

Six Young People Figure in Wrecks During Past Week

Total of Nine Local People Hospitalized In Past Two Weeks

The Heppner contingent in the St. Anthony's hospital in Pendleton was raised to nine over the past week-end when six young people in two separate wrecks were rushed there for treatment. Friday evening, Donna Gayhart, driving a car borrowed from Gene Orwick, and accompanied by Eileen Ball, upset the vehicle between the Mankin ranch and Lexington. Both girls were severely injured and the car was all but completely wrecked. The accident victims were rushed to Pendleton. Eileen was able to return home Tuesday but Donna is still a patient and may have to remain several weeks, according to reports.

Saturday evening, five out of six persons were seriously injured when two cars collided almost head-on about seven miles west of Pendleton on highway 30. Jack Ployhar of Heppner was driving west in a 1949 Ford. Swerving the car into the left lane of traffic he hit the left front of a pickup truck of Chester Davis and his wife, both 59, of Sunnyside, Wash. Both cars were demolished.

In the car with Ployhar were Eileen Keenan, 18, sister Delores, 16, and Wayne Brock, 19. Eileen has a dislocated elbow; Delores suffered a broken collar bone and a broken leg; Brock is suffering from shock and lacerations and Ployhar is suffering with internal injuries. Chester Davis had his throat cut and his skull fractured, while his wife had both arms broken, body and face lacerations, and both knees cut deeply, according to an account of the accident in the East Oregonian.

VISUAL CRIME CURE

Here is an innovation in criminal juvenile jurisprudence that uses a standard time-old and proven method—viewing horrible examples, where they're always available at the penitentiary. Why didn't someone think of it before?

Three alleged juvenile delinquents appeared this week before Judge Rex Kimmel who took them over to the Oregon penitentiary where they were taken on a personally conducted tour of "lifers' row."

"Perhaps if it is forcibly and visually brought home to these lads to just what end criminal tendencies lead it may mean a turning point in their lives," said the jurist.

CONCRETE SUGGESTION

Did the plaster cast in which Senator Wayne Morse was encased after being thrown from a buggy while driving his prize station, inspire the Oregon senator to denounce the CVA as an "administrative straight jacket"?

The Northwest Public Power Assn., which had previously endorsed CVA "idea" only, last week in a Tacoma meeting voted unanimously for such legislation providing it includes definite guarantee to PUD's and municipal systems like Tacoma, Salem, Milton, Eugene and McMinville the right to own and develop their own facilities.

LIVING MEMORIALS

Millions of trees are growing in Oregon, and will continue to grow for decades, that are monuments to the inspired spirit of Nelson Rogers, late state forester. He "planted" more trees than any man that ever lived. He did it by his leadership in inspiring confidence in reforestation. Even the rash timber cutters were tempered by his "timber religion."

Booster Breakfast Set For October 7

Friday, October 7, is the date of the first football game scheduled for the rodeo field in the current season. In accordance with established custom, the morning of that day is the time for the booster breakfast and Chairman Jack O'Connor informs this newspaper that the breakfast will be served, although where it is still a matter to be settled. Ticket purchasers will be informed when they get their tickets.

County Council Of Parents-Teachers Organized Monday

A meeting was called Monday by Mrs. Omar Rietmann, president of the Ione Parent-Teacher association, for the purpose of forming a county council of Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers. The meeting was held at Lexington and was well attended, with representatives there from Irrigon, Boardman, Ione, Lexington and Heppner.

Officers who the county unit are as follows: Mrs. B. C. Forsythe, Ione, president; Mrs. Floyd Hobbs, Irrigon, vice president, and D. E. Baker, Lexington, secretary-treasurer.

Boardman will be the scene of the next meeting, on October 19, with the P-TA groups of Irrigon and Boardman hosts for luncheon.

Mrs. J. W. Stags of Milton, a state vice president, was present to assist with the organizational work.

Missed being called. At the Saturday night banquet opening the derby Governor Douglas McKay and State Treasurer Walter Pearson sat at the head table with other state officials including Tax Commissioner Robert D. McLean, Game Commissioner Donald Mitchell, State Senators Austin Flanagan and Rex Ellis, and Representative Jerry Wade, and Frank E. Gilkey, county judge of Lincoln county.

NIMRODS, RELAX!

Governor Douglas McKay learned this week that Oregon's driest summer in years will probably not necessitate postponement of the scheduled opening of the deer season on October 1.

The good word came out during the second quarterly meeting of the governor's natural resources advisory committee. Heavy dew following showers dampened the forest floor, said George Spurr, acting state forester, and forest fire tangles have been lowered to a minimum. However, Governor McKay is keeping his eye on the hot days.

