POINTERS FOR LONG DISTANCE CALLERS

How you can save money on your cross-country calls - and help us give you still faster service time all around if you give the information to f you know it, or the address. (Good idea to keep a list of the out-of-town numbers you call most frequently.) Next, if it's a person call, give the name of the one you want to talk with. The operator will then ask your name and number.

4. Wise use of the telephone - either local or long distance-helps you get the greatest value from it. And service is constantly growing more valuable. A local call is still just a few pennies. And you can make a daytime station call from coast to coast for only $2.50, plus tax.

1. Even before you call, you can start getting the most for your money. It's a good idea to make a list of the things you want to talk about. A few handy notes can help make sure you won't think of something you really wanted to say—after you hang up. Experienced long dis-tance users keep paper and pencil at the tele-phone and make notes while they'retalking, too.

hang up promptly - and properly. If you reyour long distance operator this way: First, the name of town you're calling...then, the number call long distance, you'll be certain of getting the most from your call for the least money. With really efficient use of the telephone, you can pack as many words into a three-minute conversation as you can in a letter-and you'll
