Council Employs Engineer to Head City Work Program

R. J. Stephens on Job Tuesday A. M. As Superintendent

Feeling that the work program of the city demands the services of an engineer, the city council Monday evening employed R. J. Stephens as work superintendent, the job becoming effective at once. Stephens assumed his new duties Tuesday morning.

The new superintendent has been in the employ of the Welly Construction company of The Dalles since 1945. He was the engineer in charge of line construction on the Columbia Basin Electric cooperative lines in Morrow and Gilliam counties. This work was recently completed and since the Welly firm had no other contracts to take up immediately, Stephens applied for the job as superintendent of work in Heppner. He took the job on a tentative basis and at about the same time the city has been paying for this service in recent months until such time as the new budget is made up and goes into effect. During his residence here he has done several engineering jobs for the city and it is felt that his services will effect savings that will justify hiring him on a permanent basis.

Several citizens were on hand Monday evening prepared to enter protests if the council took favorable action in the matter of employing a city engineer. The committee on sanitation to consult with the county court on the matter and report back to the next meeting.

4-H Leaders Attend East Oregon Confab At La Grande

Two Morrow county 4-H club leaders, Mrs. C. E. Stalcup, Boardman, and Mrs. Oscar Breeding, Lexington, accompanied Mrs. Mabel Flint to the Eastern Oregon leaders conference. Representatives from nine counties braved the icy roads and cold weather to further the club program for boys and girls. Sessions were held at the Sacajawea hotel in La Grande.

Miss Emmie Nelson, representative from the national committee on boys and girls 4-H club work, Chicago, spoke on merits and qualities of good 4-H leadership. She stressed the fact that the most important qualifications of a leader are a genuine interest in the club members and a knowledge of the program. She stated that club leaders receive remuneration in satisfaction of service, opportunity to meet people, personal growth and appreciation from the club members.

Miss Nelson pointed out that the 4-H program is fitted to the needs of the club members, rather than the club members being fitted to the program, and that leaders should work with rather than over the heads of their club members.

Miss Nelson met with extension agents to discuss the national awards program which has developed from successful state programs. Afternoon meetings included group sessions on the various phases of club work, and talk on demonstration technique by Esther Taskerud, state 4-H club agent.

Origin, Growth Of Boy Scouts Told At C of C Luncheon

Origin and growth of the Boy Scout movement was the topic of a talk given by the Rev. Elvon L. Tull before the chamber commerce luncheon group Monday noon. Rev. Tull was introduced by Glenn Parsons, chairman of the program committee, who stated that as this is national Boy Scout week he thought that in view of the interest manifested by the minister in Scout work it would be appropriate to invite him as the guest speaker.

The speaker devoted a few minutes delineating the Scout movement from the time of its origin in England to the present. Lord Baden-Powell was the founder. As an officer in the British army during the Boer war he was impressed by the inability of British soldiers to shift for themselves in rugged country. He decided that future generations of boys should be trained in outdoor life and this decision resulted in formation of the Boy Scouts. The Boy Scouts of America became a reality in 1910. At first there were no junior Scouts but in order to stimulate interest in the movement the smaller boys were organized.

Mr. Tull was generous in his praise of William Davis as a scoutmaster. He deems Davis one of the best he has ever worked with. The local troop has been given the cooperation of the forest service, especially in the hikes and camps. The speaker also made a plea for assistance in securing a permanent meeting place for the Scouts, expressing the hope that plans for a Scout house will materialize.

Itemized Account of Road Expenditures Shows How Funds Are Being Disbursed

Readers of this newspaper who glanced over the county clerk's semi-annual report no doubt formed a general idea relative to expenditures on the county's roads. Realizing that the people are as much interested in road improvement and expansion as they are in the other county affairs, Judge Garnet Barratt has prepared a condensed statement on road department expenditures, giving the figures for the year, July 1, 1948 to June 30, 1949, and for the last six months of 1949. From this report it is possible to learn where the money goes and why, possibly, not all roads are being repaired or improved at once.

(In itemizing the amounts the 12-month period will be given, followed by the six months period.)

