FIRE DESTROYS BARN AND CONTENTS ON BERGE RANCH

Fire early Monday morning destroyed the barn on the Ralph Berge ranch northwest of Heppner, according to Terrel Berge who was in town that afternoon. Origin of the blaze was undetermined, although it was thought it might have been due to spontaneous combustion. Seven thousand bushels of barley stored in the barn and all other materials were destroyed with the building. Terrel got a little too close to the blaze in running a fireline around the barn with a bulldozer and sustained minor burns on the face and singeing of the hair not covered by his hat.
