

Hunting Season For Deer To Open Wednesday, Oct. 1

Red Hat Brigade Ready Gear For Trek Into Woods

Red hats are beginning to put in appearance in these parts as a reminder that deer season opening is but a few days removed. Game and ammunition, camping equipment and all other accessories to a successful march upon the enemy—the enemy in this instance being the innocent and unsuspecting deer—are being carefully readied for the season of high adventure for many, perhaps dreiful experience for others.

The general deer season will open October 1 in all counties of the state, except Sherman county which will be closed to deer hunting this year. It is announced by the Oregon state game commission. The season extends through October 20 and the bag limit is one blacktail or one mule deer having not less than forked antlers.

Big game animals taken during the regular open seasons this fall will not need to be tagged with a metal seal if they are stored or disposed of before the regular season closes. Any big game animals or parts thereof that are in possession in the field or in transit more than 48 hours after the close of the regular season must be tagged. Tags will be available at all state police patrol offices during the regular hunting season.

It is unlawful for deer hunters to use 22 rim fire shells; to use any full metal-jacketed, solid-nosed bullets, to use shotguns loaded with buck or bird shot; or to use any shotgun larger than 10 gauge. Use likewise is prohibited of Johnson and Gar semi-automatic rifles, M1 military carbine and machine guns, and any foreign-made military semi-automatic rifles and machine guns.

Local hunters are anxious for rain, which, at press time today seems imminent. The snowfall in the mountains last week quickly disappeared and without rain hunting will be unsatisfactory. Another snow in the high mountains would have a tendency to drive the deer down to the lower reaches where they can be more readily spotted—and potted—by the hunters.

Archers who opened the deer season on September 23 in three small special areas of the state set aside for bow and arrow hunting—near Cove in Union county, Canyon Creek game refuge in Grant county and a portion of the Deschutes game refuge—found warm dry conditions in the woods which made it extremely difficult to complete a successful range. The necessarily close range required by the hunter using the long bow and broadhead for taking his game. One of the first reports of kill, however, was from B. G. Thompson of Corvallis, who succeeded in bagging a 200-pound 4-point buck by 8 a.m. the first morning on the Deschutes archery area.

Oregon has an increasing number of archery enthusiasts who are engaged in this method of deer hunting. Records reveal that although only from 5 to 7 percent of them are successful in getting their deer, a high degree of recreation is provided by this method of hunting in that the ability of the hunter is emphasized over that required by rifle hunters. Of the 183 archers hunting in Oregon in 1946, eleven bagged a deer.

OSC COUPLE MARRIED 50 YEARS; HAVE NEVER MOVED

Oregon State College — Fifty years of married life lived in the one city of Corvallis is the unusual marital record made by Professor and Mrs. John Fulton who recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary here.

Professor Fulton probably taught as many or more different Oregon State students as any other staff member in the history of the college, as he joined the staff in 1893 and was for 33 years head of the chemistry department. He has recently retired to an emeritus status.

Mrs. Fulton was Martha Avery, a member of a pioneer Oregon family, and was born in the Clatsop county community of Lake county. Both she and Professor Fulton were graduated from Oregon State in 1892.

ENTERTAINERS BOOKWORMS
Mrs. Sara McNamer was hostess Tuesday evening to the Bookworms at her residence in the Hiatt apartments. Mrs. Frances Mitchell gave the book review.

Band of Cattle On Way Here For Rail Shipment To Market

Cattle trailing to market or to a railhead is almost nothing more than a memory in Heppner these days. Time was when trainloads of range stock were herded over trails and country roads from the ranges to the south, but of recent years shipments from that area have been made largely by auto truck.

There is one cattle raiser in Grant county who still sticks to the trail-rail delivery, and that is Jack Vaughn of Long Creek. In the fall of 1945, Vaughn trailed 12 carloads of cattle to Heppner for shipment by rail to Portland. Tomorrow morning he will load seven cars out of the local yards after trailing the stock from his ranch in Fox valley to Heppner. He possibly could have had the stock moved by truck but by feeding along the route the animals will be in good shape when they arrive at the rail terminal in Portland Saturday morning.

