A delicious garnish for vegetable soup is little balls of smoked cheese rolled in crumbled bacon and dropped into the hot soup just before serving. Vegetables and cheese make a tasty soup combination. The cheese flavor enhances the vegetables and adds good substantial protein too. Cream of vegetable soup with cheese is a creamy, flavorful soup, hearty enough to serve as a main dish. The addition of cheese lifts this soup out of the "ordinary" class.

 Cheese in Soups Adds Flavor

There is no end to the versatility of cheese—that wonderful dairy food which is being featured this month to remind consumers that soups, salads, appetizers, main dishes and desserts are all enhanced in both flavor and food value through the addition of cheese.

Perhaps you are wondering about cheese in soups; if so, just remember one of the most delicious soups, favored by gourmets, is simple onion soup served with crisp bread croutons and Parmesan cheese. Onion soup is very easily made and for the gourmet's touch, substitute grated sharp cheddar cheese for the dry Italian cheese. Just sprinkle the grated cheese on toast rounds, place in the individual soup bowls, and slip under the broiler for a minute. These cheese toast rounds make delicious garnishes for other soups, too.
