SALESMEN BEST DRIVERS

Traveling salesmen were the safest drivers in Oregon this year according to the records of the state traffic division. In their 1,984 reported accidents no fatalities occurred. Clerical and retail sales workers were next with three fatal accidents in a total of 5,576 reported.

Housewives had the best record last year but slipped to the middle of the rating this year, with six of their 3,546 accidents resulting in fatalities.

The worst record, from the standpoint of severity, went to farmers and farm workers, with 10 fatalities from 2,700 accidents reported. Laborers had the greatest number of accidents but were well below average in fatalities, with 30 fatalities in 21,034 accidents.

GOVERNORIAL APPOINTMENT

Governor Douglas McKay this week appointed Colonel G. Robert Dodson of Portland to the position of chief of staff of the Oregon Air National Guard and elevated the 45-year-old flying officer to the rank of brigadier general, according to Lawson McCall, Governor McKay's executive assistant.

Thus Dodson becomes the state air guard's first general officer.

Major General Thomas E. Rilea, Oregon's adjutant general who conferred with the governor on the appointment, described Dodson as a "top-notch pilot, officer and person."

Dodson is presently in command of the 142nd fighter group, the membership of which is divided between Oregon, Washington and Idaho. When war broke out, he was in charge of the 116th air observation squadron of the Oregon Air National Guard and distinguished himself in service on both sides of the world, mostly in the Burma theater.

He is an executive of the Jantzen Knitting mills of Portland in civilian life.

BROTHER-IN-LAW DIES

A communication from Mrs. Florence Hughes, states that her brother-in-law, U. S. Pratt, died December 4 at his home in Centralia, Wash. The Pratts were well known to a number of Heppner residents, they having visited here on numerous occasions when Mrs. Hughes resided here. Mrs. Hughes has been making her home at Centralia the past year.
