It's oilskin time again...and telephone repairmen all over the West are ready to keep your calls moving.

THEY ROLL OUT WHEN STORMS ROLL IN

How we prepare today to protect your service tomorrow

1. Old Man Winter can be mighty tough on telephone lines...with floods in the cities and valleys and snow piled high in the Sierra and the Cascades. We can't tell where trouble may strike next. So we're always ready to pull trained crews from non-emergency jobs and send them on their way in special trucks and other equipment—like this "snow-cat"—to repair any break, wherever it happens.

2. Helicopters have been used sometimes to patrol snowbound lines and speed crews to a repair job. But even before they get there, calls have been re-routed to get your message through with as little delay as possible. For modern communications demands teamwork among all telephone people... people who know theirs are important jobs, particularly in these critical days for our nation.

3. Getting your call through when you want it, within your own town or across the country, is part of the value you've come to expect from your telephone service. And with rates, on the average, up less than half as much as the cost of living, your telephone is a real bargain today. In spite of high prices on most other things, a time-saving, step-saving telephone call is yours for just a few pennies. It's one of the best buys in your family budget.

Your telephone is one of today's best bargains

PARKING LIGHTS NOT MEANT FOR FOG DRIVING, CHIEF SAYS

was killed during November as the result of a driver using parking lights while driving in fog, Captain Walter Lansing said today.

Lansing, state police officer who now heads the Secretary of State's traffic safety division, warned again that use of parking lights in foggy weather, instead of regular headlights, is not only a violation of law but

In the death mentioned, Lansing said a woman was killed when her husband started to pass a car and met head-on another car using only parking lights. The husband stated that he could not see the other car until it loomed up directly in front of him.

"This is just one example," Lansing said, of what driving with parking lights can lead to. Other motorists cannot see you until they are almost upon you, and further, you cannot see the highway clearly."

Parking lights, Lansing concluded, were never meant for foggy weather driving.
