Hermiston Spoils Mustang Record By Tying Score 25-All

Heppner Unable to Hold Lead When Visitors Get Going

Coach Vernon Bohles saw his hard playing Mustangs outplay the visiting Hermiston Bulldogs for three quarters of the annual contest at Rodeo field last Thursday afternoon and then saw a three touchdown lead wiped out by the fired-up Bulldogs in the final quarter. On the one hand a tired bunch of young men having taken the lead for three-fourths of the game lacked the reserve strength to withstand the gruelling contest through the final 15 minutes, while on the other hand, the trailing team, supplied with a complete second string set of reserves had the necessary punch to overcome a lead which looked like sure defeat until the boys got fired up. Time alone undoubtedly saved the Mustangs from suffering a defeat.

Alertness, skillful execution of plays and good generalship accounted for the Heppner lead—this combined with some costly fumbles by Hermiston made it appear that Heppner was about to close the 1948 season in a blaze of glory.

Heppner carried the ball into Hermiston territory early in the first quarter and after a few line bucks, sidling around end for good gains got the ball within scoring distance. One more play, a short pass, put the ball over safely. Score, Heppner 6, Hermiston 0.

The first big thrill of the game came when Phil Smith caught a rebound from a Heppner punt and dashed for the east goal with the whole Hermiston team after him. (It can't be remembered when the extra point was made but there was one somewhere along the line.)

In the second quarter, Heppner once more cashed in on a series of line bucks and end plays to cross the west goal. Score 19-0.

In the second half Hermiston kicked off, a long one received by Bennett and deftly lateraled to Bergstrom who took off along the north sideline while most of the Hermiston players were chasing Bennett. It was a long run but the Heppner speeding back met with little interference and chalked up the fourth touchdown standing up. That was about the end of Heppner's offensive play for Hermiston got mad, as it were, and started pushing the local boys up and down the field, first with long gains through the line and then on long passes. They started their offensive too late to eke out a one-touchdown score but they readily tied up the score.

The Mustangs had a highly successful season, winning six, losing one, and winding up with a tie.

Youth Rally Draws About 35 Guests

About 35 young people from other towns of the district were in Heppner Saturday and Sunday to attend the first annual youth meeting of the Columbia deanery of the Episcopal church. The Young Peoples Fellowship of All Saints church, under the supervision of Mrs. Merle Miller, played the part of host.

Vicars of the Columbia deanery and one from the Cascade deanery were here to assist with the program. These included, with Rev. E. L. Tull of Heppner, Rev. Eric O. Robathan of Pendleton, Rev. Raymond Gayle of Milton, Rev. E. E. Taylor of The Dalles, and Rev. Leonard Dixon of Prineville and Madras. Young people came from Pendleton, Milton, and The Dalles.

The youth program is devoted to the basic functions of the church—worship, study, service and fellowship.

The host group provided lunch both days, served a banquet Saturday evening, and breakfast Sunday morning. Dancing was enjoyed for a couple of hours Saturday evening in the parish house.

Utility's Taxes Up 13 Percent Over '47

Real and personal property taxes for 1948 of $11,364.93—nearly triple the amount levied by the county last year—were turned over to Morrow county this week by Pacific Power & Light company, according to J. R. Huffman, local manager here for the power company. Last year's receipt from the utility was $3,955.90.

Huffman said that real and personal property taxes alone being paid to 15 Oregon counties by Pacific this year total $807,676, a boost of 13 per cent over 1947. This is an all time high for this part of the company's annual tax bill.

Services Held For R. H. Quackenbush

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock p.m. Wednesday at the Methodist church for Harry Quackenbush whose death occurred at the family residence on Gale street Sunday evening. Rev. J. Palmer Sorlien officiated and arrangements were in charge of the Phelps Funeral Home. Mrs. Lucy Peterson sang two hymns, "The Old Rugged Cross" and "No Night There," accompanied by Mrs. William E. Davis at the piano.

Richard Harry Quackenbush was born April 2, 1879 at Warkworth, Canada. He was married in 1903 to Rena Nay at Meeker, Colo. They came to Oregon soon afterwards and had made their home in this state from that time on. Mr. Quackenbush followed various pursuits here until ill health forced him to retire. He was a lifelong member of the Methodist church.

Surviving are the wife and one son, Roy.

