LANDINGS -- THEN AND LATER

The Navy's role in the assaults of American forces on the shores and beaches of enemy territory has been indispensable throughout its history, although the invasion methods have changed radically with each conflict. Below is a scene from World War II, taken nearly a century later, as Marines stormed the black beach of Iwo Jima beneath scowling Mt. Suribachi in the landing craft of a scientific age. ## 4-H Session at O. S. C. Planned For 1800 June 15-25

Plans are set for the 34th annual 4-H club summer school on the Oregon State college campus June 15 to 25 with an assured enrollment of 1800 young club members representing every county in the state. L. J. Allen, state club leader, has announced.

In addition to the club members a group of volunteer local 4-H club leaders and county extension agents will be on hand to instruct and supervise activities. Allen points out that all club members attending summer school this year will be present on scholarships provided by county, state, private and public organizations. The scholarships provide all or partial expenses, he adds.

Through a county quota system based on the number of completed 4-H club projects the summer school enrollment is limited to 1800. Otherwise, he says, the attendance would be several times that many. Facilities are not available to handle more.

Approximately 28 college fraternity and sorority houses in addition to the regular college dormitories and co-operative living groups are being made available to the 4-H summer school students. Girls living groups will each be chaperoned by two women; boys organizations by at least one man. Allen states that most of the chaperones are regular O.S.C. college students, many of whom are former 4-H club members.

To provide medical service, facilities of the college infirmary staffed with doctors and nurses will be available during the 10-day 4-H session.

All 4-H summer school students will have received, prior to leaving home, official notification of the name and address of the living organizations to which they have been assigned. Thus, the youngsters will report directly to these organizations upon arrival in Corvallis, Allen explains.

First official meeting will be a get-together party Tuesday evening, June 15. As in previous years, classwork will occupy the morning hours, with assemblies and recreation making up the afternoon and evening programs.
