A boy like this one may be your son or a boy from your home town. He will look forward to his leave from duty at some strange camp. The Associated Services for the Armed Forces will provide him a place for wholesome recreation while he is on leave. The Community Chest furnishes the money. This is one of the Red Feather agencies.

LEADS NEW GROUP

Bryce Keene, Ione, is the leader of a newly organized tractor maintenance club which is the first 4-H agricultural club to be organized in Morrow County this new Club Year. President of the new club is Duane Baker; Vice-President is Loy Keene; Secretary is Malcolm McKinney; and Ronald Baker is News Reporter. Other club members are Dennis Swanson and Leland McKinney. This is the second year project for these boys, the Tractor Maintenance being only one year old in Oregon. Leaders, Bryce Keene, Ione, M. R. Wightman, Heppner, and Ralph Skoubo, Boardman, have recently attended a tractor maintenance clinic at Oregon State College, sponsored by General Petroleum Company. While at this three-day clinic, Bryce Keene was judged as fifth place winner. In a tractor operators' contest, being judged for skill, safety and speed with which leaders handled their tractors in inspection, starting, warm-up, driving and backing operations.

They are having a swell time at the George home this week. Kit and David are both in bed due to a visitation of the mumps. They are both doing fine now but life was a bit bumpy for a few days, especially for David who seemed to be the sicker of the two.

A young midshipman reported to the commanding officer for duty. The CO, a gruff old sailor, sized him up and snorted. "Well, I suppose that, as usual, your family sent the fool to sea." "Oh, no sir," replied the midshipman. "They've changed all that since your time, sir."