Random Thoughts...

When Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parker were in Chicago recently they made it a point to look up Mr. and Mrs. Francis Nickerson and their nice little family. The former Heppnerites were nicely settled but they admitted they were missing their relatives and friends in the little old town out in the eastern Oregon hills. Now comes a letter from "Nick" and it is openly admitted what the Parkers suspected. Quote: "Our Gazette Times 'lifeline to HOME' has been coming through on schedule. We are duly grateful. It is very difficult to divorce ourselves from all that we knew. Margaret is as homesick as I. She even reads the ads." And that, dear reader, was the opening paragraph. There are other evidences here and there in the letter, but rather than make their burden less bearable further quoting will be dispensed with. But the GT will accede to Nick's request that his ad be removed from the professional column.

This happened one evening in Hermiston. The writer was seated in the rear seat of the Dunham car which was parked about half a block east of Main street. Other members of the family were on a window shopping tour which took possibly 10 minutes. Two youths of about high school sophomore age approached the car, one remaining on the sidewalk and the other first trying the doors of a car parked along side and finding them locked, turned his attention to our car. Thinking the lad might be distributing handbills, no attention was paid when he opened the front door of the car, but when he flipped open the glove compartment and started sorting through the articles stored therein, he was asked, "What are you looking for?" Had a bomb exploded in his immediate presence he could not have been more eager to get out of that part of town. The last seen of him he was legging it around a corner and heading in the direction of the railroad track. The other chap sauntered along toward home as though he had no part in the attempted car rifling. We have no idea what the intruder did, but there was an all-day sucker in the compartment which Cammie had once started to dissolve in the accustomed manner. Perhaps the visitor should have been given time to locate the tempting morsel.

No attempt has been made to point a moral in this yarn, although it should contain a warning that it is not safe to leave your car unlocked if you expect to be gone more than a minute or two. This happened in Hermiston, but it is just as apt to happen any place.

Not content with jeopardizing their reputations prior to the elections, the columnists and commentators are now busy outlining the policies which the administration is expected to follow. They are bound to strike the nail on the head now and then but our Harry having fooled them once may adopt that as his chief diversion, when he's not playing the piano.

MRS. RODGERS TO TEACH

Mrs. Lucy Rodgers will return to teaching the first of December when she takes over the sixth grade in the Heppner school made vacant by the resignation of Mrs. Eleanor Ball McCormick. Mrs. McCormick will join her husband who has taken a position in Salem. While her work as county superintendent has kept Mrs. Rodgers in close touch with the schools, it has been a good many years since she engaged in teaching and she is quite thrilled with the idea of applying the principles of the three R's in person once more.

MISS KENNY ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. John Kenny announce the engagement of their daughter Patricia to Charles Erwin, son of Mrs. Pearl Erwin of Pendleton. The wedding will be held in Pendleton in January.

Citizens of Lone Dedicate Memorial to World War Dead

Armistice day observance in lone included a program by the American Legion in memory of those boys who lost their lives in World War II; dedication of lone Memorial field, an Armistice Day address by the Reverend Alfred Shirley of the lone Cooperative church.

The ceremonies started with the playing of "America" by the lone school band under direction of Miss Mary Lund. Mayor Garland Swanson then introduced Jimmie Barnett, commander of the lone post of the American Legion, who ordered the raising of the flag of our country followed by the playing of our national anthem. After this Commander Barnett spoke briefly of those in whose memory a plaque had been placed on one side of the athletic field. Mr. Barnett's remarks were followed by the chaplain's prayer which included a moment of silent reverence for those who gave their lives in both wars.

Mayor Swanson then dedicated and named the athletic field. He said:

"Just about two years ago the lone Memorial Improvement association was organized. It was the direct outgrowth of a desire on the part of the citizens of this community to erect a suitable memorial to our honored dead. It was not the desire of this organization to build a memorial of granite, or bronze, or marble which would soon become a part of the landscape, arousing little or no thought and doing little good. These boys had not given their lives for such a cause. We wanted a living memorial, a lasting reminder that would be a part of the community. We looked around us and decided that the improvement of our town would be as appropriate a memorial as we could provide."