OREGON INSURANCE CONSCIOUS

The amount of insurance held by Oregonians was estimated at an average of $1000 for every person—man, woman and child—in Oregon. The total figure of $1,507,023,125 was 10 per cent higher than last year.

Oregonians paid $34,350,915 in insurance premiums last year and received $10,566,625 for fire losses. State Insurance Commissioner Robert Taylor revealed this week.

RHEA CREEK GRANGE TO HOLD BOOSTER NIGHT

Rhea Creek grange has issued invitations to interested persons and to the memberships of other granges in the county to attend the booster night party at the hall at Ruggs Friday evening, October 7.

A varied program is being prepared and festivities will open with a potluck supper at 6:30 p. m.

Deer Season Will Open Saturday A. M. As Scheduled

Oregon's red hat brigade is moving up to the front and by Friday morning the opening bombardment will strike up as the 1949 deer hunting season gets underway.

Up to press time only a sprinkling of outside hunters had come to town but it is expected that by Friday evening a full complement of trigger-happy hunters will be on hand.

Expected news from the office of Governor Douglas McKay that the opening would be postponed until rains came had not been received and there seems nothing in the way of the season opening October 1.

C. A. Lockwood, game director, estimates there will be close to 200,000 hunters afield. He has made a special plea for all to exercise the strictest caution while hunting and a full compliance with the game laws. He also puts fires in the forests that the habit of up to the hunters to prevent that of the wild game may be prevented.

County Receives $79,307.01 From Basic School Fund

This year Morrow county will receive $79,307.01 from the basic school support fund. Half of this amount was received last week and distributed to the school districts in the county from the rural school district office according to Henry E. Teitz, superintendent.

The basic school fund is a state fund raised by income tax amounting to $50 per census child and apportioned to the school district on the basis of pupil membership, number of teachers and transportation.

Of the $39,903.47 received from the fund, the distribution was made as follows: School district No. 1, Heppner, $14,637.54; school district No. 2, Ione, $436.03; school district No. 3, Willow Way, $749.87; school district No. 4, Morgan, $515.89; school district No. 10, Irrigon, $4,986.65; school district No. 12, Lexington, $3,173.41; school district No. 19, Rood Canyon, $270.33; school district No. 23, Devine, $387.10; school district No. 24, Willow, $200.04; school district No. 25, Boardman, $5,031.92; district No. 27, consolidated with Echo, $373.24; school district No. 33, Ione, $6,910.98; school district No. 40, Hardman, $501.75; school district No. 41, Sand Hollow, $541.79; school district No. 42, Balm Fork, $182.10; Union High district No. 1, Hardman, $85.03; Non-High district, $1,628.89.

The second half of the basic school fund apportionment will be made in March.

An interested visitor in Heppner for several days the past week was Mrs. J. B. Cooley of Brownsville who visited her nieces and families, Mrs. J. O. Turner, Mrs. R. B. Ferguson and Mrs. Leonard Schwarz. She was pleased with the growth and improvements in Heppner since her last visit a number of years ago. She went from here to Stanfield to visit her brother, John M. Spencer.

Charley Hodge has a power shovel crew busy leveling off his used car lot this week. Hereafter drainage has been a problem on the lot, water running off of it into the garage building. The new level will be slightly below the building level.

State's Population Grows Faster Than Growers Produce Meat, Milk

Oregon's output of meat and milk scarcely equals state needs now that the population has increased one-half since 1929. That is a general conclusion to be drawn from facts and figures in the latest farm outlook circular issued by the extension service at Oregon State college, now available from county extension agents.

The purpose of the report is to aid producers in planning their production and marketing operations. There are sections on the feed supply situation, dairy products, beef cattle, hogs, and sheep. Several charts and tables of data are included to show trends in prices, production and consumer demand.

Meat animals (cattle, hogs and sheep) and dairy production account for about two-fifths of Oregon's cash receipts from farm products. Currently, the state is close to a balance on milk and beef with a heavy deficit in hogs but still has some seasonal surplus of lambs.

"Freedom Goes Where The Newspaper Goes"

A Guest Editorial by Governor Douglas McKay
You would have to hunt a long time and range far afield to find a more appropriate slogan than that adopted for the tenth National Newspaper Week, October 1 to 8: "Freedom Goes Where the Newspaper Goes."

Those six words testify to the impact of an unfettered press with a force of clarity no flow of prose or oratory could match. They say, in effect, that newspapers which speak honestly without fear of censorship, and people who have earned the same liberty of expression are invariably found together. Where you have one, you automatically have the other. One brings the other about and demands its perpetuation with no strings attached.

