

Land Leveling Pays Dividends . . .

Much land leveling has been done in Morrow county in recent years and one of the largest undertakings is at Cecil where the Crum Brothers have been working on part of the 315 acres of irrigated bottom land on the Krebs Brothers ranch. One of the oldest irrigated tracts in this region, the Krebs land has been producing from one to four tons of alfalfa per acre under what is termed faulty irrigation conditions. With proper leveling they claim it will produce as high as seven tons per acre. In the picture, Marion and John Krebs may be seen to the right of the big leveler taking care of the engineering. The Crum Brothers have completed numerous leveling projects since moving to the county, adding materially to the productive capacity of the creek ranches.