Mr. Swanson then spoke briefly of the proposed memorial which includes the landscaping of the school grounds and the installation of a swimming pool in addition to the tennis courts already installed and the turfing of the athletic field. He concluded:

"It is, then, with reverence and humility that I dedicate this field in the name of those boys from lone who so nobly sacrificed their all that we might enjoy the security of peace and prosperity and that I name it the lone Memorial Field."

Mayor Swanson then introduced the Reverend Shirley who gave the address of the day. He said, in part:

"Thirty years ago today as many of us will remember, we were awakened by siren and whistle announcing the end of World War I. We remember vividly the rejoicing of that day. We remember the hopes that filled our hearts. Never again would the world be subjected to such a baptism of blood.

"We are wiser now. We know that World War I was not the end of conflict, but the end of the beginning of a vast world upheaval, the end of which is not yet.

"We are living through one of the great crises of history; a crisis of greater significance than the dissolution of the Roman Empire or the Renaissance.

"It was inevitable that such a crisis should be marked with struggle. As old forms of society were in process of decay, ambitious men and nations, fired with a lust for power, would make the most of the opportunity to carry out their own schemes of aggrandizement.

"But 1918 saw also another factor in the world movement. It was the time when the newest and youngest of nations emerged as a world power. This nation, under God, consecrated to those nurtured in liberty was now, under God, consecrated to those principles which had not only made America great, but was assured that these principles were the only hope of mankind.

"It was this lofty purpose, and this high idealism which inspired the sacrifice of those boys of ours whose memory we honor today. We remember how they went from us, full of confidence and hope. Oh yes, they sang and joked, they gripe and swore; they talked but little, if at all, of the things that were nearest their hearts. But we knew that underneath their jesting and indifference burned the flame of true patriotism. They loved their country; they loved, too, those eternal truths for which their country stood, and to which they were dedicated. And should their loyalty and patriotism demand they were willing to give 'the last full measure of devotion,' to count not their own lives dear.

"And so this morning it is fitting we should have this memorial. The green turf of this football field will never be greener than their memory. It is fitting, too, that our memorial should take this form. It is in the enrichment of our community that we best preserve, not only the sacred memory of these boys, but also the ideals for which they gave their all. It is for the kind of life engendered by clean sports; the democratic way of doing things together; for healthy living and for community cooperation that these boys lived and died, and it is a priceless privilege for all of us to have had a part in this memorial dedication."

Following the dedicatory exercises the lone Cardinals were defeated by the Stanfield Tigers on the newly dedicated lone Memorial field before the largest crowd of the current football season. It was a thrilling game with the score standing 28-24 when the final whistle was blown.

Midway through the first quarter after having held Stanfield for downs lone took the ball. On a pass from Harman, Pettyjohn took the ball over for a touchdown. Try for point failed and the score stood lone 6, Stanfield 0.

Stanfield tied up the score near the end of the first quarter, then in the second quarter moved into the lead when they scored on a pass. The score at the half was Stanfield 12, lone 6.

Stanfield scored again in the third quarter when they pushed over a touchdown after holding lone for downs. This time they converted, bringing the score to Stanfield 20, lone 6.

Midway through the fourth quarter, after Stanfield had run the score to 28-6, lone came to life and scored on a plunge by Pettyjohn, the play having been set up by a pass from Hermann to Eubanks. Hermann converted and the score now stood 28-14.

Following the kick-off Stanfield attempted to run the ball and were tackled behind the goal line resulting in a safety for lone and bringing the score to Stanfield 28, lone 16.

The whistle ending the game blew just as the Stanfield player was tackled again behind the goal line, however, Stanfield was required to kick off. Bergstrom of lone took the kick-off and ran the entire length of the field for a touchdown. Hermann's dropkick was good and the final score was Stanfield 28, lone 24. Additional lone News, Page 3

Heppner Post Has Many Visitors At Armistice Event

Heppner post No. 87, American Legion played host to a large number of visiting Legionnaires on Armistice Day, when guests from Hermiston and other posts came to participate in the day's festivities.

The program of entertainment started shortly after 1:30 when the Legionnaires formed in line and paraded to the Rodeo field where the Hermiston and Heppner high school teams battled to a tie. The game also brought a large percentage of the Hermiston student body and many followers of the team headed by the youth rally is devoted to the biggest turnout of fans seen at the local park this season.

