

U. S. Naval Academy Has Two Vacancies

Congressman Lowell Stockman of the Second district of Oregon will have two vacancies at the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Maryland, for the class beginning July 1, 1949. He will also have one vacancy for the same class at the U. S. Military Academy, West Point, New York. Applicants for these vacancies must be residents of the Second district of Oregon.

He will have competitive examinations conducted by the Civil Service Commission on July 12, 1948, to aid in the selection of the nominees for both academies.

Candidates for the naval academy must be not less than 17 years of age nor more than 21 years of age on April first of the calendar year (1949) in which they enter the naval academy.

Candidates for the military academy must be between the ages of 17 and 22 years of age at the date of admission (July 1, 1949).

These age requirements are statutory and cannot be waived, except in cases of candidates who have served honorably for not less than one year in any of the armed forces of the United States during World War II. In such cases, a candidate may enter the naval academy if he is not more than 23 years of age on April first of the calendar year in which he enters the naval academy, and he can enter the military academy provided he has not passed his 24th birthday on the first of July in the year during which he would enter that academy.

Applicants must be unmarried, should be high school seniors, or graduates of high school, or college students and in perfect physical condition.

making an extensive fill and running Gilmore street up and around the brow of the hill below the location of the old school house and ending up at the site of the Pioneer Memorial hospital.

The new road will eventually be surfaced to provide easy transportation to and from the hospital and to such residences as may be built on the hill.

'Mother' Honored In Program Given By Young Grangers

A program honoring mothers was given Saturday evening at the Lexington grange, with the young grangers providing most of the entertainment. Included were the following numbers: Group singing, "School Days," all; welcome, Laddie Henderson; piano solo, Patty Peck; reading, "Pockets," John Howton; cornet solo, Larry Henderson; song, "Smiles," Lexington Camp Fire girls; reading, "What Is a Boy," Herman Wallace; action song, "Mistress Shady," group; Mother Day song, Ruth Ann Acklen; reading, "Mother's Almanac," Mrs. Armin Wihlon.

The evening started at 6:30 with a potluck supper. A feature of the general entertainment was a display table of hobbies and collections by the various members.

This when Oregon has more potential hydroelectric power than any other state in the nation. The latest slash affects Oregon's fishing and hunting, one of the principal assets of our $200,000,000-a-year tourist income. A $162,000 intended for wildlife management was entirely eliminated.

STATE DISASTER MEETING
National Red Cross officials have arranged for a state meeting of leaders at the capital on Monday and Tuesday, April 19 and 20 when problems of disaster needs and preparedness in Oregon and related subjects will be discussed. Prominent speakers on the agenda include Major General Thomas E. Rilea; Raymond Barrows, deputy manager Red Cross in the west; Col. O. E. Walsh, district U. S. Engineer; Commander W. L. Swanston, U. S. Coast Guard; H. G. Maison, Supt. of State Police; Miss Janet Jewett, state welfare commission and Dr. H. M. Erickson, state health officer. When planners of the meeting were asked if preparedness for atom bombing was the principal objective of the meeting they answered that they did not know if it would be taken up to any considerable extent. It was the principal topic of a recent national meeting, however.

Baker To Be Busy When Cattle-Horse Raisers Convene

With a presidential candidate in town along with 500 or more Oregon cattle and horse raisers, the Oregon Trail Riders are endeavoring to provide entertainment in keeping with the occasion when they present their annual spring show Monday evening, May 17, at Baker, writes Cliff Conrad, former Morrow county agricultural agent.

Top cow cutting horses will be here from all eastern Oregon points to compete in the reining and cow cutting contests, and local wagers are already getting underway on who will take the top money of $75.

Something different in the way of calf roping will be presented when the cow pokes go out of the barriers by teams of two to attempt to get a rope on each end of the calves.

Thrills, spills and chills will come out of the chutes with the boys when they ride steers in between other events. This contest is limited to boys 14 years of age and under. Every boy will receive mount money for his ride. Fast turning horses will compete in stake races and all indications are for a fast show, according to Delbert Gildersleeve and Cliff Conrad, co-chairmen.

