CONVICTS UNIMPRESSIBLE

Evangelist Billy Graham told a crowd of 1200 stoical state prison convicts that by accepting Jesus Christ even a prison could be "a heaven and a paradise." In his Wednesday talk to the impressive inmates he said that "we're all sinners" and must face God twice—at death and at Judgment. At death, he declared, souls go to hell for rejecting Christ, not for breaking laws, and they go to Heaven for accepting Christ, not just for Bible reading and going to church.

GOVERNOR'S PRESS RELEASE

A campaign of truth must be brought to Communists all over the world if modern civilization is to avert another great war, Governor Douglas McKay warned Saturday in setting aside the period from September 4 through October 16 for observance by and for the Crusade for Freedom in Oregon. Governor McKay is honorary state chairman of the Crusade for Freedom. "Under tested leadership," said the governor, "it is a counter-movement designed to arouse in the heart and mind of each American a true appreciation of the struggle we face; seeking to make the moral determination of each of us apparent to the international communism; carrying the truth of American friendship and Russian ruthlessness to and of Russian ruthlessness to the unfortunate millions constantly exposed to communist lies."

COMMON SENSE AT PAR

"There ain't no X." "His name's spelt wrong." "Do we count these votes?" Just samples, these, of carri-whets and questions of David O'Hara of the state department of elections has to clear when befuddled judges and clerk's phone from voting precincts during late ballot counting hours. To keep his slumbers peaceful and to avoid ulcers he has issued some common sense instructions. "Consider the intent of the voter," he admonishes, "as votes must be counted even if an X is not made or if the name of the candidate is mis-spelled."

One contest for supreme court justice must be determined solely by write-in votes. Allen G. Carson of Salem is opposing Harold D. Warner of Portland.

SCHOOL BUS LAWS

During the 1949-50 school year there was not a fatality in connection with the operation of 1,320 school buses in Oregon. There were two deaths the previous year, before the new school bus laws enacted by the 1949 legislature went into effect.

Only four school children were injured in school bus accidents in comparison with 15 the previous year. Captain Walter Lansing of the state police division who heads the state's safety program, keeps all school buses closely inspected, conducts driver training courses and enforces the provision in the new law which requires that all motorists shall come to a complete stop while school buses are loading or unloading passengers.