Entertainment was provided at the Legion hall following the football game, including a cocktail hour preceding the banquet, which is featured as a "buck-burger feed."

Dancing concluded the round of pleasure with Branstetter's orchestra from Pendleton providing the music.

Farmers Called To Meeting at Court House November 23

Farmers of the county have been called to a meeting at the courthouse in Heppner the afternoon of Tuesday, November 23, at which time sound films of conservation problems will be shown, and reports on practice payments and how they are progressing in 1948, and federal crop insurance reports will be given.

Delegates elected for the nine communities in the county will elect a county committee for 1949 to administer the agricultural conservation program and to carry out price support activities. The county committee is charged with the responsibility of administering farm programs having to do with soil and water conservation, production goals, price supports and other programs dealing directly with farmers.

Since all farmers are concerned with what they get for their crops and what crops to grow and how to keep up the productivity of the land, they should be interested in who administers farm programs having to do with these problems, says County Agent N. C. Anderson.

Every farmer who has participated in the 1948 agricultural conservation program, and who is eligible for a commodity loan or other price support, or who has a contract with the Federal Crop Insurance corporation, should attend this meeting. The decisions which farmers make at these elections may have far-reaching effects on the future of agriculture. The effectiveness of this farm administration may well determine the future of farm programs. And what happens to farm programs may have much to do with the security and prosperity of the nation, Anderson concluded.

IT'S A BOY

An eight pound and two ounce boy was born Monday evening, Nov. 15, at St. Anthony's hospital in Pendleton to Mr. and Mrs. William "Bully" Bucknum. Mother and child are doing nicely and "Papa" was able to be out passing the cigars Tuesday. Mrs. Fay Bucknum is the child's grandmother.

City Council Pledges Cooperation In Plans for Flood Control Dam

Power Pool Urges Curtailed Use of Juice in Evening

Conservation of electricity between the hours of 4:30 to 6:30 p.m., the evening peak demand period, is being asked for all users of power in the Pacific northwest during the winter weeks immediately ahead, according to J. R. Huffman, local manager for Pacific Power & Light Co.

"With the days getting shorter and darker, the demand for electricity piles up rapidly," he said, "and this seasonal peak, added to the already high demand for power in the region, is putting a huge load on every electric generator in the northwest power pool.

The daily pinch comes between 4:30 and 6:30 p.m., when at this season of the year there is an overlapping of commercial and industrial power use with the demand on homes and farms.

"The Northwest Utilities Conference committee, representing both public and private power systems, estimates a shortage of 150,000 kilowatts in the region during the hours of peak demand.

"To meet this shortage, and keep power flowing for all essential needs, the customers of every system in the northwest are being asked to watch their use of electricity during the crucial hours of the day.

"General cooperation in the conservation program, the saving of a little here and a little there, is expected to enable the power pool to pull through the winter without serious inconvenience to anyone, unless some unforeseen emergency should develop."

County Wins Top Honors in College Alumni Assn. Drive

Morrow county alumni of Oregon State college won the top spot in the annual membership drive recently completed. Mrs. Joe Hughes, chairman, has been informed. When the final check was made it was found that the county is 150 per cent higher than any other county. A gain of 260 per cent was made in new members. The drive netted two life memberships, eight new memberships and 45 renewals.

Two tickets to the Oregon-Oregon State football game were awarded the winning county and Mrs. Hughes and Marvin Wrightman will use them. They will be guests of the alumni association Saturday at dinner.

Mrs. Hughes will go from Corvallis to McMinnville to witness at least part of the game between Linfield college and the Oregon College of Education, in which two Heppner boys will be playing. Archie Padgett and Tom Hughes, Joe Hughes and son Billy, and Peggy Wrightman are leaving Friday for McMinnville.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dinges of Lexington also plan to attend the Corvallis game. Mr. Dinges took an active part in the membership drive.

Poinsettias Give Way to Different Plant This Year

Poinsettias plants, which have become more or less traditional at Christmas time since the formation of the Blue Mountain Camp and Hospital service during war days, are this year giving way to cherry plants, according to Mrs. Ralph Thompson, chairman of the Morrow county unit of the Blue Mountain district.

Breaking of the tradition, Mrs. Thompson reports, is due to the fact that the cherry plants outlast the poinsettias, thus bringing more extended enjoyment to the hospitalized veterans.

