VA TRAINING OFFICERS IN OREGON REDUCED

In a statewide reduction of training offices, the Veterans Administration will merge its Pendleton unit with the La Grande center, effective May 14, Charles M. Cox, VA contact representative here, announced today.

"Actual services will undergo little change," Cox gave assurance. "The contact office in the U. S. National Bank building is not affected at all, and the VA will continue its present duty of supervising all disabled veterans under public law 16."

Leslie R. French will continue to supervise disabled trainees of this area, but will travel from La Grande office. Over the state, the VA is cutting its training offices down to six, those at Portland, Corvallis, Eugene, Medford, Klamath Falls and La Grande. Merging with these are the Salem, Astoria, Bend, The Dalles, Pendleton and Ontario offices.

This action, Cox explained, follows the recent transfer of all supervision over able-bodied veterans in schools or job training under the G.I. bill, to the state department of education. The VA will concentrate its field work with the disabled.

After Graduation... Take a Vacation... But...

What then? College? A job? Travel? Maybe you aren't thinking that far ahead. Maybe you'd like to relax and think it over... We think that's a good idea. When school is out the road ahead is long and decisions are hard to make on such important matters as your career, further schooling and the sort of work you want to follow. That's why we say "relax... and think it over."

And while you're "thinking it over" consider a career with the U.S. Army and U.S. Air Force. Here are careers that offer excellent opportunities for training in dozens of fields, plus travel, recreation, regular advancement and excellent pay—the pay of a PFC is equivalent to civilian pay $298.93 a month. Talk it over with the fellows in your nearest recruiting office... probably you know them. They'll give you all the details of careers with a future for you.

Take Your Choice, Neighbor!

The missus—who writes our Woman's Column in the Clarion under the name of "Nancy Gale"—gets letters about recipes, advice on etiquette, home management, etc.

One letter she got last week was about a recipe she published for Welsh Rarebit—made with tart cheese, Worcestershire, and a cup of sparkling tangy beer. "Turned out great," says her correspondent. "But you didn't mention what beverage to serve with it. Should I serve beer? Cider? Iced tea?"

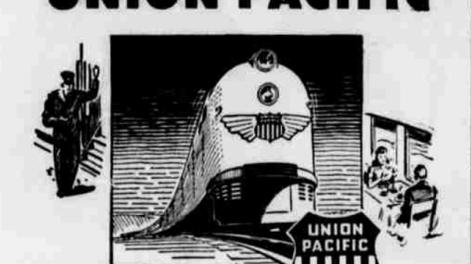

The missus' answer was simply:

"Any beverage your guests prefer. You don't have to serve cider—any more than you have to serve beer... but it's often courteous to let guests have a choice."

From where I sit, that simple answer applies to more items than Welsh Rarebit. In a world where everyone has different tastes and ideas—we should recognize those differences—and never deny the right of choice to anyone!