MISS EUNICE OSMIN RETROTHED TO MERLE C. PLANK OF SALEM
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Osmin of Heppner announce the engagement of their daughter, Eunice, to Merle C. Plank of Salem. Miss Osmin graduated from Heppner high school in 1943 and attended business college in Salem. She is now employed with the Oregon State Farmers Union in that city. Her fiancé is a graduate of Salem high school and attended the University of Denver in Colorado for two years. He is employed in Salem.

No wedding plans have been made.

News From C. A. Office

The present high feed cost and the high price of beef marks a very good time to cull the boarder, or unprofitable dairy cow. Production testing records show some cows producing as low as 200 pounds of butterfat per year. Such cows increase the cost of production and should go to the butcher to make room for better cows or promising heifers. Of course, there are good dairy cows that are held down in production because they are not properly fed for body maintenance and high production. One way to relieve part of this feeding problem is by good pasture. I noticed that much of the growth of irrigated pastures is slowing up the last few weeks. Application of ammonium sulphate commercial fertilizer will pay for itself in extra growth of forage.

It is getting a little late in the season to depend on pasture alone so dairy stock should be getting additional roughage to make up for the poorer pasture. Hay or silage feeding will pay in holding up milk production and keeping the cows in good flesh as they go into the winter. Don't forget to get a sack of mineral top, and keep some before the dairy cow at all times. She will eat what she needs. In buying minerals keep in mind that minerals needed most for a dairy cow are calcium and phosphorus. Salt should be fed free choice.

A lot of first and second cutting hay has been rained on the past haying season. On farms where this hay is fed to livestock, most of it could have been better preserved by putting up as silage. More protein per acre would have been saved by proper ensiling where practical. In experiments run at Beltsville by the U.S.D.A. it was found that a ton of hay cut 1640 pounds was saved by ensilage compared to 1530 pounds in field curing. This means that the percent of original protein in this hay saved was 96 percent for the silage and only 68 percent when field cured. Converting this to present milk production per acre the silage yielded 1125 percent compared to the field cured at 100 percent.

In addition, when cows were fed this silage the vitamin A content of their milk was maintained all winter and was about the same as when on pasture, whereas when fed hay, by mid-winter the vitamin A content of the milk had dropped to one-half that of the milk from the silage.

Farmers See Latest Methods of Weed Control Displayed

Manufacturers of Equipment Visit Heppner Tuesday

Fifty-six Morrow county farmers and interested persons, including several Heppner and Lexington businessmen, attended the weed control meeting and equipment exhibit held at the county fair grounds Tuesday. Much interest was shown by all attending, especially in some of the newer type weed equipment now being offered by manufacturers.

Exhibiting at this equipment display were the Woolery Weed company with their weed burner unit, Pendleton Grain Growers exhibiting the Essick air power sprayers and compressors; Mitchell, Lewis & Staver with their Messinger duster and Myers weed and cattle sprayers; Agricultural Supply company exhibiting the low priced Asco boom sprayers; Hard Manufacturing Co. with the Hardi boom sprayer; R. M. Wade Co. exhibiting their Besler Bes sprayer with booms and the Hydro speed weed sprayer adapted to mounting on Ford tractor and the Sherwin Williams sprayer. In addition, Sherwin Williams, Dupont, Dow Chemical Co., Chipman Chemical Co., California Spray Chemical Co., and Standard Agricultural Chemicals, Inc. exhibited weed control material including the newer types of 2-4-D.

Rex Warren, extension crops specialist, and M. G. Huber, extension engineer from Oregon State college, discussed weed control methods, materials and application during the morning and were on hand to answer questions during the day.

This meeting and exhibit brot out that weed control is more practical now than ever before. The result of development of weed killing chemicals and machinery for applying them.

Project Folks Display Products In Wide Variety at North Morrow County Fair

Proof of superior growing conditions and active competition in displaying products was in evidence in every department of the North Morrow county fair held at Boardman Friday and Saturday of last week. There was a wide variety of garden products good enough for exhibit anywhere. The women of the project communities had an unusually fine display of handwork, and there were many other evidences of local pride which combined to make the exhibition a success.

