

In a recent issue of the Gazette Times were pictures of the Morrow County Creamery company plant—one of the exterior of the building, the other of the interior. Personnel was lacking in the pictures and this week we present another interior view with Manager Claude Cox and his head butter maker, Durward Tash appearing modestly in a far corner. When Mrs. George R. Holden, the former Nancy Cox, saw these pictures from her old home town she wrote her parents that it made her homesick. Mrs. Holden lives in Armonk, N. Y. We are not trying to add to her misery but trying to present a more graphic picture of the plant that made Morrow county butter a household word over a wide territory in the west.

Large Crowd Sees Game At Kinzua Despite Weather

By Elsa M. Leathers

A very large crowd of people watched the ball game Sunday afternoon between Heppner and Kinzua. Many came from Fossil, Camp 5 and Heppner. In spite of the cold wind, dust and rain, everyone seemed to enjoy the game, especially Kinzua's umpire with an overcoat and heavy gloves on. Heppner won 10-9.

Stewart Hardie of Condon was visiting in Kinzua Saturday, calling on the voters to remember him on election day.

Marion Wright flew to Pendleton Friday on business, returning on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Dickerson and daughter Benoni spent the week end at Bend visiting at the homes of their other daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Mathews and Mr. and Mrs. Nick Mathews.

Jack Owens, boss of the green chain, has been confined to his bed part of the week with the flu.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Deeter of Spray were visiting in Kinzua on Sunday. Deeters lived here before moving to Spray. Mr. Deeter was president of the local union.

Mrs. Helen Williams and daughters Marjorie and Charlene of Stanfield spent Mother's Day here visiting at the home of her son, Jerry Rood. Charlene remained to visit a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Smith of Mayville were visiting the C. H. Englands here Sunday and stayed over for the ball game.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurie Arvin of Oroville, Cal., were guests on Monday evening of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Baker. Mr. Arvin was plant superintendent here for many years and Mrs. Arvin was county nurse, so are well known here.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Owens went to Heppner on Wednesday, taking their children over for dental treatment. Mrs. Marion Wright also went to see the dentist.

Mrs. Louis Wetzel and two children left Arlington Friday evening for an indefinite stay at Manhattan, Mont., where she will visit her parents and friends. Mr. Wetzel returned home Saturday.

Mrs. Al Rand and Mrs. Bill Wright began work at the factory also Myrtle Stillings of Fossil.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Jobe spent the week end visiting at their son Tommy's home in Pendleton.

Mrs. Frances Woods returned to her home Sunday evening after having spent several days at a hospital in The Dalles for a minor operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Davis moved into the first new and modern house completed. There are two more houses in the making. One will soon be completed.

Contracts for the coming school year were given to Art Watson, 7-8 grades; Lurline McDaniel, 5-6; Edna Denton, 3-4; Mrs. Arthur Watson, 1-2. Only Lurline McDaniel is new. She comes to Wheeler county well recommended.

Word was received here Saturday that Mr. and Mrs. Tom McCormick, en route to Kinzua to visit Mrs. McCormick's sisters, Mrs. Forest Graham and Mrs. Mike Coleman, were injured in an auto wreck at Redmond. Mrs. McCormick was rushed to the hospital where she was x-rayed. Mr. and Mrs. Mike Coleman went to Redmond and brought them to Fossil, when Mrs. McCormick could be moved. She is at the home of her mother, Mrs. Stevens.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lovgren and children of Heppner came to Kinzua Saturday, visiting at the Harlan Adams and Owen Leathers homes and staying over for the ball game.

Mrs. John Petty entertained several small children at her home here Tuesday for little

Ranchers Seeding Sweet Clover On Levelled Acreages

Over one hundred acres of land in the Heppner Soil Conservation district have been seeded to sweet clover, alfalfa and grass for hay and pasture this spring. It was disclosed in the progress report made at the regular monthly district meeting held in the county agent's office in the bank building Monday night.

Ranchers putting in the seedings include Harold Wright, Mettle Kirk, A. A. Scouter, Dallas Craber, Lewis Halvorsen, Ed Rugg and Bernard Doherty. About 70 acres have been seeded this spring to sweet clover and barley in alternate rows, on the New O'Harra, Dallas Craber and Scouter ranches. This is seeded by putting the sweet clover seed in the legum box of a drill and taking the tension off the discs seeding the clover. The barley is harvested the first year and the clover is plowed under for green manure the next year. Green manure crops seeded last year are now showing up well and will be turned back into the soil later this year on the Herb Ekstrom place at Ione and the O'Harra and Craber ranches, the report showed.

The land leveling program is continuing with the recent completion of leveling on a 40 acre field on the Darrel Padberg ranch on Rhea creek. The district tractor is now being used for land leveling of 10 acres on the Delbert Emert ranch at Ione.