Any man in the public eye should welcome the justified criticism of the press. It stands for reassurance that the processes by which he attained official stature are safeguarded by enlightened public opinion that is constantly refreshed by the vigilant reporter and editorial writer. Hence, the dailies and weeklies of Oregon and the other 47 states are really crusading for better government as they discharge their obligation to inform and educate their readers.

Certain unfortunate countries deny their newspapers and their citizens the right to give and receive this vital service. I, personally, would want no part of the life of those countries.

Mustangs Recover From Echo Defeat To Beat Stanfield

The Heppner Mustangs, after taking a 13-6 loss from Echo, came back to defeat a weak Stanfield team last Friday, 34-0.

After a series of long runs and first downs, Melvin Piper went through to score the first Heppner tally. Bergstrom then made the extra point.

The second quarter had scarcely gotten underway when Bergstrom went across for the second Heppner touchdown. The conversion was made by Gary Connor, right end. The half ended with Heppner but two yards from making another touchdown, with Stanfield making a definite stand.

The third quarter started off with a bang, the Mustangs driving straight down the field and Ruhl going over for the third score. Bergstrom plunged through the line for the conversion. Gary Connor ran back a punt 35 yards, setting the stage for Ruhl to go the rest of the way for the Mustangs' fourth tally. Gary Connor again went for the conversion. Bergstrom made the final tally for Heppner in the third quarter. Try for point failed.

Coach Bohles sent in the reserves after Bergstrom's last touchdown, and they played the rest of the third and almost all of the fourth quarter. Almost every boy from the Mustang squad saw action.

ACTIVE TB PATIENT PAYS HEPPNER VISIT

Chester O. Terrill was picked up Wednesday evening by Officer Gomillion in answer to a phone call from Miss Lella McLachlan that a strange-acting man had called at the McLachlan home. The officer found the man a short time later in a box car where he had bedded down for the night.

Terrill, an ex-service man, was found to have taken "absolutely without leave" from the tuberculosis hospital at Boise, Idaho, his papers showing that he was an "active" patient.

AMERICAN WAY OF LIFE THREATENED BY PASSAGE OF SENATE BILL 1645

Our American way of life is at stake in the proposed Columbia Valley Administration as written in Senate bill 1645 in the opinion of Stanley R. Church, representing the Pacific Northwest Development association. Church and Charles M. Sanford met with the Heppner chamber of commerce Monday at which time certain features of the measure were discussed and analyzed.

A copy of the bill in chart form was placed where all could see it and Mr. Church discussed the most salient features, particularly bringing out the parts that appear harmless to the casual reader but really mean placing supreme authority in the hands of the three-man board if permitted to remain in the bill. Certain functions are stipulated and these, while perhaps not too disagreeable to the taste of the average apostle of freedom, could

Soroptimist Clubs All Over World Honor Week of Founding

Soroptimist clubs all over the world will join in the celebration of Founders' Week, Sept. 28 Oct. 5, with special programs to commemorate the anniversary of the founding of the first Soroptimist Club in Oakland, California on October 3, 1921.

This was "sack lunch" day (fifth Thursday of the month) for the Soroptimist Club of Heppner. They met at the home of their president, Mrs. W. O. George at noon. The growth of Soroptimism was traced by Mrs. O. G. Crawford from the institution of the first club with its membership of 80 in 1921 to the present.

There are over 20,000 Soroptimists in clubs scattered through out the world. More than 400 active clubs are listed in the roster of the American Federation. There are 67 clubs in the Northwestern region which covers the states of Washington, Oregon, northern part of Idaho, Montana and Alaska. The American Federation, composed of business executive women, extends from Fairbanks Alaska to Rio de Janeiro, from Portland Oregon to Portland Maine, from Honolulu Hawaii to Halifax Nova Scotia. There are active clubs in 27 foreign countries. Each member will pay one cent for each year of Soroptimism, 28 cents this time, which is an annual Founders' Week observance.

One of the most enjoyable experiences of the Soroptimist club of Heppner is correspondence with individual members of the Soroptimist Club of Tamworth, England.

The Soroptimist program is one of service; in the welfare and opportunities for young girls, particularly through education and recreation; economic advancement of women; long range programs of fellowships and study grants; legislation and citizenship; better international understanding through friendships with Soroptimists abroad—and improvement of local industry's local civic projects.

Several of the local club members expect to leave next Thursday night for the Regional conference at Bellingham Washington October 7, 8 and 9.

Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Dunham accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Charles Buggies and their daughter Connie on a hunting trip to the Blue Mountains area reserved for archery devotees. The men did much hunting and the entire party had a fine time but the deer population was not diminished by their little week-end jaunt.

