court and Council Reach Agreement On Property Deal

Final Papers in Hands of County, City Attorneys

After another week of suspense the much discussed (and eased) county-city property trade has been agreed upon and pending final title transfers and other details is "in the bag." Agreement of the Heppner city council to give the 52-foot strip asked for by the county court, as reported in these columns last week, put the finishing touch to the trade which has agitated the community to some extent the past year.

As it now stands, the city retains title to the Rodeo grounds, leasing it to the county fair board for fair use only. The city also will collect the rentals from the Heppner Lumber company to the expiration of the lease on CCC buildings, applying the money to improvement of the Rodeo grounds. In trade for the CCC property the city gets the county property on Main street, granting permission to the county to use the sheds there until the CCC grounds can be fixed up for county use. The disputed point, 52 by about 140 feet lying between the Rodeo track and two CCC buildings at the north-east corner of the Rodeo grounds was included in the trade, giving the county use of the buildings.

Conclusion of this deal clears the way for the county fair board to press claims for a fair this year. The board has some tentative plans which have not been put into action due to the uncertainty of a location. To what extent it is planned to carry out the fair this year has not been made public but it is quite certain the 4-H club fair will be held. Due to the earlier date of the state fair it is probable that the Rodeo and county fair will be held at the same time.

Cancer Campaign Starts in County

The annual drive for funds to support the cancer research program got under way in earnest here this week and efforts will be directed toward attaining the goal by April 30, according to E. C. Elsewhere in this issue of the Gazette Times will be found an advertisement giving figures relative to the task facing the scientists who are struggling with the problem of discovering a method of successfully combating this dread disease, which is second only to tuberculosis in fatal statistics, what is needed in the way of support and how to place your contributions. One-third of his month has passed but the quota can be reached if contributions are sent in promptly.