Livestock pens, while not as heavily populated as those at the county fair in Heppner, contained some good stock. The Dana Ayrshire herd, winner of the dairy class at Heppner, was judged the best stock on display at the fair. Some fine draft horses, as well as saddle stock, were also shown.

Entertainment features included the Irrigon school band, the Bauerfeind ponies and a home-owned "rocket" ride for the kiddies, and a big dance Saturday night for the general public.

A few people from the "south side of the border" drove over to Boardman each day and those contacted expressed themselves as being well pleased with the efforts of the river folk in arranging and conducting the fair.

NEW BUSINESS OFFICE ADDED TO FACILITIES
Callers at the Gazette Times, beginning next week, we hope will no longer enter the place of business through the accustomed door. Instead, they will find a new front next door to the west where a new business office is being fitted up.

Shortage of space for the mechanical branch of the business necessitated added space which was available by rearranging equipment and office furniture. If the widely talked-of depression doesn't arrive too soon it is hoped that a nice sign will direct visitors to the proper entrance.

Efforts are being made to have the new office finished in time for the Gazette Times to observe National Newspaper week, Oct. 1-8—at least we can make it by the 8th.

Booster Club To Resume Activities, C of C Informed

With the opening of the football season this week, the Booster club organized last year to create more interest in the games and other activities of the high school will again go into action. This was the information given the chamber of commerce by Frank Davis at the weekly luncheon Monday noon at the Elkhorn restaurant. Davis was chairman of the booster committee last year and will call a meeting shortly for the purpose of electing new committee members and to outline a plan of procedure for the season.

The booster committee assists with ticket sales and promotes support for the school athletic program. Feature of the fall activities is the annual banquet to the football team, win or lose.

Tickets will be ready for the annual drive for season sale set for next Monday.

Mrs. Lucy Rodgers reported that one-half of the basic school support fund had been received and disbursed by her office.

Some of the members checked over the attendance and noted that practically all lines of business and professions of the town were represented. There was one noticeable exception—no local grocery stores could be counted in. One grocer was present, Harry Van Horn, proprietor of the Lexington store.

On Monday, Oct. 6, it is planned to have a discussion of the proposed Oregon sales tax by the students of Heppner high school. Supt. Henry Tetz said he thought it could be arranged.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown with full court train and fitted bodice, with long sleeves and lace yoke. Her veil of white illusion was held with an orange blossom coronet and she carried a white bible, a previous gift from her mother, with a single rose, picked from the family rose garden.

Mrs. Ellis Pettyjohn, sister of the groom, matron of honor, was dressed in a pink formal gown with matching veil. Bridesmaids were Miss Shirlee Smouse, dressed in yellow and Miss Rena June Messenger in coral. The corsages for the three attendants wore pink rose buds.

The best man was Elwyn Hughes, brother of the groom. The other attendants were Carl and Bill Marquardt, brothers of the bride. All men participating in the ceremony wore white carnations in their lapels.

The bride's mother was dressed in powder blue, and the groom's mother in black. Both wore white gardenias.

The living room was decorated with white, cream and pink gladioli, white asters and other late flowers, arranged by Miss Janet Marquardt.

Soft music was beautifully played during the ceremony by Mrs. C. C. Carmichael, music teacher of the bride. She played "Romance," the wedding march, and "Clair de Lune."

After the ceremony, a buffet breakfast was served to the guests. A large bouquet of white flowers graced the table with the wedding cake. The bride and groom cut the first piece. The mothers of the young couple finished cutting and serving the cake. Those assisting with the serving were Mrs. Matilda Londershausen, Mrs. E. G. Balsiger and Miss Iris Miller, aunts of the bride, and Mrs. Truman Messenger.

The guest book was in charge of Miss Mary Ellen Keyes, roommate of the bride while attending Eastern Oregon college at La Grande.

The young couple left amid a shower of rice and good wishes for a short honeymoon to parts unknown. They will be at home near Lexington after the completion of their home.

