LEXINGTON CHURCH—Your Community Church
That ignorant preacher, he's such a bore! He talks about salvation through the Gospel of Christ. But, if the preacher is not gifted, nor eloquent, just remember that you can bring a large torch to a small candle and carry away a great blaze. And with every temptation is an opportunity to take another step toward Heaven. Come and see for yourself. Acts 4:13.

"PUSH" HOUSING TO BE OPEN IN SUMMER SESSION

Summer session students will have the best housing in history at Oregon State college this year with the opening of new Sackett hall for women and the main dormitory for men, announces Robert Koehler, director of dormitories.

Women will be in Sackett hall where the unit design makes possible putting under-graduates in one or more wings and graduate students in an entirely separate unit. Study quarters in both halls are shared by two persons. The men's dorm has group sleeping porches while Sackett hall has mostly individual sleeping rooms. Single rooms, unavailable in regular terms, will be allowed for those wishing them in summer. All bed linen, blankets and towels are furnished.