Mrs. C. H. Perrott of Portland has been visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Doolittle, the past 10 days. Mrs. Doolittle has been suffering with arthritis for some time and is a little better. Paul Doolittle brot his sister up from the city and her husband will arrive this week-end to take her home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Q. Routh of Pasco were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Chaffee. Mr. Routh is Mrs. Chaffee's twin brother.

Mrs. C. A. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Jones of Pasco spent several hours in Heppner Tuesday, the elder Mrs. Jones and her son coming for physical check-ups. They reported that through traffic in Pasco came almost to a halt during the time following the bridge fire until the pontoon bridge was installed and that cars are breezing through their town once more.

EXAMINER COMING

A drivers license examiner will be on duty in Heppner Tuesday, October 4, at the City Hall between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. Persons wishing licenses or permits to drive are asked to get in touch with the examiner well ahead of the scheduled closing hour in order to assure completion of their applications with a minimum of delay.

Accepted but they are followed by the all-embracing phrase "and other duties," etc. which place no limit on the activities of the board of the extent of authority involved, the speaker contended. All paragraphs, sentences, or phrases containing the threat of absolutism are heavily under scored on the chart, which is an exact duplication of the original bill "blown up" to about the size of the average large size wall calendar.

Church explained that the Pacific Northwest Development association was formed several years ago for the purpose of developing this great region through the facilities at hand—private enterprise, the army engineers and the reclamation bureau.

The visitors went to Pendleton from here.

Commission Ups Funds For Extra Road Construction

Boardman-Willow Creek Section Gets $90,000 Additional

The state highway commission climaxed its three day September meeting in Portland by allocating $3,634,000 for the construction of 24 additional projects in the 1950-51 construction program. These are distributed over 19 of the counties of the state and are in addition to prior allotments made for the next two-year construction program, a report from the commission states.

While no announcement has been made as to definite plans, the sum allocated to the Willow-Creek-Boardman section of the Columbia river highway indicates that a general rebuilding will take place in the next bi-ennium. Contemplated dam construction along the river necessitates relocating the highway in some sections and since the route between Willow Creek and Boardman is in line for improvement it is thought the commission contemplates relocation of the route between those points.

An original $575,000 allocated for this section has been upped $90,000 to a total of $665,000. In the report this is given as in Morrow county which leads to the conclusion that some heavy construction will be done.

Contracts on some of the projects have already been awarded especially in the construction of highway buildings and some smaller bridges.

Escaped Convict Hiding in Timber In Kinzua Vicinity

Gilbert Williams, escaped from Gilbert Williams, escaped from the Oregon State prison, is being hunted for in the mountains surrounding Kinzua, according to Sheriff C. J. D. Bauman who, with Officer Bill Labhart spent Wednesday in that vicinity assisting officers of the district in the search.

Williams, committed from Union county, left the prison at Sallerton on September 22. A few days later he stole a 1949 Lincoln coupe at Gresham and headed for eastern Oregon. About one and one-half miles after leaving the John Day highway enroute to Kinzua the car ran out of gas. Taking the keys and a 38 automatic army type revolver he found in the glove compartment he set out on foot. At Kinzua store he was recognized by Jimmie Walker, storekeeper, who reported to the officers at once.

Sergeant Olson and other officers at Arlington had been called to The Dalles to help maintain peace at the dock where the "hot cargo" of pineapple is being unloaded but other officers of the district, including state police, sheriffs and city police were on the job in quick order. Road blocks were set up and other squads set out to search the woods, but when the local officers returned home last night no trace of the convict had been found. It is believed he picked out a hiding spot to catch up on sleep and that when hunger becomes acute he will show up some place.

Game Commission Taking Fish Eggs

Mr. C. A. Lockwood, State Game Director, today dispatch a crew of fishery biologists and aids to begin clean-up activities at the outlet end of Paulina Lake. Starting around the last of September, the men will remove all weeds, brush, drift wood, and accumulated debris that will in any way interfere with the forthcoming egg-taking operations.

Resident biologists will determine the proper time, usually in late October or early November, when the fish are ready to spawn. At this time, the fish are netted, the eggs are stripped, fertilized, and the fish returned unharmed to the lake again. Eggs thus obtained are placed in hatcheries where they develop into fingerlings or legal sized trout and are then available for distribution to lakes and streams throughout the state.

This egg-taking and artificial spawning operation is necessary to compensate for the inability of the rainbow trout to reproduce successfully in this lake.

Persons using the Paulina Lake area are cautioned to refrain from placing any camping refuse, particularly tin cans, in the lake. Such material not only pollutes the water but definitely hampers the seeding activities.

Dave Fortmiller, formerly of Ashland, is a visitor at the Ralph Jackson ranch in the Spray neighborhood, being the special guest of Kenneth Jackson. The young men were pals at the University of Oregon. He will be here through the hunting season.
