Want to hunt next year, too?
Be careful with fire today!

Good hunters want to enjoy their hunting grounds—and keep them, too. That's why they make "Be careful with fire!" the first law of the woods.

The sportsman who safeguards our timberland serves all America. He serves fellow sportsmen by protecting our great outdoor playground. He helps preserve our vital forest resource on which we depend for our thousands of wood-using requirements. He guards the inheritance of generations to come.

However you use America's forest lands—as hunter, fisherman, camper or nature lover—give our trees a sporting chance. Do your part to keep fires out of the woods.
