

VACATIONING
Mrs. Glen McLachlan and daughter Leila began a week's vacation at Cottage Grove and coastal points Tuesday. Mrs. McLachlan is office assistant for Drs. L. D. Tibbles and J. A. Woodhall and Leila is clerk in the tax department of the sheriff's office.

AUDITORS AT WORK
Fred and Robert Wetherwell, Pendleton auditors, are at work on the books of the Morrow county school system. The auditors will return to Heppner in the fall to audit other county records.

GRANGE TO MEET
Lexington grangers are asked to remember the meeting at the hall Saturday evening. Besides the regular run of business there will be potluck refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kenney and their guest, Mrs. Sarah Hall of Brooklyn, New York, spent the week-end at Grand Coulee dam. On Monday they attended the celebration at Ukiah.

CONGRESSIONAL ALIBIS

Why can't Oregon's delegations in congress get the good breaks on federal funds that the Washington state congressional delegations have always secured? Here are some of the alleged answers we have had to listen to for the past 50 years, with the exception of those years when Jonathan Bourne or Charles McNary were in the senate.

"Oregon being a republican state we get turned down during the democratic administrations. That condition never bothered Senator McNary.

"It takes years for a new congressman to establish influence in congress. (Just keep electing me—I'll bring home the bacon.) Senator Jonathan Bourne in his first year secured passage of the parcel post law—almost single handed, and against the powerful express company lobby, then one of the strongest in Washington.

"The population of Washington is greater than that of Oregon." This old dodge is busted by the preparations the census department is making for taking the 1950 census. They will use as many enumerators in Oregon as in Washington as they estimate that the population of the two states will be about the same for the first time in the past 70 years.

Where did we get the gripe? The state of Washington will receive nearly twice as much federal aid for highway improvements this year as Oregon will if recommendations just made by the federal works agency are approved. The recommendations specify $206,000,000 for the state of Washington and Oregon only $117,000,000.

GOVERNMENTAL REAPPOINTMENTS
Governor Douglas McKay this week announced the following reappointments:

Mrs. Fay Bucknum visited relatives in The Dalles over the week-end, going down especially to see her mother, Mrs. Louise Ritchie, who has been not too well.

Dr. Louis P. Gambee, Portland, and Mrs. Thomas Honeyman, Oregon City, as members of the State Public Welfare Commission, for four year terms, effective July 1.

A. A. Cammack, Portland, as a member of the State Civil Service Commission, for a three year term.

Ralph Coan, Portland, as a member of the Public Employees Retirement Board, representing citizens. Coan was named for a five-year term effective July 1.

NOTICE, SCHOOL DIRECTORS
Under the Oregon law and a constitutional amendment, a candidate for school director must register 30 days prior to a school election in order to qualify for the office of school director. Attorney General George Neuner has just ruled.

The opinion was asked by the state educational department in connection with a recent election in the Pendleton school district. Neuner held that the successful candidate was not a registered voter and not eligible to serve. Other opinions rule that payments to widows, increased under the 1949 amendments to the workmen's act, is not retroactive and the increase applies only to compensable accidents which occur after the effective date of the act.

County funds created for a specific purpose may not be transferred to another county fund in excess of the constitutional limitation of $5,000.00.

FINE MYRTLE GROVE SAVED
The finest grove of myrtle trees now standing in Oregon, and that means the finest in America, was recently purchased by the state board of forestry. The grove is on 160 acres of forest land on the Chetco river, eight miles above Brookings in the extreme southwestern corner of Oregon. Consideration for the purchase was $6500, over a third of which was contributed by the Save the Myrtle Woods, Inc., according to State Forester Nels Rogers.
