It Was A Good Celebration

We doff the editorial tile to the American Legion and the citizens of Ione for a fine Fourth of July celebration.

The foresight and courage displayed by the neighbors down the creek in developing a turf field was fully demonstrated Tuesday when one of the largest crowds to gather for this type of observance assembled there and spent an enjoyable day free from dust and trash other than that created by the explosion of firecrackers—which was almost constant.

The people of Ione are in the habit of working together in matters of community interest and the manner in which they turned out with entries for the parade and gave assistance by their presence to the entire celebration was most commendable and proves that a small community can do things in a big way when all of its people set their minds and hands to the task.

Don't Forget Your Meter Manners

Many car drivers appear to be laboring under the impression that they can drive up and occupy a meter stall for "just a minute" without making a deposit in the meter box.

es into several minutes. A penny gives the driver 12 minutes in which to transact business and if it requires longer than that a second penny should be dropped in the slot.

The police chief has been tolerant as long as he consistently can and he has issued a warning that he will be issuing parking tickets from here on out. That means a trip to the city recorder who will be obliged to assess the offender one dollar.

Better deposit a penny and save ninety-nine cents!

Nothing New Exhibited

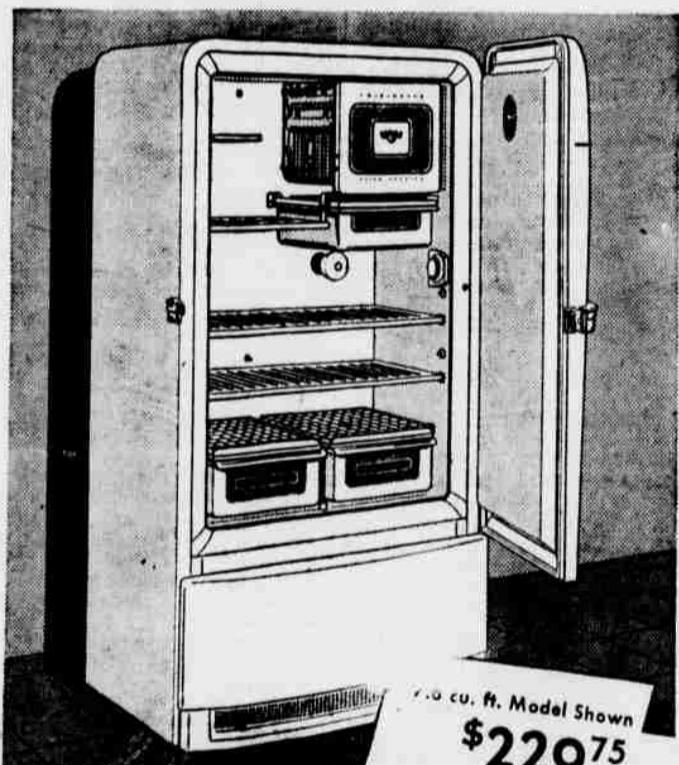

If the Kremlin is trying to find out what the Western powers, and particularly the United States, have in the way of advanced warfare the "Korean incident" might as well not have been started. Up to the present there has been nothing exhibited to show that anything new has been built and from all accounts the North Koreans are better equipped than Uncle Sam's forces sent in to check the invaders. It must be that the Russians want to get some new ideas for fighting equipment and the best way to do it is to invite a showing of arms by her potential enemies through the medium of a satellite uprising.
