Ione School Music Department Giving Concert March 31
Ione Public schools will present a combined spring concert, Friday evening, March 31, at 8 p.m. The beginners band, girls glee club and high school band will perform.
Proceeds of the concert will be for the benefit of purchasing choir robes for the girls glee club and sending the high school band and glee club to the district music contest at La Grande on April 21-22.
The program, under the direction of Alan G. Robertson, will be as follows: Beginners band—My Bonnie; Ameyllis; Yankee Doodle; Dollywolly Doodle; Playtime Waltz; Eastport March.
Girls glee club — Lullaby, by Noble Cain; Velvet Shoes by Louise Evans; Tea for Two by Vincent Youmans; The Green Cathedral by Carl Hahn.
High school band — Sabo March by Harold Bennett; Challenge; Overture by E. DeLamater; High School Cadets March by John Philip Sousa; (featuring Joan Reininger, Darlene Madden and Wilda Dalzell); Chapel Shrine Revue by Chester Leoni; Coronation March by G. Meyerbeer; The Cardinal March by Pat Lee.

Ladd Canyon-North Powder Section of "Trail" Contracted
Union County drew a $460,296.50 highway job at the March 20 meeting of the Commission, when a contract was let to M.L. & C.R. O'Neil to build the Ladd Canyon-North Powder Section of the Old Oregon Trail highway, reports Ralph Watson, public relations consultant for the highway commission. It is a Federal project calling for 13,558 miles of grading and roadbed ballast. The new road when completed will shorten the driving distance between La Grande and North Powder by approximately 7 miles and iron out some sharp curves in the present highway.
Incidentally, Ladd Canyon is the route of the Oregon Trail over which the pioneers of Oregon journeyed in the great trek by covered wagon more than a century ago.
Two contracts let by the Highway Commission Monday will, when completed, bring the O'Neil highway to high standard all the way from Prineville to Mitchell, with the exception of the last 10 miles on the Mitchell end, which will receive a temporary oil treatment, and the 18-mile section in the forest, for which the contract for surfacing will be let in a short time by the Bureau of Public Roads.

Church Officers Study Duties and Plan Year's Work
Elders of the Church of Christ and their families enjoyed a special dinner after the Sunday morning worship service. Preceding the meeting, the elders and the pastor, Glenn Warner, met in a short meeting discussing responsibilities of the elders and the business of the church. Those present for the dinner and meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barlow, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Yeager, Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walker and son Bill, Mrs. Ealor Huston, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Warner and two children.
The Sunday before the deacons of the church met in a similar meeting which followed the dinner for them and their families. Attending at that Sunday dinner and meeting were Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Jones, Gary, Sandra and Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Jones, Ronnie and Judy, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Warner, Sharon and David.
Monday evening, a large group of members and friends of the Church of Christ enjoyed several reels of movies taken at the young people's conferences and boys' camps last summer. Joe Jewett, former minister here, and now at Baker, Oregon, showed the pictures and presented the needs and plans for this summer's conference program. Mr. Warner is spending two weeks, except for week ends, at Baker, assisting Mr. Jewett in a pre-Easter meeting.

Plaguing Snows of Winter Prove Boon To State's Wheat
Snow which plagued Oregon during much of January and February has turned into a blessing for many Oregon farmers.
Ushering in the first day of spring this week, county extension agents throughout the state reported general crop prospects as excellent for this reason. A minimum of winter kill took place in fall seeded crops, they said, due largely to the unduly heavy snow cover.
Possible exception, however, is some tree and trailing cane fruits which stuck up above the snow during the sub-zero cold snap. Peaches and boysenberries are reported hit by cold weather in some areas of the state.
In the Columbia basin counties, winter wheat looks good. Subsoil moisture is short, however, due largely to the shortage of rainfall during 1949. Irrigation prospects throughout the state appear favorable. Water supplies in Lake county, however, appear on the short side and sheep and cattlemen are fearful that stock water will be lacking during the early spring grazing period east and north of Lakeview.

The county line area between Harney and Lake counties which lies just above Nevada promises to be the nation's grasshopper hot spot again this year. Eggs, Entomologist R. W. Every at O.S.C. declares, are virtually unaffected by cold weather. The hoppers will commence hatching beginning in April.
Livestock came through the winter with only normal losses being reported. Spotted hay shortages have been made up by trucking in out-of-county supplies and by substituting protein supplements.
As high as 90 percent of the Easter lily bulbs in some fields in Curry county were damaged. Steam pull was the problem resulting from the soil crust freezing and raising, separating bulbs from their stems. One and a half million daffodil blossoms grown in the county brought about $14 per thousand on a rather depressed market.

FOREST OPERATION PERMITS REQUIRED
All logging or similar operations, within the forest areas of the State of Oregon where timber is harvested for commercial purposes, are required to obtain a permit for such operation from the State Forester, according to C. F. Youmans, forest inspector.
Mr. Youmans states that apparently many operators are overlooking in this respect and calls attention to the fact that closure of the operation for non-compliance may result from failure to secure such a permit.
Application for this permit may be obtained from William Wren, from the Forest Protection office in Kinza, Oregon, or by writing the State Forester in Salem, Oregon.

Red Cross goal over $100 on Saturday March 25th. Some of the towns and a few solicitors yet to report. There will be a final report next week.
