Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Baker went to Union Thursday of last week and took over a load of 4-H club workers to attend an eastern Oregon show and sale and a horse show. Those going were Roland and Duane Baker, Louis Carlson, Jane Sehafer and Ingrid Hermann. Roland and Duane Baker gave a demonstration on the grub control and won second place.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Hult and family moved to Heppner this week. Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Lundell are remodeling their kitchen.

Much progress is being made on the Paul O'Meara building on Main street. Mr. O'Meara will use the building for a shop for paints, varnishes, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nicholson visited Mr. and Mrs. Berl Buffington at Boise, Idaho, last week. They stopped at Baker and visited with Mr. and Mrs. John Turner. On returning home the Nicholsons were joined by Mrs. Turner and Mrs. Jalmer Koski of Vashon, Wn., who visited relatives here. Mrs. Koski is a niece of Mrs. Frank Engelmann, Mrs. C. E. Swanson and Mrs. Nicholson, and Mrs. Turner is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Engelmann. Mr. and Mrs. Victor Rietmann took Mrs. Turner as far as Pendleton Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nicholson took Mrs. Koski as far as Pasco, Wash., Tuesday.

A. A. McCabe is visiting in Grand Island, Neb.

Word was received of the death of Clyde Nickle of Sumner, Wn., Sunday, June 6. He was the brother-in-law of C. W. Swanson and the late Emil Swanson. Mrs. Mary Swanson left Tuesday to attend the funeral which will be held Thursday.

Mrs. Echo Palmateer arrived home Monday afternoon by plane. She spent last week visiting her sister, Mrs. Hazel Beers of Eagle Creek. It was necessary to take the plane at the Salem airport as the Portland airport was under water. The passengers from the plane were able to see the results of the flood at Vancouver and other places on the Columbia.

A. E. Stefani purchased the Schlegel ranch and also bought a new GMC truck.

Mrs. Omar Rietmann arrived home from Portland and Corvallis Monday. Mrs. Rietmann attended a class reunion of Oregon State graduates at the Oregon State college while at Corvallis. Mrs. Agnes Wilcox of Portland accompanied her to

Victoria's Old English Flavor Charms Oregon Motorlog Party

This is a reproduction of a motorlog article prepared by the Oregon Motorlog association and appearing in the Smoky Mountain State. It is in the form of a letter from Jalmer Johnson, faculty editor of The Oregonian, to Mrs. Edward J. Rosen, Minneapolis, Minn.

DEAR ED AND LEONA:
 If you want the Old World spice for your prospective visit to the West Coast—the tea and crumpet spice we mean, not the pickled herring kind you're used to in the Smoky Mountain state—take a tip from us and give yourself an extra three or four days for a side jaunt by land and water to Vancouver island in British Columbia.

Victoria, capital of British Columbia, and which is on the island, is almost more English than England, as you undoubtedly have heard. At least that's what we have always been told and the other day we got a chance to judge for ourselves. The Oregonian and the Oregon State Motorlog association get together each summer in sponsoring a series of motorlog trips to stimulate auto travel and give the readers a few suggestions as to what they might find interesting in a scenic way. That's how we happen to be such authorities just now on Vancouver island.

Furnished with the white AAA travel car by the motor association and a set of reservations for motor court accommodations all along the way, we took off at 6 p. m. Wednesday night for Seattle on the first leg of the trip. Next day we arrived in Canada—Vancouver, to be specific, which, however, is more like an American city than a British one.

Strait Ferry Large
 Everyone was most cordial in Vancouver, and on Friday we were off across the Strait of Georgia on the Princess Elaine, a CPR ferry boat of considerable size with seats built across its two passenger decks like a gigantic street car.

Nanaimo, where we landed after the 24-hour voyage, has an English appearance, with its winding streets, but with and is a guest at the C. W. Swanson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Perryman of Arlington are the parents of a daughter, Patricia Sue, born May 26.

Wallace Matthews drove to Roseburg last week to bring Mrs. Matthews home. Earl Morgan accompanied him, to Portland and then returned with the Matthews.

Rev. and Mrs. Joe Stephens

Royal Canadian Naval college near Victoria is one of institutions that give Old World air to the island capital city.

We had accommodations reserved in a cottage high on a bluff overlooking the two-mile beach that stretches along the strait. In the Qualicum Beach village we found our first really Old World place, a coffee house it is called, although we expected to find a tea shoppe. Here along the immaculate walls were shelves containing English china, curios and bric-a-brac of many kinds, and on a table a year's supply of the Tatler, straight from London.

There are all kinds of streams and lakes both close by and up the road quite a piece from Qualicum Beach.

There's also Forbidden plateau some distance north, where skiing is the forte in winter. There's golf at several places, including Qualicum Beach, and there are hotels, both large and small.

