

ENGINEER PASSES

Word came this afternoon of the passing of L. R. Stockman at his home in Baker. Mr. Stockman was the engineer retained by the city to put the new water system through. He had recently returned from a visit to Maine, his native state.

County Agent News

Much concern is being shown by farmers, with wheat crops along the desert in North Morrow county, in the cricket infestation they are now having. Last week's infestation included all crop area from one mile north and three miles east of Cecil to a point approximately 21 miles east, and which is about two miles east of Sand Hollow. Crickets are not in wheat along this entire front but there is danger of infestation along the entire area. All crickets in the bombing range desert are migrating east and south threatening much of the crop area.

Last reports from the Sand Hollow area were that crickets were under control from continued baiting with poison bran. Baiting is still being carried on in the north olme area. Presently poison bran bait is most effective as a means of controlling cricket infestations.

Bureau of entomology power baiters are being used to do the poisoning, while the Morrow county court and farmer contributions are used to pay for a mixing crew to mix bait and Saturday wages to bureau employees, who under their agency can draw salary for only five-day weeks.

Crickets are being controlled effectively and farmers in the infested areas have been cooperating to do a good job of control. Regardless of the kind of program carried out there is some damage to crops and all ways possibilities for an infestation next year. However, continued baiting of cricket beds and migrations since March 19 has resulted in a very good kill that otherwise would have been a greater threat to our crops. Let us all keep in mind that

Morrow county wheat farmers have been extremely lucky that they have not had cricket infestations such as Gilliam county farmers have had the past several years. The crickets will perhaps be here to fight in years to come but by a good cricket control association such as Morrow and Gilliam counties have in cooperating to fight these will solve our problem.

It is the farmers' job along with assistance that is being given by bureau of entomology and the county court, to protect their crops from the infestation.

BOARDMAN
