More Tourists In 1949

Tourist business in the states bordering the Columbia river suffered something of a setback in 1948 due to the unusual flood conditions of early summer which turned many western bound tourists in other directions.

The travel information department of the Oregon State Highway commission now comes forth with the information that Oregon playlands loom large in the vacation future of many mid-westerners and easterners who visited the Oregon exhibit at the Chicago Railway fair which closed last week following a mid-summer opening.

From the period July 20 to Labor Day, when the booth was staffed by Oregon representatives, more than two million people visited the vast railroad fair. Most of this total saw the Oregon presentation of its famous scenic areas.

A direct reflection on apparent success of Tourist Host Schools, as sponsored by the Oregon Advertising Club each spring since the war, were the many comments by visitors, who had been to Oregon, on the friendliness, hospitality and good service given out-of-state motorists.

Others who have not been to Oregon, were eager for vacation information, with most saying they had heard so much of Oregon scenic lures in recent years that tours were on their early agenda. Several thousand prospective visitors signed information requests covering all parts of the state, with a substantial percentage indicating they are planning 1949 trips.

If these indications hold true, Oregon is in line for increasingly more middle-western and eastern travel, officials are convinced.

Meat Not Only Protein Source

Most of us, no doubt, have been accustomed to acquiring our proteins through the consumption of meat. It is indeed a pleasant way to acquire them and it is not a little annoying to learn that our meat supplies are diminishing rather than increasing.

This is not as alarming as it may seem—except that meat prices are almost bound to go higher—for there are other foods of high protein value that are available and make it possible for American families to include the full normal quota of protein in their diet.

At present cheese price levels, half a pound of cheddar, either natural or process, costs considerably less than a pound of beef.

Moreover cheese is even more of a bargain at this time than was the case a few weeks ago. Wholesale price for cheddar cheese quoted on the nation's leading cheese exchange is now several cents below levels of midsummer.

With our wishing to lay particular stress on cheese, it is illustrative of the type of foods that come in handy as meat substitutes and can be used in many ways, as any thoughtful housewife knows.

What About the Hospital?

News stories in the Portland papers last week contained information that the Morrow county hospital was one of four in the state chosen to participate in a federal allotment to the State of Oregon.

It has come to light that the news as given to the medical society meeting in Portland was authentic. County authorities may have been so advised ere this issue of the Gazette Times reaches its readers.

With the last barrier to financing the project removed, further delay in getting started on actual construction should not extend beyond the time required to advertise for bids and the signing of a contract.

Be Generous

All of us, no doubt, have preferences in matters pertaining to charitable gifts to those agencies with which we would rather place our funds for carrying out of humanitarian work, yet in making a contribution to the Oregon Chest, we are, in one lump sum, helping the work of eleven organizations that are bringing hope to the underprivileged.

In making one generous gift to the community chest, we are, in reality, making our money go farther, making it do more for more people. There are no paid solicitors, organization overhead is held to the minimum, all with the purpose in view of making the funds serve as many needy persons as possible.

One of the outstanding accomplishments resulting from the efforts of the Oregon Chest is the aid to dependent children. These unfortunate youngsters are being given opportunities to attend school, to go to church and to participate in other activities that are the common lot of children in more favorable circumstances.

If you can visualize the plight of these youngsters, and oldsters too, it will not be difficult to dig into your purse a little deeper.

The campaign is on. It should not take more than a few days to wind it up.

Information About Sheep Dipping in College Bulletin

Sheep raisers expecting to spray their flocks for ticks during October are reminded that it is important to hold the spray nozzles close to the animal while spraying, said Dr. Don C. Mote and Robert W. Avery, O.S.C. entomologists.

Best results from spraying, the authors find, are obtained if the animal's body is thoroughly wetted. Particularly good applications along the sheep's back, around the head and ears, and around the dock are necessary.

In mixtures using DDT not less than eight pounds of 50 percent wettable DDT powder per 100 gallons of water is suggested.

The new three-page circular is available at the county agent's office or direct from the Oregon State college.

Miss Rosetta Healy was hostess to a group of the younger set Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry O'Donnell Jr. honoring Paul Correll of Tucson, Ariz., who was observing his 23rd birthday anniversary.

OUR DEMOCRACY by Mat

THE NATIONAL GUARD DEFENDS AMERICA

THE TRADITION OF VOLUNTARY CITIZEN SERVICE IN THE PROTECTION OF OUR COUNTRY IS OLDER THAN OUR NATION... IN 1636 A GROUP OF NEW ENGLANDERS FORMED THE NORTH REGIMENT—NOW THE 133rd INFANTRY, MASSACHUSETTS NATIONAL GUARD—FOR THE PURPOSE OF DEFENDING THE COLONIES, IF NEED SHOULD ARISE.

