SUNDAY FIRE

Loss in the fire would have been heavier had the board not removed a considerable amount of equipment from the destroyed buildings Saturday. All sprinkling equipment and hose had been taken from storage less than 24-hours before the fire was discovered. It was to be used on the rodeo grounds.

Lack of adequate funds for rebuilding brought several immediate contributions to the fair board. The county court voted $1,000 in view of the fact that it will get use of the buildings for a majority of the year. W. G. Hynds, Gretchen and Garnett Barratt and E. M. Baker, Ione made cash donations and John and Jerry Brosnan contributed sufficient lumber for the upright framing for both buildings. The board expressed their appreciation for the gifts and stated that such help would assure completion of the new structures.

Oregon Historical Caravan To Show In Heppner Sept. 4

The story of Oregon — its discoverers, explorers and settlers has been put on wheels and will be taken to more than one hundred communities in the state during 1951.

Many priceless objects are included in this traveling museum which will be driven from the Pacific ocean to the Snake river valley and from the Columbia river to the California border.

Sponsored as a public service by the United States National Bank, in observance of its 60th anniversary, the Oregon Historical Caravan will tour the state giving the people an opportunity to see and understand the social, economic and geographic development of Oregon. It will be in Heppner, Tuesday, September 4 and in Arlington September 5.

As pointed out by Governor Douglas McKay in an official proclamation dated January 3, 1951, "the caravan vividly portrays the vision and pioneering spirit of Oregon's early settlers. Its many objects of incalculable value should be regarded as the ingredients that have gone into the making of a great state."

The priceless historical items, ranging from the letter in which Abraham Lincoln declined the governorship of the Oregon territory to rare Oregon beaver coins, are being taken around the state in two specially constructed steel buses.

These buses are so designed as to form a single display unit when viewed by the public. Visitors enter the caravan through an awning-covered ramp, pass through one bus into another without alighting and finally exit down a second covered ramp.

THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW

by JRP

We thought for a while that Dr. McMurdo had either taken on a new sideline or was getting tired of doctoring humans. The MD of long standing was seen on the sidewalk in front of his office last week, properly attired in white coat, apparently pulling one of his dog's teeth. Instead, we learn, he was doctoring... his red-Chesapeake had come out second best in an argument with a porcupine and Doc was removing the quills from the dogs tonsils.

Our secret operator in the Butter Creek country tells us that Allan Hughes, teen-age son of Mr. and Mrs. Eb Hughes came home a little late the other night, succeeded in getting to bed without waking the family, only to have to wake the whole neighborhood up because of a fire on the place. Fire didn't amount to much because of his alarm, but could have made quite a mess of things. We are told his late hours were forgiven.

HERE'S AN EXCEPTIONAL BARGAIN

Your telephone dollar buys more telephone service than in 1940

1. The way prices on most items you buy have shot up, in these inflationary times, you might expect that your telephone rates would have gone along, too. For, just as the things you need to run your home have climbed, so have our costs of providing telephone service—wages, taxes, material costs. But actually, the increases in telephone rates do not even cover our increased wage costs alone.

2. You buy telephone service for just one thing—to have a quick and handy way to keep in touch with other people. Today you can call about twice as many telephones as you could in 1940. And when you compare just that one tremendous increase in value with the small increase in telephone rates, you can see that what you pay for service has actually dropped considerably—in terms of what the telephone can do for you.

Your telephone is one of today's best bargains