Contributions of the cherry plants and holly wreaths will be accepted from now until a short time before Christmas. Orders should be left with Mary Van's Flower shop in Heppner. Names of donors will be put on the plants and wreaths.

SHRINE CLUBS MEET AT HARLEY ANDERSON HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Blaine E. Isom were hosts Saturday evening to the Morrow County Shrine club and auxiliary at the Anderson home in Eight Mile. Members were present from Umatilla, Morrow, Gilliam and Wheeler counties.

Following the business meetings of the men's and women's groups, all gathered around for a session of bingo. The hosts served refreshments to the 20 guests, several of whom were from Kinzua.

Mrs. Ray Bailey went to Portland Monday for a checkup following a recent operation. She was accompanied by Mrs. Eva Belenbrock of Monument.

Wheat Growers To Meet on E.O.W.L. Recommendations

With the annual meeting of the Eastern Oregon Wheat league only a short way off, wheat growers of Morrow county will meet at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at the court house in Heppner to consider problems and make recommendations for committee action when the league meets. It is expected that most of the day will be required in formulating the recommendations which the committees will present to the central organization which meets this year at Condon December 2, 3 and 4.

The committees and their chairmen are: Young people's activities, John Graves, Heppner; production and transportation, Kenneth Smouse, lone; taxation and legislation, Henry Peterson, lone; federal problems and land use, Henry Baker, lone; and wheat disposal and market development, Orville Cutsforth, Lexington.

A large attendance of wheat growers is expected this year at the county committee meetings since there are more problems confronting the farmers. The annual meeting is also expected to draw a large crowd from this county since it is being held so close by.

Junior Class Play On Calendar For Tomorrow Night

Lovers of the legitimate play will have an excellent opportunity to satiate their respective "thirsts" tomorrow evening when the junior class of Heppner high school presents "A Mind of Her Own," three-act comedy by Anne Terring Weatherly. The curtain is scheduled to roll back at 8 o'clock at the school gymnasium-auditorium.

Under the direction of Mrs. Marie Clary, the following cast will be in action:

Jim Bartlett, in the construction business, Norman Ruhl; Della Bartlett, his wife, Marlene DuBois; Bunny, their daughter, Rachel Cox; Tommie, their son, Gerald Bergstrom; Nettie, another daughter, Rose Pierson;

Lizzie, the maid, Betty Graves; Jessica Atwood, Bunny's guest, Vesta Cutsforth; Delphine Lindley, another one of Bunny's guests, Marlene Turner; Steve Henderson, an admirer of Bunny, Jim Orwick; Hugh Randall, another admirer, Loren Piper;

Carol Russell, the girl next door, Colleen Connor; Miss Flora Fenwick, a naturalist, Rita Johnson; Mrs. Phelps, a contractor's wife, Darlene Wise.

Place: The living room of the summer cottage of the Bartlett's situated on the shore of Silver Lake, in a northern state of the Middle West.

Time: The present June.

Bob Bergstrom is play manager. Remember the date is Friday evening, November 19.

RECEPTION HELD FOR NEW VICAR AND WIFE

A reception was held at the parish house Wednesday evening honoring the Reverend and Mrs. Elvon L. Tull who have recently come to Heppner to be in charge of the All Saints Episcopal church. Not only members of the congregation, but many guests from the other churches gathered to enjoy an evening together.

Rev. and Mrs. E. O. Robathan of Pendleton, Rev. and Mrs. Raymond Gayle of Milton and Rev. Harold Parrott of Baker were also present and the men spoke briefly.

Other numbers on the program were talks by Rev. Francis McCormack and Rev. J. Palmer Sorlien; piano duet by Eleanor Rice and JoAnn Dix; vocal solos by Mrs. Lucy Peterson, accompanied by Mrs. William Davis; violin solos by Mrs. Tom Wilson accompanied by Mrs. C. C. Dunham, and two readings by Nancy Adams.

Dr. A. D. McMurdo was master of ceremonies and made the speech of welcome. Mrs. W. O. Dix and Mrs. Anna Bayless presided at the tea table.

KELLEY-O'DONNELL MARRIAGE DATE SET

Mr. and Mrs. Finley Kelly announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, to Mr. Russell O'Donnell. The wedding will be held at the St. Patrick's church in Heppner Sunday morning, December 12.