SINCE THAT DAY, THE NATIONAL GUARD HAS GROWN IN STRENGTH, BROADENED IN RESPONSIBILITIES. IT DESERVES CONTINUED SUPPORT. TODAY, ITS TRAINED AND EQUIPPED UNITS STAND READY IN EACH STATE, TO DEFEND AGAINST ATTACK OR CIVIL STRIFE—TO GUARD THE PEOPLE'S RIGHTS AND PROPERTIES IN TIME OF EMERGENCY.

30 YEARS AGO

Oct 10, 1918. A wedding of interest particularly to lone people occurred in Portland October 4 when Miss Mabel Mason became the bride of Martin E. Cotter.

The staff for the Hehisch for this year was elected the first of the week as follows: editor, Jasper Crawford; associate editor, Ruth Van Vactor; business manager, Everett Pattison; advertising manager, Elmer Peterson.

Gus Wilcox of Jordan Sliding has disposed of his ranch at that point to Laxton McMurray who will take possession at once.

The Misses Anna and Mary Carty and Patrick Carty, children of James Carty of Lexington, have gone to Portland to attend school for the winter.

B. H. Peck returned the past week from a visit to the state fair at Salem where he took an extensive exhibit. Mr. Peck's score was 93 points out of a possible 100.

Thomas Morgan, aged 76 years, died suddenly at his home Wednesday. Death was due to a stroke of paralysis which came without warning.

Charles Nord, Richard Turpin and James Lindsay were up from home yesterday taking their examination before the local draft board.

Carl Leathers, James McDaniel and Earl Boer were young men down from Hardman Tuesday taking their examinations before the local draft board.

Guy Chapin and William Hill were down from Hardman Tuesday taking their examinations before the local draft board.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Bisbee of Spray are visiting in Heppner this week.

B. G. Sigsbee and family moved into their new home the first of the week, which they recently purchased from S. T. Goff.

DEWEY-WARREN FAMILIES

As evidenced by the smiles, the Dewey-Warren compatibility goes deeper than politics—family-deep in fact. The governors are old associates of the National Governor's conference; their wives make it a congenial foursome.

POLITICAL GRAPEVINE

Governor Dewey recently said he would have a Northwest man in his cabinet as secretary of the interior. Since that statement party doublecrosses have been giving Oregon U. S. Senator Guy Cordon the accolade.

There is an old legislative lobby saw that claims "... the senate it composed of thirty candidates for governor or the congress."

There are many capable (and receptive) Oregonians whose names have gone well beyond the laboratory stage of investigation by political ulcer clubs over the state.

STATE BIDS REJECTED. The present board of control is getting price-shy and trade-frigid. They are rejecting more bids, offers and "horse trade" propositions made to the state than they are accepting.

place to the left Jones ranch and is now a resident of the Heppner country. Mr. Buschke recently purchased the Higgs place and he rented a portion of the Jones land which he will farm in connection with the Higgs land.

$68,330 the board voted to divide the various proposals into separate units and ask for bids.

TO LOWER INCOME TAXES

The Oregon Grange has joined the State Federation of Labor, the Oregon Farmers Union and the CIO in endorsing the ballot measure to change income tax exemptions for married couples.

GOING TO BE MARRIED?

Lookout for a possible holdup of the wedding ceremony if you are to be married in Oregon. The law in this state requires that three days elapse between the application for a marriage license and the delivery.

JOB PEAK IN SEPTEMBER

There were more employed persons in Oregon during September than at any time since the end of the war. This is indicated by the state unemployment commission's report that the state's paychecks to jobless persons last month hit a low point for peacetime employment.

STATE SCHOOL CONFERENCE

School administrators of Oregon will hold their annual conference in Salem October 18 and 19. Dr. Rex Putnam, state superintendent of public instruction, announced this week.

Lexington Grange Meeting Saturday

Regular meeting of Lexington grange will take up at 8 o'clock Saturday evening at the hall. A feature of the program will be a two-act play put on by the home economics club.

Miss Mabel Wilson, new Morrow county home demonstration agent, will be present to discuss phases of her work.

Members are reminded to bring flower bulbs, slips or seeds for the display table. These items will be sold at nominal cost for the benefit of the grange's contribution to the community chest.

Now you can have VENETIAN BLINDS that can be cleaned quickly, easily, at home

HOW THEY WORK. Each slat is anchored in place by an ordinary "Snap-Fastener" attached in the "ladder" between the tapes. The "lift cords" are cleverly arranged to permit much tighter closing of the blinds and to eliminate the need for cord-holes which weaken the slats.