Entries for all events will be taken at the chamber of commerce office in the Baker hotel the day of the show between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Capital Parade . . . NOT OREGON MINDED

The present congress is short-sighted when it looks west.

Appropriations for Oregon have been and are being cut all out of proportion to federal cooperation given other states. Further, it is reneging on appropriating funds that were earmarked for this state.

The devising of this irrational and biased slashing program emanates from Atlantic coast and lake state industrialists. They are alarmed at our rapid industrial growth in Oregon and foresee rich markets slipping away from them. They have put pressure on their representatives in congress and the result is one of the most powerful blocs in congress.

The agriculture appropriation committee consistently denies forest road funds for Oregon when we are leading the nation in lumber production and have more standing timber than any other state in the nation. Appropriations for self-sustaining dam projects are slashed to the point of disablement when there is an alarming power shortage and an acute need for more irrigation.

full of water. Add a half cup of household ammonia. Fill the tank the rest of the way to the top with water. Then let the ammonia and water mixture soak in the equipment for 18 to 24 hours.

All traces of the 2,4-D will be neutralized by this time.

So, Warren has come up with a home-handly for ridding the three-gallon garden-type spray outfit of all traces of 2,4-D. Here it is. Rinse the equipment thoroughly with water immediately after spraying is completed. Then refill the sprayer with one-half County Agent News . . .

To the backyard gardener who uses a three-gallon hand spray outfit for 2,4-D as well as other sprays, here's a timely suggestion from Rex Warren of Oregon State college. 2,4-D is a persistent chemical and is tough to get out of a spray outfit. In fact, it takes more than rinsing with water to get rid of it.

Meanwhile, if traces of 2,4-D are allowed to remain in the sprayer, that's an invitation to hard luck. Especially if the spray equipment is used for other spray materials. Those traces of 2,4-D that are allowed to remain in the sprayer will do lots of damage even if they appear in small concentrations in other purpose sprays.

All boys who are interested and qualified should write immediately to Congressman Lowell Stockman, House Office Building, Washington, D. C., so that they may receive additional information and be admitted to the examination.

Morrow County Is At The Cross Roads

Misunderstanding - Misinformation - Indifference-Dissatisfaction Is Spreading Within Its Borders

Because of these Morrow County is slowly pulling apart. The south portion of the county has become unmindful of the needs of the north portion. The north portion has become dissatisfied and is growing restless. A nanalysis of the situation proves that the above named factors are the underlying cause of the dissention. Seceding, or the forming of a new county is not the economical answer.

Because of these a minority of the taxpayers and voters defeated last year's budget proposal. The direct result was confusion, distrust and loss.

Because of these a badly needed hospital project for Morrow County has been retarded.

Because of these our road maintenance and construction program is in a disorganized condition.

Because of these Morrow County's position within the councils of the state and nation has been weakened.

Because of these Morrow County's educational and health programs could be demoralized.

Because of these the budget to be voted upon at the May election could be lost. Prepared by nine conservative, fair minded taxpayers, representing all sections of the county, it represents the financial needs for the coming year, honestly, constructively compiled.

Because of these a road levy of ten mills over a five year period for the improvement of our road system could be defeated. This proposal was prepared by a committee of five members, selected from representative sections of the county and was approved at a large gathering of taxpayers as serving the best needs of the county.

Confidence, Unity and a Willingness To Share Morrow County's Problems Must Be Restored

If we are to restore this confidence we as taxpayers and citizens must cast aside our defeatist attitudes and unite in assuming a responsibility and renewed interest in county affairs. We must elect and place in office those whom we believe to be qualified and willing to assume a leadership that will fulfill our earnest and reasonable desires.

As a candidate for the office of Morrow County Judge at the May 21, 1948

Primary Election I sincerely believe I am qualified to assume such a trust and would endeavor to unite Morrow County into a friendly, cooperative unit of government. I would promise to serve the needs of the county to the best of my ability. No one could make a promise covering greater possibilities and keep it.

I would urge you to go to the polls and vote your convictions. A vote in my favor would be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely, Garnet Barratt
