

News From C. A. Office

One eighth inch mesh hardware cloth and a bit of flexible wire may be converted from an invaluable blanching basket for freezing vegetables and fruits, reports Miss Lucy A. Case, extension nutritionist. Miss Case has designed this practical blanching basket to fit any size boiling water bath canner.

The floor of hardware cloth is cut slightly less than the circumference of the canner and encircled by a piece of the same material about 8 inches high. Ends are lapped 2 1/2 inches and sewed with the wire. Then the wire is woven through the mesh of the sides to hold the floor of the basket about 2 inches from the bottom of the side piece. This raised floor of the basket keeps vegetables above the water level for steam blanching.

Wire handles on each side of the basket can be made by weaving the ends of a wire loop down the mesh two inches and turning the ends up. The home-maker must be careful to see that the handle is not too high Blanching is a natural job for two persons and two baskets, cites Miss Case. One basket of vegetables can be heating while the other is cooling for packing.

To prevent peas from floating out of the blanching basket, when using water blanching, one may cut a circular piece of hardware cloth and lay it on top.

The main trouble with most water blanching methods is too little water and too much vegetable, Miss Case points out. Three gallons of water to one quart or one pound of vegetables is the proper proportion for each blanching. The water may be used over and over again for the same vegetable. Extension bulletin 623 explains steam and hot water bath methods of blanching.

More assistance in making blanching baskets or preparation of vegetables for the freezer may be obtained from the home demonstration agent's office, Heppner First National Bank building.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

How to Go to Sleep

We were sitting around Bill Webster's parlor Friday evening and the talk turned to the best way of overcoming sleeplessness... like breathing real slow and deep, imagining that you weigh a ton, or simply throwing away the pillow.

The consensus favored counting sheep. But right away was the question: what kind of sheep? There were some votes for countin' Merinos, Shropshires, Oxford and Dorsets. Ed Mapes said he had best luck counting crossbreeds.

Finally, Bert Childers spoke up with his formula: A light snack and a mellow glass of beer at bedtime. Sort of puts you in the mood for quiet thoughts and peace of mind. Lets you relax... and "ho hum," off to pleasant dreams!

From where I sit, there's nothing like a temperate glass of beer to smooth away the creases of the day, relax a body, and pave the way for a good night's sleep. Try it, and see if I'm not right.

More assistance in making blanching baskets or preparation of vegetables for the freezer may be obtained from the home demonstration agent's office, Heppner First National Bank building.