All labor, $48,922.14 and $30,900.89; repairs, tires, parts, etc., $16,376.57 and $8,251.87; lumber, culverts, bridging, $10,452.57 and $6,776.29; gasoline, oil, grease, $9,561.15 and $6,407.19; shop tools and supplies, oxygen, $1,005.53 and $420.58; new machinery and equipment, $34,618.03 and $21,566.81; industrial accident insurance, $1,107.69 and $62.92; office supplies, $5.46 and none.

Mustangs Defend League Leadership With Two Victories

Condon, Boardman Taken Into Camp By Safe Margins

Heppner defended its lead in the Big Wheat League here Friday February 3, by defeating the Condon Blue Devils 51-31. The boys from Condon didn't seem to be able to get their sights set to score as they got only nine points while Heppner scored 15 in the first quarter.

The Mustangs clicked through the second quarter to out-score Condon and end the period with a lead of 11 points, 28-17. The start of the last half again saw the Mustangs going strong. This was proved when the period ended 38-23 in favor of Heppner. The last slow moving eight minutes put Heppner even further ahead as the game ended 51-31.

Orwick was high point for Heppner with 13, while Les Conboy netted 20 for Condon.

Work Day Planned By Wrangler Group

February 26 has been scheduled as work day by the Wranglers club, at which time cleaning up and repairing of the club's barn at the Rodeo grounds will be in order. This was decided at the regular meeting held Tuesday evening which was attended by numerous old members and several new members.

About 60 Wranglers braved the frigid weather the night of January 28 to attend the first party of the year. Several tables of pinocle were in play, as well as one table each of bridge and canasta. Winners at pinocle were Mrs. Van Hubbard and Charles Ruggles. Mrs. Al Fetsch received the booby prize.

Dancing was indulged in, with the music being furnished by Harold Erwin, Burch Roberts and Mrs. Clive Huston. Refreshments rounded out the evening.

Farmers Learn Of Urgent Need For Soil Conservation

Slight Increase In Practice Seen Here in Past Year

Presided over by Chairman O. W. Cutsforth and attended by 49 persons interested in conserving Morrow county's soil, the Heppner Soil Conservation district held its annual meeting at the Rhea Creek grange hall, Tuesday. All those attending agreed that the program was well arranged and that the Rhea Creek grange home economics committee prepared an excellent dinner.

Appearing as main speaker of the day, Merrill Overson, superintendent of the Pendleton branch experiment station and leader of the soil conservation research project, pointed out to the group the necessity for soil conservation to maintain our soil fertility. Examples of what wind and water erosion is doing were pointed out when Mr. Overson cited cases where seven and eight inches of top soil have disappeared from fields where compared to surrounding unbroken sod. He reminded those present that this is a relatively new land, only farmed for about 150 years. While top soil is disappearing the organic materials so lost is decreasing our soil fertility. Nitrogen in field plots at the Morrow experiment station has decreased 50 percent over the past 25 years, Mr. Overson said.

Discussing general soil conservation problems and practices to relieve them was Tom Halseth, district conservationist, showing colored slides to illustrate his discussions. Films, "This is Our Land," and "For Years to Come" carried through the principles in pictures that were the main topic of the day.

Called upon for remarks, Henry Teitz, county school superintendent, also representing the Heppner chamber of commerce as president, stated that he was interested in children and felt that much was to be gained by teaching the principles of soil conservation in our schools and how it is necessary in maintaining our economy.

County Judge Garnet Barratt remarked on the need for a well-rounded conservation program in the Columbia Basin.

Presenting the annual report of the district, N. C. Anderson, secretary, pointed out that the district was comprised of 725,093 acres with approximately 210 ranch units. Of these, 117 farms covering 292,775 acres have conservation plans. On these farms new conservation practices are put into effect each year. Of great significance is the fact that even with the reluctance in which farmers have turned toward strip-cropping, 725 acres were established this past year. The popularity of the soil conservation district in Morrow county was pointed out by Anderson, with the demand for adding to the district.

Petitions are now signed and ready to be submitted to the state soil conservation district which will put all of Morrow county in the Heppner and Boardman soil conservation districts.