For going away the bride wore a wine-colored suit with grey accessories.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Matilda Londershausen, Mrs. E. G. Balsiger and son Gilbert and Miss Janet Marquardt of Portland, and Miss Mary Ellen Keyes of Richmond, Oregon.

FOOD SALE
The officers club of Ruth chapter No. 32, Order of the Eastern Star, is sponsoring a food sale beginning at 11 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 27, at the Heppner Hardware & Electric company store.

Remember October 25—Condon.

Heppner To Face Prairie City For Season's Opener

Only 3 Lettermen Left To Spark '47 Mustang Prospects

Full of hope but not too confident, the Heppner Mustangs of Heppner high school go to Prairie City tomorrow to test their strength, as yet an unknown quantity, against the pigskin representatives of the Prairie high school. This is a regular league game, as a new class B district has been formed this year including schools of Umatilla, Morrow, Grant and Harney counties.

Coach Leonard Pate reports that 28 men have been turning out for practice and competition is keen for positions left vacant by the graduation of 11 lettermen. Thus the coach, now in his fourth year at Heppner high, is confronted with the task of building a team around the nucleus of three lettermen, Bob Kilkeny, tackle; Greenup and Padberg, backs.

Trying out for the first squad are, ends: Akers, Gunderson, Hughes, Waters, East, R. Allstott; tackles: Hill, Ruhl, Keyes; Guards: M. Piper, Green, Gammell, Connor, Floyhar, Gabler; centers: Smith, Sumner, backs: McLachlin, Bell, Orwick, Hamack, Bergstrom, C. Allstott, Rippee, Bennett.

The following schedule has been arranged for the 1947 season:
Sept. 26—Prairie City there.
Oct. 3—Wheeler County high at Fossil.

Oct. 10—Condon at Heppner.
Oct. 14—Stanfield there.
Oct. 24—Arlington at Heppner.
Oct. 31—Grant Union at Heppner.

Nov. 7—Moro at Heppner.
Nov. 11—Heppner at Hermiston.

Season tickets for all home games will go on sale Monday under sponsorship of the Junior chamber of commerce. Kick-off time for all home games will be 2:15 p.m.

Former Lone Girl Weds California Man September 16

The chapel of the Robertson Methodist church in Beverly Hills was the setting for the wedding ceremony uniting in marriage Mrs. Harriet Lundell and Gerald A. Bolman the night of September 16 at 8 o'clock. The double ring service was solemnized by the Reverend Thatcher Jordan.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Heliker of Lone. Mr. Bolman has long been associated with a publishing firm in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Lundell, attired in a beige wool suit with brown accessories, wearing a white orchid corsage, was attended by Mrs. Donald Aldeliker, who wore a brown suit and brown accessories. Her corsage was of gardenias and pink carnations.

The groom's best man was Donald Heliker, who with Mrs. Heliker made the trip to Los Angeles to attend the wedding.

The wedding party enjoyed a dinner and entertainment at the Biltmore Bowl following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Bolman are enjoying a short stay at the San Carlos hotel in Monterey, Calif., and will make their home in Los Angeles upon their return there.

HIGH OFFICIALS OF FIRST NATIONAL VISIT HEPPNER

F. N. Belgrano Jr., president, O. H. Keller, vice president, and cashier, and Don Silverthorn, assistant vice president, all of the First National Bank of Portland, paid Heppner a visit this afternoon. They are winding up a tour of the state in which the First National's several branches have been visited. Mr. Belgrano, recently assuming the presidency of the institution, is acquainting himself with the territory it serves. The men are employing a plane in covering the widely separated branches and being unable to land at Lexington airport had a local plane meet them at Pendleton. B. C. Pinekney, local manager, invited numerous business men and other patrons of the bank in to meet the officials.

COPIOUS RAINFALL

A small cloudburst fell south of Heppner during the rainstorm early this afternoon. While no particular damage was reported, it is said that the bottom land in the Marcel Jones place was overflowed by a flash flood.

MOVE TO PORTLAND

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Albert and children left Saturday for Portland where they will make their home. They have purchased the residence property of Mrs. Anabel Allison in the city. Their ranch south of Heppner was purchased by Elwyn Hughes.
