Do's and Don'ts For Fat Salvage

- Do use your cooking fats over and over until they no longer have any cooking value, and then sell them to your meat dealer.
- Do save your used cooking grease in a clean can.
- Do place your used fat can within easy reach and where it will serve as a constant reminder to save fat.
- Do keep your used fat in a cool place and sell it to your meat dealer when the can is full.
- Don't forget to scoop, scrape and skim every drop of used fats from soups, roasts, frying pans, etc.
- Don't put used fats in glass jars.
- Don't blame your meat dealer if he cannot take your fat in rush hours.
- Don't forget to salvage fat from every meal, every day. Tiny quantities fill fat cans often.

When I decided to file for the office of County Judge I did so of my own free will. I am tied to no special group. I am not looking for "just a job." I have a secret desire to prove to the people of Morrow County that the position of County Judge is a big one. That it requires full time to give effective service. That leadership and sound business policy coupled with a sincere desire to unite its people and interests by proof of action and tangibility will do far more than flimsy promises.
