News From C. A. Office

Another year is gone. The county agent wishes everyone a happy New Year. We hope you have all kept good farm records during the past year so income tax reporting will be easy and will not mar your happiness at the beginning of the year.

Those of you who have kept farm records during the past year will appreciate them and those of you who haven't kept records will want to do so in '49.

Those who have started the New Year with purchasing record books at this office during the past week are Irvin Rauch, Lexington; Harold Evans, Heppner; Mrs. Claud White, Heppner; John Ransler, Morgan; Julian Rauch, Lexington. Why don't you stop at the office for a record book?

In the 1920's Oregon's lamb crop averaged 88 lambs per 100 ewes. For 1946-47 the average was 95 lambs.

These cold winter days make rats seek shelter and look for something to eat. That is the reason that many of you have seen more rat damage lately.

Buildings full of trash and grain bins that are open and accessible are sure to invite rat infestation.

Now is the time, while rats are hungry, to make a killing. First of all though, trash should be cleaned up around farm buildings and feed bins made rat proof. After this is done the rats will be hungrier still and they can be poisoned more easily.

Red Squill is the recommended rat poison to use. It can be mixed with grain, dry bread crumbs, breakfast cereal, corn meal, meats or even sliced apples or carrots.

Secretary Newbry Cites Six Pointers For Winter Driving

Six "hot" tips on safe driving in the kind of weather that has been plaguing Oregon motorists recently are contained in a leaflet now being distributed by his office in an effort to center attention on the dangers of slippery highways, Secretary of State Earl T. Newbry has announced.

"Freezing weather is invariably accompanied by a wave of 'skidding' mishaps, most of them the result of unweariness or lack of know-how," Newbry declared.

The leaflet, "Winter Winners," was prepared by the National Committee on Winter Driving Hazards. Results of numerous studies have been boiled down to simple safety suggestions designed to help the average driver recognize and cope with the dangers of rain, sleet, or snow.

In an effort to reach all who need reminders, Newbry suggested careful attention to the following pointers:

1. Get the "feel" of the road before you start out by trying your brakes while driving slowly and away from traffic.

2. Adjust speed to road and weather conditions. Slow down on wet, snowy and icy roads so you can stop when you have to.

Use tire chains on ice and snow. They cut down braking distances as much as 40 to 50 percent. Not a cure-all for winter accidents, but they will help a careful driver.

4. Keep windshield and windows clear of snow and ice, fog and frost. Be sure headlights, windshield wipers, and defrosters are in good working order.

5. When you have to stop, pump your brakes up and down—jamming them on may lock them and throw your car into a skid.

6. Follow other vehicles at a safe distance—remember it takes from three to twelve times as long to stop on snow and ice as it does on dry concrete.

Licenses, Gas Tax Reach New Peak, Though Revenue Off

STATE'S STREETS—14
Oregon's streets and highways were busier than usual in November as gasoline use rose 14 percent over the same month a year ago. Secretary of State Earl T. Newbry has reported. Sales totaled 37,348,030 gallons, he said.

At the same time, the secretary announced that motor vehicle registrations may have reached the 600,000 mark by the end of 1948. Licenses had been issued to 597,512 vehicles at the end of November, with December figures incomplete.

The state first topped the half million mark in registrations in July, 1947, and has been steadily adding the next hundred thousand, he said. The rate of increase is approximately 12 percent, amounting to 64,792 vehicles in the coming year. There will be a potluck dinner at 12 noon sharp, followed by the installation at 2 p.m., with grangers attending church in a group that evening. The installation is open to the public.

first eleven months of 1948. State gasoline taxes on November sales were $1,887,401.53, of which about 13 percent is normally refunded to non-highway users. Revenue from license fees is more than $1,700,000 below last year despite the increase in registration. This is due to the change in the method of licensing commercial vehicles, Newbry explained. Trucks are now being taxed on the basis of road use.

"The safe, efficient movement of the heavy traffic we are now experiencing demands the cooperation of all drivers, whether professional or occasional. That means better, more careful driving," Newbry declared, pointing out that greater travel on the same roads means greater danger to all.

Mrs. Florence Hughes writes from her home at Centralia, Wn.

that she fell and broke two bones in one of her ankles on the 22nd of December and that the member will have to be in a cast for seven weeks. She is having quite a struggle getting around with the aid of crutches. The accident happened when she slipped on the bottom step of a set of stairs.