Victoria is really an English town, all right, although it seemed to us that a majority of the new houses being built, and there are many, are of stucco in the California style. But the old mansions along Marine drive, where we grove after dinner at the Empress hotel, are strictly Old World, with rose arbors, portlike grounds and lots of flowers.

It is around the inner harbor, where the boats dock, that the British flavor is particularly discernible. There the massive Miller and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ball and son Albert, and Elbert Akers of Boardman; A. C. Ball and daughter Harriet, Evelyn Farrans and Merle Owens of Heppner; Mrs. Myrtle Benton and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ingels and family of Dufur; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Tannehill, Mrs. Mabel Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller and Mrs. Effie Miller of Boardman.

The social meeting of the Topic club was held at the home of Mrs. Clara Ransier on Saturday, May 29. Prizes went to Mrs. Florence Ely, high; Mrs. Arvilla Swanson, low, and Mrs. Lena Lundell received both grand slam and jack high for bridge.

Mrs. Mary Lindsay received high for pinocle. Strawberries, ice cream and cookies were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Ransier, Mrs. Vera Rietmann. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Arvilla Swanson on June 12.

ENTERTAINS SCHOOL
 Ida Lee Chapel entertained the Hardman school children and their parents with a picnic at her farm home near Hardman May 27. Baseball was the order of the day, and a picnic lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Baker and daughter of Walla, Walla, were visitors at the home of his sister, Mrs. E. R. Lundell, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Curt Tom and daughter, Mrs. Gant Boise, of Rufus spent Sunday at the O. L. Lundell home.

Sixteen members of the HEC of Willows grange met at the Peter Timm home near Pendleton for an all-day meeting with a dinner at noon. Demonstrations, "Dainty Refreshments," were given by the homemakers group.

The social meeting of the Topic club met at the home of Mrs. John Ransier, May 29. Pinocle and bridge were played. Those receiving prizes were Mrs. James Lindsay, high for pinocle; Mrs. Francis Ely, high, and Mrs. C. W. Swanson, low for bridge, and Mrs. E. R. Lundell for jack high and grand slam. Refreshments of ice cream, strawberries and cookies were served.

OBITUARY
 Ralph Monroe Akers was born November 16, 1876 in Decatur City, Iowa and passed away May 28, 1948 at The Dalles, Oregon. He came to Morrow county in 1883. On October 17, 1907 he was united in marriage with Hester Jane Ball in Heppner. They made their home in the Gooseberry community where they operated a ranch until 1916. Then Mr. Akers engaged in the mercantile business in Ione with the late E. J. Bristow and Elmer Griffith. In 1935 he retired from active business. Following a serious illness in 1943 he did not recover his health. He is survived by four sons, Wilbur, Kenneth and Berle of Ione and Elbert of Boardman, and two daughters, Mrs. Hazel Miller of Boardman, and Mrs. Bertha Heald who is now in Japan.

Relatives and friends from out of town who were here to attend the funeral of Ralph Akers June 1 were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ball and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Ball of Yakima; Mr. and Mrs. Russell

Jean Rauch Bride Of David Pardue In Church Ceremony

By Mrs. Cecil Jones
 Miss Jean Rauch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Rauch of Lexington, became the bride of David Pardue of Long Beach, Cal., May 28 at 8 p.m. in Trinity Lutheran church in Hermiston. Rev. E. Philippi officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The ceremony was performed against a background of gladioli, snapdragons, and other cut flowers. The church was softly illuminated by blue and white candles, in candelabra, which were lighted by Mrs. Ronald Ansted in a pink net formal and Miss Jean Gilbertson in a white formal.

Miss Lillian Butenshon of Pendleton presided at the organ and accompanied Mrs. E. Philippi as she sang "Because" and "Wedding Prayer."

The matron of honor, Mrs. Jack Van Winkle of Heppner, carried a nosegay of white carnations and pink rosebuds. The bridesmaids, Misses Ingrid Hermann of Ione and Ina Rauch of Spokane, Wash., both cousins of the bride, carried nosegays of pink carnations and rosebuds. Each attendant was attired in a blue rayon marquisette formal with a bustle back and a small blue brides cap with pink ribbon trim.

Best man was Irvin Rauch, brother of the bride and ushers were Louis Penney of Hermiston and David Crozier of Orland.

The flowergirl, Shirley Van Winkle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Van Winkle, wore a light blue tulle dress with a dropped shoulder neckline and carried a tiny basket of pink rose petals.

The ring bearer, Steven Klingner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Klingner, was dressed in a white coat and blue trousers and carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown with long sleeves and sweetheart neckline with lace over the bodice extending down over the hips. The exquisite long veil, caught with a lilies of the valley tiara, fell in graceful folds. The bride's only jewel was a pearl corsage. The bride carried a bouquet of white gladioli and deep pink carnations.

At the close of the beautiful nuptial ceremony, Rev. E. Philippi sang the Lord's Prayer accompanied by Mrs. E. Philippi.

