Z. Franklin Contrell, Minister.

When I get bothered over other people's shortcomings, I am comforted to remember that Jesus said, "What is that to thee, follow thou Me." And if I were cast into prison with only one choice of what I wanted to take with me, it would be my Bible; and next to the Bible would be a song book full of the good old gospel songs.

Oregon Receives 2 Safety Plaques

Two pedestrian safety plaques, awarded by the American Automobile Association in its annual Pedestrian Protection contest, have arrived in Oregon for presentation, according to the Oregon State Motor Association, Oregon AAA club.

An engraved glass plaque, symbolic of the state's tie with Connecticut for first place in the states' contest, will be presented Governor Douglas McKay for display in the state capitol building.

A framed certificate of merit, awarded the state contact man in the contest, James Banks, of the secretary of state's traffic safety division, will be presented Mr. Banks for outstanding leadership in Oregon's pedestrian safety campaign.

The plaques will be presented at public ceremonies in the near future, the Motor Association said. Oregon tied Connecticut for first place in the top division of states entered in the national contest, the award being based on excellence of program embracing education, engineering and enforcement, as well as improvement in the record of pedestrian accidents.

This is the fifth national award in the Pedestrian Protection contest won by the state of Oregon.

In addition to these two awards, these Oregon cities were cited for no pedestrian deaths in 1948: Albany, Corvallis, Bend, Klamath Falls, Oregon City and Pendleton. Letters of commendation went to mayors and to contact men in these cities.

Jimmy Adkins of Dayville came here on Sunday to visit his father, or Ezard and look for employment.

Smokey, The Fire-Preventin' Bear, Brings to Justice . . .

The biggest villain on the range

With grain and feed critical, villain of the range—the one who starts most range fires—must be brought to justice! First Smokey investigates lightning. But it only starts one fire in ten.

Then, hot on the trail, Smokey looks up the damage done by criminals and crazy freights. But this is another blind alley, because not one fire in a hundred is started for revenge.

What about sparks from trains, automobile accidents and explosions? No again. It's true they start a few fires, but compared to the big fire-starters, they don't count.

But now for the real culprit! Why... it's Tom Trueheart! Meaning, of course, that it's good American citizens like you who start 9 out of every 10 range fires.

This year—will more folks traveling through the grazing country—America's range may suffer the greatest catastrophe in history! It is imperative that you be particularly careful of fire outdoors.

PLEASE FOLKS, BE EXTRA CAREFUL THIS YEAR!

- Observe rules in areas closed to smoking. Stop to smoke in safe places.
- Crush out your cigarette, cigar, pipe ashes. Never throw burning objects from a car window.
- Drawn your campfire, then sit and down again.
- Ask about the law—road a permit—before burning grass, brush, fence posts, logs, or trash. Then follow the rules! Burn only on still evenings! Have help handy! Kill every spark!