Reporting on functions of the Oregon State soil conservation committee, Charles Nash, chairman of that committee, and longtime Columbia Basin wheat farmer stated that special meetings of the committee were being held to act on petitions for soil conservation districts, they are becoming so popular in Oregon.

Re-elected to the board of supervisors for a three year term was Orlean Wright of Rhea Creek. Serving on the board now are Orlean Wright, W. E. Hughes and J. J. Wightman, Heppner; O. W. Cutsforth, Lexington, and Charles Carlson, Ione.

Basket Social At Boardman Swells March of Dimes

The basket social sponsored by the Greenfield grange for the March of Dimes Saturday evening was a success, especially since the weather was so bad and also there were two basket ball games out of town which took many of the young people.

The total was $85.75, but this amount will no doubt go well over $100.00 as many grangers were unable to attend but will donate.

The Yellow Jackets basket ball five stung the St. Joseph five Friday night with a score of 46-38. Due to the weather conditions there was only one game. Saturday evening the Jackets motored to Heppner losing both games. The A squad 48-40 and the B team 50-34.

The February Garden club met at the home of Mrs. Chas. Anderson Monday afternoon. Plans were made for a dinner Thursday evening, Feb. 16 at which time husbands and families will be honored guests.

The Irrigation Townies basketball five were unable to take the honors from the Hermiston Valley Building five on the Irigron floor Saturday night, with score 61-51. Several local boys play on the team, namely, Duane Brown, Clayton Allen, Harold Baker, Bill Thompson and Tom Wanda.

Rosewall Motor Co. Awarded Plaque In District Contest

Employees of the Rosewall Motor Co. and a few people outside of the organization will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rosewall at 7 o'clock this evening at an award dinner to be served in the private dining room at the Elkhorn restaurant.

A representative of the Ford Motor company will be on hand to present the plaque that signifies the local concern is the winner in the eastern Oregon district of the Seattle region in annual competition showing the most consistent gains by the dealers. It is the second time the Rosewall Motor company has received the award—two years in a row, as the contest was set up in 1948.

The Seattle region includes Oregon, Washington, northern Idaho and western Montana.

The local concern is the only one to receive the award in eastern Oregon so far.

Church Ceremony Unites Jean Hanna And Donald Bennett

In the soft glow of the candle light, amid tall baskets of pink snapdragons, Miss Jean Hanna and Donald L. Bennett exchanged wedding vows Wednesday evening at the Methodist church, with Rev. J. Palmer Sorlien officiating.

Tall white tapers were lighted by the Misses Lella McLachlan and Marlene Turner, who also were the bridesmaids.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She made a picture in her beautiful white slipper satin gown. It was made with a net yoke and wide bands forming a bertha, tight bodice buttoned down the back ending, with a big bow. The floor length skirt hung full from three wide plaits around the hips. Her fingertip veil was fastened with a silver halo. She carried yellow daffodils on a white bibble.

Attending the bride were her sister, Mrs. Carl Bergstrom, who wore a light blue taffeta gown and carried rose colored carnations; Lella McLachlan in blue crepe formal with yellow carnations; and Marlene Turner in dusty rose taffeta carrying pink carnations.

Serving the groom as best man was Jack Bailey, and Bill Blake and Bill Barratt were ushers.

Mrs. C. C. Carmichael furnished the wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Willard Warren who sang "At Dawning" and "Because" preceding the ceremony and "A Ways" at the reception which was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony.

After the bride and groom had cut the first piece of the bride's cake, Mrs. Bill Barratt continued with the cutting. Mrs. Bert Corwin, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Johnnie Hanna, sister in law, presided at the coffee table. Assisting with the serving were the bridesmaids and Mesdames Ben Anders, Walter Becker, Chris Brown and Clive Hustin.

After a brief honeymoon the young couple will return to Heppner where both are employed. Mrs. Bennett is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hanna and was a member of last year's graduating class at Heppner high school where she was an honor student. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Bennett of Preston, Kansas. For traveling the bride wore a gray tweed suit with brown accessories.
