Army Men Practice Safety

LET THE CHIPS FALL WHERE THEY MAY, but this soldier-mechanic operating a grinding wheel at Fort Monmouth, N. J., won't get any of the flying metal particles in his eyes. He is wearing specially constructed safety goggles which afford ample protection. Always safety conscious, the Army has held its accident rate far below that for comparable trades in private industry.

Oregon To Receive Nearly 3 Million From Federal Road Funds

Oregon will receive a total of $2,753,489 as its share of the Federal Aid Highway Appropriation to be distributed to the states for improvement of highways in national forests during the fiscal year 1951.

The announcement was made on the basis of information received from A. A. National Headquarters, according to Dr. E. B. McDaniel, President of the Oregon State Motor Association, an affiliate of the American Automobile Association.

"This appropriation is authorized by the Federal Aid Highway Act of 1948, which provides for the distribution of $20,000,000 among the states for national forest highways in each of the fiscal years 1950 and 1951," Dr. McDaniel said. "The apportionment of funds is made on the basis of area and the value of the land owned by the Federal government within the national forests in each state. The money will be available beginning July 1, 1950."

The motor club official said that forest highways are selected few can resist. Wise homemakers like to include casserole dishes in their menus for they can be prepared ahead of time with little fuss, then bake at the last minute. There is no trick to creating your own casserole dish when you use a creamy nourishing white sauce base. Just add leftover vegetables and chopped meat, noodles or macaroni, seasoning to taste and topping with buttered crumbs and grated cheese. Whisk it into the oven for 30 minutes or so until heated through and serve with the assurance that your family will enjoy it!

Here is a delicious casserole dish, called by one, Tallereene, and, by another, Italian Delight. Regardless of the name you will find it delicious!

TALLEREENE—Serves 5
2 Tbsp. butter
1 medium onion, chopped
1 pound ground beef
2 cups uncooked noodles
1 cup water
1 can tomato soup
1 can whole kernel corn
1 small can mushrooms
2-3 cup grated cheese
Salt and pepper

Brown onion in butter in large skillet. Add ground beef and brown. Add 2 cups noodles and water to beef mixture and cook until tender. Add soup, corn and mushrooms, stirring well. Sprinkle top with grated cheese and caid, under the title, "Chickens that Scratch," appearing in The Lincoln Memorial University at Harrogate, Tennessee, has some bearing on what I call the Farewell State.

The editorial is about a successful farm woman who raises chickens and has discovered the superiority of hatched chickens to those bred in incubators and raised in brooders. She found by experience that chickens from brooders are lazy and shiftless, lying around to be fed.

But when a hen raises a brood of chickens, the woman said, "she takes them out each morning and teaches them to shift for themselves. She weans them in about six weeks, and then they are on their own. They hustle out to the fields and are busy all day long, scratching and rustling. The young pullets grow up into fine healthy hens and make good layers."

The Lincoln Herald editor thinks our so-called Welfare State is an incubator—brooder type of society, under which we destroy the initiative and self-reliance of the young, to form a generation of indigents and dependents.

Chickens and children that never learn to scratch for themselves soon contract the pip. And the pip is a fatal malady; for it saps the victim's spizzierinkum.