One mile of diversion ditches are being constructed this week at Hardman on the Ed Craber ranch, recently purchased by A. S. Becholdt and sons. These ditches, which will carry water safe-

ATTEND MOTHER'S DAY WEEK-END AT ASHLAND

Mr. and Mrs. John Graves and children drove to Ashland last week to attend the Mother's Day week-end exercises at Southern Oregon College of Education. They were accompanied by June Van Winkle of Lexington. Their daughter, Jo Graves, student at SOCE, has been elected secretary of the Associated Women Students, making two secretaryships she now holds, having previously been elected secretary of the Women's Athletic association.

Thomas Jefferson once said, "I am not for transferring all the power of the states to the general government, and all those of that government to the executive branch." The New Deal crowd should have studied Jefferson's words and heeded his advice, then perhaps we would not have a one man government.—Michigan Times.

By the field, are being constructed in strips which will be seeded to alfalfa and grass this spring for permanent hay. This field was severely eroded by water during the past winter.

District supervisors at the meeting reported the purchase of a packer from Mrs. Hilma Anderson for use on conservation seedings of sweet clover and alfalfa. They also have ordered a combination packer and seeder for use on cooperators' ranches next year.

Small Holdings Biggest Factor In Timber Land

Oregon's vast land owning "timber barons" are very much figments of overly vivid imaginations because actual facts and figures do not bear out the oft expressed belief that timber and trees are all owned by "big business."

This statement is made by O.S. C. extension forester, Charles R. Ross, who points out that woodland owners in the state number close to 45,000. He says 63 percent of Oregon's privately owned forest reserves are owned by individuals with holdings of less than 5,000 acres each.

Farmer owners of woodlands play important roles in the timber picture, Ross emphasizes. In western Oregon, for example, there is an average of close to 40 acres of wood for each farm. Many other small acreage timber owners are local businessmen, city workers living in the country, and various other investors.

From the national standpoint, 4,000,000 persons in the United States own a piece of woodland which contains less than 500 acres. Together these small acreage timber owners control 200,000,000 acres of forest. That is 60 percent of all the privately owned forest land in this country.

Meanwhile, a change is taking place in the minds of the small forest property owners, Ross states. Prior to about 1940, few farmers, for instance, saw anything but a pasture and wood reservoir in their woodlots. They felt it did not pay to try to sell small trees, an dit took two lifetimes to grow salable timber. A sweeping change in viewpoint is now taking place, Ross observes, and present day woodland owners are seeking income from their trees. Nowadays they are talking knowingly of poles, sawlogs, pulpwood and fuel markets.

Future markets for woodland products are bound to increase with second growth timber becoming more valuable as the result of inroads on the stands of old growth forests. The day when farmers can receive an annual "cash crop" from their woods is not too far distant, Ross said.

GRADUATION TIME

Calls for more than the usual amount of "dressing up." Social functions call for formal dress—with the gentler sex, particularly.

Our job is to make your formals look like new. But if you want the very best work on them bring them in now, that is, give us more time. We aim to please.

So, get set for the Junior-Senior Prom, Baccalaureate and Commencement by having your clothes "tuned up" now.

FARLEY PONTIAC COMPANY

From the Farmers OF MINNESOTA To the Farmers OF OREGON

We recommend to you very highly our three-term Governor, Harold E. Stassen, for the next President.

We know him well. He was born on a Minnesota homestead which his father and mother are still farming. He has always been right on agricultural questions, from oleomargarine and cooperatives, to parity and conservation. We also have confidence in him on the big issues that affect us all. He has been firm and consistent against the communists. He has been a constructive leader in every respect. He backed an outstanding farmer, Edward J. Thye, as Governor and as United States Senator.

How Farmers Backed Stassen

We farmers of Minnesota have been solid behind Harold Stassen. The best proof of this was his sweeping victory in the farming areas of Minnesota in his third election after we had had the chance to see how he acted as Governor for two terms.

In his third election as our Governor the farmers backed him overwhelmingly. For example, in the corn-hog county of Martin down near the Iowa line Stassen received 4,881 votes to 1,717 for his opponent.

In the dairy county of Goodhue on the Wisconsin line Stassen received 5,535 votes to 2,711 for his opponent.

In the wheat and diversified agricultural county of Rock on the South Dakota line, he received 1,819 votes to 471 for his opponent.

And in the big agricultural county of Otter Tail up on the North Dakota line he received 6,327 votes to 4,580 for his opponent. In the state as a whole he received 409,800 votes to 299,917 for his opponent.

In the Township of Eureka, which is a complete township of milk producers in his home county of Dakota, where they had known him for two terms as county attorney and two terms as governor, he received a remarkable vote of 158 to 27 for his opponent.

We know we speak for the farmers of Minnesota as a whole when we recommend him to you as the best man for President of the United States, in your May 21st primary.

With our neighborly best wishes,
Sincerely,

FARMERS FOR STASSEN