A reception was held immediately following in the church basement with Mrs. Rauch, the bride's mother, receiving and Mrs. Hermann, aunt of the bride, assisting. The bride's mother wore a black sheer dress with black and white accessories and the bride's aunt wore a pink buter linen two-piece dress with white accessories. Each wore a white carnation corsage.

On the serving table was a radiant floral centerpiece of white and pink sweet peas mixed with lighted rainbow tapers. Cutting the cake were Mrs. Irvin Rauch and Mrs. David Crozier. Pouring were Mrs. Jack Reeves, Mrs. Herm Casper, and Mrs. Alex Hunt. Serving were Misses Rose Hoosier and Jean Gilbertson and Mrs. Louis Penney. In charge of the gifts and guest book was Mrs. Kenneth Klingner. Assisting about the rooms were Mrs. Henry Rauch, Mrs. Rudolph Klingner, Mrs. Jake Rueber, Mrs. William Lindner and Mrs. Fred Rauch.

After a short wedding trip for which the bride wore a brides-pink suit with toast brown accessories and a corsage of white carnations and pink rosebuds, the young couple will make their home in Denver, Colorado.

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding from LaGrande were Miss Lena Heft, great-aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Fred Heft, great-uncle of the bride, and Mrs. Amos Robiester and daughter Joan of Homestead.

The Amicitia club met at the home of Mrs. Clarence Hayes on Thursday. There were 12 guests present. Prizes were won by Mrs. Groves, high, the guest for the evening, and low, Mrs. Roger Anderson.

Religious Vacation School

The religious vacation school conducted under the auspices of St. Patrick's parish will close on next Sunday. Mass will be at 9 a.m., daylight saving time. All the children will participate in the services and first holy communion will be administered. A parish breakfast will be held downstairs in St. Patrick's hall, honoring the summer school children and particularly first communicants. Sisters Cecelia Francis and Mary Catherine were the sisters in charge. Helpers during summer school were Mrs. Don Hatfield, June Steagall, Irene Swanson and Barbara Sherman. The sisters were the guests of Mayor and Mrs. Conley Lanham during their stay in Heppner.

AN APPRECIATION
 I wish to thank my lone friends and neighbors for the nice cards and lovely flowers sent me during my stay in the hospital at The Dalles. These tokens of friendship and love did much to help me through many lonely, lonely hours.

Mrs. W. E. McCoy.

The Vernon Christopherson family and the Roger Anderson family were Pendleton visitors Sunday.

Miss June Steagall is spending the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Steagall, from the academy in Pendleton.

Mr. and Mrs. Hank Stotts were pleasantly surprised last week with a visit from Miss Susan Schlecting and brother George.

Miss Schlecting was on her way to Guam for a two-year assignment. She is a first lieutenant in the army. George was captured by the Germans with Hank Stotts in the first armored division in the N. African campaign in 1942 and they were imprisoned together in Germany. Hank escaped in 1945 and Mr. Schlecting was released a little later.

This is the first time they had seen each other since leaving Germany. They are from King City, Cal.

The three groups of Campfire Girls are having their grand council fire June 11 on the athletic field. The public is urged to attend this meeting, which will start with a pot-luck dinner at the I.O.O.F. hall with pictures being shown of summer camp and a talk by Miss Nelda Brown, Campfire executive from Walla Walla. Plans are being made for the Irrigon groups to attend. This is when the girls receive their recognition of rank. The dinner starts at 6 p.m. with the social at 8 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Smith and family have moved to Canyonville where Mr. and Mrs. Smith both have contracts to teach this coming year. They lived in one of the Barnett apartments.

Miss Louise Hunt who is going to school in LaGrande spent a few days at the Art Hunt residence, coming over with her father last week.

Miss Lavonne McMillan is spending a few days visiting at the W. E. McMillan home.

The young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hank Stotts is ill at her home in Lexington.

Laddie Gene and Larry Ray Henderson are home again after a visit in the mountains with their grandfather, Claud White.

Vernon Christopherson is now employed at the Ed Grant station. Vernon has recently disposed of his trucking business to Leonard Munkers of Lexington.

Albert T. King

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning from the A. J. Rose and Son mortuary chapel in Portland for Albert T. King who spent his boyhood and young manhood in the Ione section. He died Monday at his home in Portland following a several months' illness.

Born to pioneer parents in Gooseberry, Mr. King homesteaded in the Swaggart butte section before entering the barber trade which he followed for many years up to the time of his last illness, having barbered at one time at Kinzua and at Heppner.

Surviving are two children, Martin V. King and Mrs. John Gray of Portland; brothers, Everett E. Portland; Thomas W. Redmond; John W. Seattle, and sister, Mrs. H. E. Knopf, Grants Pass. The life of one son, Lt. R. Norton King, was given to his country as an Army Air corps pilot in the late World War.
