Singing Sewers 4-H Club News

The second meeting of the Sewing I-A club, under the leadership of Mrs. E. M. Baker and Junior Leader Ingrid Hermann, was held in the lunch room of the lone school on November 21. A name for the club was chosen at this time. The program for the day was the 4-H club pledge, explained by Miss Hermann, and demonstrations by Mrs. Baker on the correct use of scissors and thimble and the proper way to

New Men In Old Business . . .

Maurice Kennedy, left and Otis Nooy, two Pendleton young men, have purchased the Pendleton-Hepner Freight Line, of which they took possession December 1. Both are ex-service men and since returning to civilian status, Nooy has been associated with his father in operating the Consolidated Dairy in Pendleton, while Kennedy has been with the railroad company. They have been familiarizing themselves with their territory and hope to establish daily service between Pendleton and towns of the branch line. The present service is three times a week.

thread a needle.

The first meeting was held November 7 in the lone school. At this meeting the club was organized and officers were elected as follows: President, Grace McCabe; vice president, Bonnie Crum; secretary, Mardene Baker; news reporter, Anne Belle Coleman.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Baker. A Christmas program has been planned for this meeting.

NIFTY KNITTERS LATEST 4-H CLUB ACTIVITY

At a meeting held Thursday, December 1, the members of the new knitting club chose the name "Nifty Knitters."

We were taught to cast on stitches and to do the knitting stitch. We are to practice in our spare time.

Helen Graham joined the club, this making 11 girls altogether.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served.

Recently announced is the 1950 National 4-H Farm and Home Electric Awards program. This is one of the first national contests to be announced for the new club year. Its objectives are to develop an interest in electrical methods and equipment and to develop profitable utilization of electricity on the farm.

With many farms in Morrow county now getting electricity, this contest should become one of great popularity.

The contest sponsored by the Westinghouse Educational Foundation offers county, state and national awards. All club members 14 years or older are eligible. For further information contact the county agent's office.

Meeting at the Earl McKinney farm on Rhea creek Sunday, the lone Livestock club completed organization for the year as well as regular business of the club. Officers of the club are Richard Elkstrom, president; Duane Baker, vice president; Malcolm McKinney, secretary. GIFT WRAPPING GIVEN AT LENA

Thursday afternoon 19 women attended the Lena unit meeting to hear Miss Wilson discuss gift wrapping. She stressed originality and using materials on hand. She also suggested wrapping large boxes to look like children's blocks using scraps of wrappings. One common difficulty is using too much paper. Following this discussion, unit members participated in a contest of "tearable art". Each woman tore out (behind her back) the Christmas present she wanted and then all guessed. Miss Wilson led three other games before the meeting closed.

Two guests from Gilliam and Sherman counties attended.

Timely bulletins available at the HDA's office are "Turkey on the Table the Year Round" and "Directions for Making Homemade Toys." Call or write for these bulletins.

Miss Mabel Wilson is attending a training meeting in Corvallis before the annual conference of extension workers in Oregon to be held December 12-15.