Miss Kelley has been employed at the First National bank here the past two years. The groom-to-be is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. O'Donnell and he is associated with his parents in operating the O'Donnell cafe.

Full cooperation of the city with the U. S. Army engineers in the flood control program outlined for this community was pledged by the city council Monday evening when a resolution to that effect was presented for approval or rejection. With two members of the council absent, it was not possible to get a full expression, but the other members, Councilmen Yeager, Dunham and Case gave their approval and Councilman Tibbles, arriving later, did not call for another vote. Mayor Lanham has expressed himself as being strongly in favor of securing the dam and other improvements in connection with the project.

The resolution reads as follows:

Whereas, the City of Heppner in the State of Oregon, is located in a flood area and has in the past suffered considerable loss both of property and lives by reason of such floods; and

Whereas, the Army Engineers have made a survey of the advisability of the construction of a flood control dam on Willow Creek south of said City of Heppner and have considered the same feasible and necessary for the protection of property and lives;

Now, therefore, be it resolved that the City of Heppner do all things within its power to encourage the construction and maintenance of such dam and the said City meet its share of the obligation in connection with the construction thereof.

Duly adopted by the Common Council of the City of Heppner this 15th day of November, 1948.

(Signed) Conley Lanham, Mayor; attested: Walt Barger, City Recorder.

It is estimated by the officials that the city may be called upon to assume a financial obligation of $100,000 or more in meeting the terms set up by the engineers for improvements to the channel of Willow creek through the town. This is based upon estimates made by the engineers three years ago on labor and material costs, which at that time amounted to around $35,000. It was not stated definitely whether federal funds would be allocated to channel improvement but it was suggested that the work could be included in the general contract. The over all estimate for the project at that time was $3,015,000, while the current quotation is nearly $5,500,000, which takes into consideration the difference in labor and material costs.

The project involves purchase and vacating of some farms in the immediate vicinity of the dam, relocation of Willow Creek road and the city's water main and such other changes as may develop at the time of construction.

Copies of this resolution will be sent to Congressman Lowell Stockman and Senators Cordell and Morse, as well as to the U. S. Army engineers.

Other matters claiming the attention of the council included setting up a working agreement with Bob Stevens, engineer with the REA, who is doing some engineering on the city streets on a part time basis; issuing of a building permit to Liv Lovgren for the erection of a residence on property adjoining the Methodist church grounds, and making the official canvass of the votes cast in the recent city election, in which it was found that Edmond Gonty outran Loyal Parker by three votes for councilman. The previous vote gave Gonty a one-vote margin.

Three Irrigon Men Up For Physicals

Three Irrigon men, Leonard Weeks, Clark L. Stephens and Lawrence M. Smith, were scheduled to report at Boise army induction station this week for their pre-induction examinations for entrance into the armed services. They are the first Morrow county men to report for examination under the new draft law.

Five other men from this district, outside of Morrow county, are also being called for examination, according to Judge Bert Johnson. Three others have already passed the tests and will be inducted the last of November. No one from this county has been inducted to date.

Quality Livestock Bought For Herds

More top quality livestock has been added to herds of Morrow county as a result of the purebred sale at Walla Walla November 15, reports N. C. Anderson, county agent.

Among buyers from the county making purchases were Gordon McGough, Heppner, a Hereford bull; Allen Hughes, Heppner, two Hereford bulls; Johnny Brown and Dean Graves, Heppner, and Duane Baker, lone, outstanding Shorthorn heifers.

The Shorthorn heifers purchased by 4-H club members will be used as breeding projects, Anderson reported.

HEPPNER IN 1886

While this is a view only of one side of Main street, since the picture evidently had for first consideration the thrashing outfit, it contains several buildings familiar to our citizens who resided here around the early part of the present century. The buildings in front of which the separator stands are on the site of the present Hodge Chevrolet Co. plant. E. L. Matlock's saloon occupied the ground floor of the corner building. The blacksmith shop was operated by J. R. Simons, known to everybody in his day as "Pop." He is the center figure of the three men in the shop door. The white front building was in later years occupied by Henry Bode, tailor. Down the street will be found the City Hotel, then operated by Mr. and Mrs. Minor, grandparents of Stanley Minor. Apparently a church stood on the corner now occupied by the Case apartment building.
