

Kinzuan's Bring In Their Bucks As Deer Season Opens

By Elsa M. Leathers
Opening of hunting season saw a great many people both men and women of Kinzua out to get their buck. Over the week end those who were successful included Ted Dings, Bert Hoover, Frank Phillips, Chas. Johnson, Dale Harrison, Bert Green, Jack Owens, Harlan Schroder, Fred Moran and Del Williams. The one brought in by Ted Dings had an unusual set of horns, having eight points on one side and 11 on the other.

The new timekeeper, Andy Casper arrived from Spokane over the week end to take Andy Staig's place, who resigned, at the office. Mr. Staig will return to the factory where he will be foreman of one department.
Earl Williams was the first young man to be called in the draft. He has been in Kinzua the past two years, but his home is in Macks Creek, Mo. He expects to be inducted some time in November.
Cpl. Linn Rudd who enlisted in the U. S. army in March stopped by to briefly visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Al Rudd from Port Ord, Calif. He is being transferred to Fort Kelly, Kan., where he will be stationed indefinitely. Linn is a former high school boy and was on the basketball team.

OREGON DEER HUNTERS TO REPORT SUCCESS

(Left) The return report card that is attached to the new deer tag that is being issued in Oregon for the first time this year. (Right) Mailing the return post card. All deer hunters are to fill out these cards and drop them in a mail box. The cards are self addressed and require no postage to be paid by the hunter.

For the first time Oregon deer hunters will be asked to contribute vital information concerning the deer of the state. The 1948 deer hunting season marks this important change for Oregon hunters. A separate deer tag, comparable to the separate elk tags that have been issued for several years, is being issued for the first time in Oregon.

Each deer hunter must obtain a special deer tag before going hunting and attached to this tag is a self addressed information card which must be mailed to the Game Commission within thirty days after the close of the deer season. Only a few seconds are necessary on the part of the hunter to complete the card. The facts which will be provided by these return cards are considered to be essential in deer management, and conscientious efforts on the part of all sportsmen will enable the Game Commission to plan for the permanency of deer hunting in Oregon. The success of the system as previously applied to elk hunting bears out the importance of this information. It is expected that excellent cooperation will be extended by all sportsmen in providing these necessary facts. The law requires all purchasers of deer tags to return these cards whether successful in bagging a buck or not.

Soil Conservation District Meeting Discloses Progress

Approval for the purchase of a combination Cultivator-seeder, to be ready for use next seeding season, was made by members of the Heppner Soil Conservation district supervisors at a meeting held in the county agent's office in the bank building Monday evening. The group also voted to sell the road grader, which was purchased for land leveling, at the auction sale this Thursday.

Two petitions for addition into the district from areas in the west side of the county and on lower Willow creek were approved. As soon as a few more signatures are received, the petitions will be sent to the state soil conservation committee for a hearing date.

New district farm plans on the Floyd Jones Harvey Harshman, Vernon Brown, Paul Brown and Pete Lennon ranches were approved by the supervisors.

Approximately six miles of diversion terraces have been staked and constructed by Jim Hams and Vic Lovgren this fall, according to records on the progress report. Other conservation work done the past month included leveling of 16 acres on the Delbert Emert ranch for irrigation, construction of a stock pond on the Harold Wright ranch above Hardman by Richard Meador, contractor, and work on a half-mile channel, changing and maintenance of diversion ditches on a strip-cropped field on the Bechtolt ranch near Hardman.

Charles Carlson of Long was introduced as a new supervisor, following his appointment by the state soil conservation committee to replace Henry Peterson whose appointment has expired. Orville Cutsforth, chairman was in charge of the meeting. In addition to the supervisors, officers and farmers, Dick Wightman and his veterans' class attended the monthly meeting.

dweller. From the national standpoint, one third of deaths caused by fire are among rural persons. Home fires frequently occur at night, trapping occupants of a home while they are asleep. The distance most farm residents live from one another makes the possibility of a fire being reported by a neighbor extremely remote in comparison with city fires.

Families where only one person is trained in operation of a furnace is lost when that person is absent. Therefore, several should be taught how to operate it. Heating systems are an important fire hazard in rural as well as city homes. Thus, it is a good practice to check heating systems periodically. Clean out chimneys and flues, seal cracks, replace burned out pipes and above all, do not use faulty furnace equipment if it is not in top-notch working order. Both city and farm dwellers are being urged to make this week a time to search out and eliminate fire hazards. Check sheets may be obtained from the county extension agent's office.

According to data received from Oregon Fire Marshals' reports, Morrow county had four more insured rural and farm losses in 1947 than in 1946. The actual loss was $63,000 more than in 1946. It costs a lot to have a fire but very little to prevent one.

4-H SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS
First two 4-H winners of $100 college scholarships provided by the O. M. Plummer memorial fund were named October 2, during the night horseshow program at the Pacific International Livestock exposition in Portland. The winners, both from Oregon, are Bonnie Klein, 19, Aumsville and Barrie Gasset, 17, Cove. Both have completed eight years of 4-H club work and are now enrolled at Oregon State college.

Competitive records made at past Pacific International shows in the 4-H divisions are the basis for the award.

Presentation of the scholarships was made by A. L. Mills Jr., Portland, representing the national committee on boys and girls 4-H club work. Mills was also chairman of the group that started the Plummer memorial fund in memory of the late manager of the P. I. L. J. Allen, state 4-H club leader and chairman of the Camp Plummer committee. Says the scholarships will be continued. One boy and one girl will be chosen annually. Club members from all states competing at the show are eligible, states Walter Holt, show manager.

make their home. Both Marlene and Floyd will attend school there. Marlene spent all summer vacation at that place. The Neths will be missed as Mrs. Neth was always willing to assist with Boy Scouts activities, and any other social functions. Floyd was an honor scout this year.

Owen H. Leathers Jr. and Harlan Norvin Adams who enlisted in the U. S. navy, took their physicals at Portland on September 23. The left that night for San Diego where they have entered boot camp training. They were met at the train by Norvin's father Perry, a U. S. navy man, having enlisted in March. Also at the same camp from Kinzua are Allen Mathews and Keith Osborn.

MAN-MADE FIRES OBJECT OF DRIVE TO STOP LOSSES

Most fires are man made, therefore, most fires are preventable. Eighty-five percent of reported fires in Oregon during 1947 had matches, smokes, home heating systems or electricity as contributing factors, states C. E. Ross, O.S.C., extension forestry specialist. Calling attention to National Fire Prevention week, October 3-9, Mr. Ross says 90 percent of home fires are the result of neglect. Rural fire problems are more serious than those of the city
